Autoists and Guardsmen Aid Rescue Work; Hospitals Filled.

Wooden Coach Crushed Like Egg; Bodies Hunted in Wreck.

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP). Fourteen persons were killed and more than 100 injured tonight when the two rear coaches of a crack Erie passenger train were tossed into the air by a colliding milk train.

The coaches came down in a mass of bent and splintered wreckage and mangled bodies.

The passenger train had stopped because a switching crew was working on the main line ahead. Flagman A. C. Morris, sent out to protect the rear of the Chicago-New York passenger train, had affixed torpedoes to the rails.

M. H. King, Elmira, engineer of the milk train, dazed but not injured, said he did not see the red block light set against him. He said he applied his brakes as soon as the passenger train loomed ahead, but it was too late to halt his heavy train.

Diners Hurled to Floor.

Passengers in the diner, forward, were hurled from their seats in a welter of broken dishes. Many of them became hysterical searching for relatives and friends they had left in the rear coaches.

The wreck occurred just east of Binghamton as the flyer, due in Jersey City at 12:45 a. m., Wednesday (E. S. T.) from Chicago, was leaving the city limits.

The milk train, bound from Hornell to Hoboken with a load, swerved off a sidetrack onto the main line, brakes screaming but too late to be effective.

Ambulances, physicians and nurses sped to the scene from Binghamton and nearby Pennsylvania towns. The stretcher and ambulance corps of the Binghamton National Guard went into action.

Hospitals, overtaxed by the emergency, were unable to furnish a complete list of the dead and injured immediately. Some bodies were so crushed it may be days before their identities are established.

Among the first of the identified dead were Harry Westfall and Donald Burn, both of Susquehanna.

Most of those killed were riding in the wooden coach. Steel construction of the end car, a comparatively new coach, was credited by authorities with having kept the death list from mounting even higher.

Body Hurled 50 Feet.

Rescue crews encountered difficulty in extricating many of the bodies pinned under heavy timbers and wedged between steel debris. A woman was hurled more than 50 feet from the track.

Most of the other coaches of the passenger train were derailed. The milk train locomotive was bounced off the tracks but its crew was not hurt.

An investigation into the cause of the wreck was ordered by Robert E. Woodruff, Erie vice president, from the company's general offices in Cleveland.

"Our first concern has been to take care of the injured," he said. "We have only surmises now as to what caused the wreck."

At least 12 persons were dead when picked up. Others died on the way to hospitals, or soon after arrival. Every available bed was taken at the Binghamton City Hospital. Johnson City and other hospitals at nearby places were asked to be ready to receive some of the injured.

Atlantic Coast Train Wrecked, 55 Unhurt

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 5 (AP).—Atlantic Coast Line passenger train No. 65 was derailed between Sumter and Columbia late last night. Fifty-five passengers escaped injury. The five coaches and locomotive were prevented from overturning by a line of freight cars.

Man Shoots Wife Singing for Him

Los Angeles, Sept. 5 (AP).—As his wife, Mrs. Peggy Danbacher, 28, concert musician, sat playing and singing "Stormy Weather," in a reconciliation gesture, Irving C. Danbacher, former prosperous cafe man, shot her to death today and probably fatally wounded himself.

Danbacher left Saturday, vowing never to return. He came back this morning, had her cook his breakfast, and later sing, the wife's mother, Mrs. Mattie Doerfel, said.

U. S. Sees Peril Of Powder Keg In Cuba Revolt

Officials Admit Alarm, But Will Avoid Hasty Action.

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt and Cabinet aids agreed last night that Cuba's latest internal strife was fraught with the peril of an open powder keg, but decided for the present to dispatch no additional warships in the wake of the four sent at top speed to Havana and Santiago earlier in the day.

While other cruisers and destroyers stood by in nearby waters, administration officials sought by telephone and cable communication with Ambassador Sumner Welles in Havana to learn just how radical or responsible might be the members of the group of students and army noncommissioned officers into whose hands the destiny of Cuba has been placed.

Strange Leaders.

State Department officials, who recognized no familiar names among the new holders of Cuban power, were frank to say they knew not what to expect, but they feared serious results from the swift overthrow of President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes and the sudden emergence of Cuba's army as the determining factor in its future.

Roused at daybreak by alarming reports from Ambassador Welles, Secretary Hull and Assistant Secretary Caffery decided the presence of American war vessels in Cuban waters for the second time in less than a month was necessary.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull were determined to avoid intervention if it were humanly possible. Only a major breakdown of law and order would serve in the eyes of the administration as sufficient warrant for action under the Platt amendment bestowing right to intervene.

Not to Intervene.

Secretary Hull emphasized that the purpose of dispatching warships was the protection of Americans and carried with it not the slightest question of intervention.

The unexpected development brought to a standstill the efforts of the United States to help Cuba map a way out of its economic and financial difficulties. Two Government experts sent last week to study Cuban finances and economics as advisers to the United States Embassy are arriving to find a new government and entirely altered conditions.

Although the new group in power in Havana immediately expressed unofficially its desire for recognition, there was no indication here whether it would be forthcoming.

Ships Guard U. S. Citizens In Cuban City

Army Heads Imprisoned by Revolutionists; Junta Rules.

Another chapter was added to Cuba's rapidly changing political history yesterday when President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes and his entire cabinet yielded to the demands of the enlisted men of the army and navy and relinquished government control.

Meanwhile, two American warships were anchored in Cuban harbors and two others were en route to the island.

President Roosevelt and his cabinet aids agreed that Cuba's latest internal trouble was fraught with peril, but decided not to send more warships at this time.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull made it plain that the purpose of the warships was to protect Americans in the event of an emergency.

(Copyright, 1933, by the United Press.)

Havana, Cuba., Sept. 5 (U.P.).—Cuba was placed in the hands of the people tonight by a swiftly moving "revolt of the sergeants" throughout the army.

United States Ambassador Sumner Welles conferred with Lieut. Comdr. J. L. Hill, of the destroyer McFarland. He said a plan for concentration of all Americans at a downtown hotel had been mapped out.

Americans Warned.

Americans were warned to rush to this concentration point at the first sound of firing or indications of trouble. Welles feared violence would break out tonight or tomorrow.

A citizens' committee of five controlled Cuba, placed in power by the sergeants.

Sergt. Juan Batista, of Havana, seized command of the army. He issued a proclamation saying the movement was supported in all army posts, where noncommissioned officers were in control. Commissioned officers were ejected.

Vermont Wets Win by 2 to 1

41,279 Vote for Repeal, 20,572 Against; 25th State to Change.

Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 5 (AP).—Vermont, long a rockbound prohibition stronghold, today joined the parade of States favoring repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

It was the twenty-fifth consecutive State to record itself in opposition to retention of prohibition. No State has voted for the amendment.

Complete returns from the 248 towns and cities in Vermont gave: For repeal, 41,279; against, 20,572.

Regarded until the last as the most doubtful State yet to act, Vermont voters recorded themselves by approximately 2 to 1 for ratification of the twenty-first amendment.

Victory for repealists, while sweeping, was not entirely one-sided. Two of the State's 14 counties recorded themselves in support of the eighteenth amendment. Montpelier, capital city, went for repeal by more than 2 to 1.

Fourteen delegates to a convention to be held later in the month were elected as a group, although they represented each of the State's counties. The convention will meet in Montpelier to ratify formally the twenty-first amendment.

Woman, 71, Saved Clinging to Train

Ohioan Seizes Engine Ring as Buggy Is Struck.

Troy, Ohio, Sept. 5 (AP).—A 71-year-old woman saved her life near here today by clinging to a locomotive after it had struck her horse and buggy, killing the animal.

The woman, Mrs. Anna Idemiller, of Troy, seized a ring on the front of the engine and held on until the train stopped. She received a broken leg and severe scalp injuries.

Pole Beaten by Nazis For Failing to Salute

Berlin, Sept. 5 (AP).—A Wolff's dispatch from Danzig tonight said a Polish citizen named Gulkowski was beaten by Nazi storm troopers when he failed to salute a Nazi emblem. Nazis declared Gulkowski used a cane when a trooper protested his failure to salute.

Nazi officials will present regrets to the Polish commissioner.

Dr. J. T. Armstrong, 85, Writer, Inventor, Dies

Los Angeles, Sept. 5 (AP).—Dr. James Tarbottom Armstrong, 85, curator of the University of Southern California Museum, art connoisseur, writer and inventor, died at his home here yesterday.

Dr. Armstrong invented the Armstrong torpedo, used by the Japanese in the Russo-Japanese War. He developed the Lee-Metford rifle used by the British Army. He also was a pianist. For his skill as a painter he was decorated. He was a former editor of Collecting, London art magazine.

650 Rehired Daily, Cleveland Estimates

Cleveland, Sept. 5 (AP).—The reemployment rate here in August was estimated today by the mayor's recovery committee as 650 persons per working day.

The unemployment figure now is 128,900 with 69,000 having gone back to work in the last six months, it was said.

Ford Pay Rise Is Latest NRA Holdout Move

Upward Revision Gives $4.80 Daily Minimum; Magnate Silent.

Detroit, Sept. 5 (AP).—An upward revision in wages in the Ford Motor Co. plants, bringing daily pay for some employes to $4.80, as against a previous $4 minimum, became known today, apparently Henry Ford's first move in "going one better" the NRA automobile code from which he is a holdout.

Rumors of the upward revision were confirmed at Ford offices. Officials said they were not ready to announce the wage adjustment, under way several weeks.

Already approximately 10,000 of the 40,000 Ford employes have benefited by increases in basic pay rates. The basic minimum still is $4 a day, but increases for certain types of skilled labor, including assembly line workers, to $4.80 and more, bring the Ford wage once more within striking distance of the famous $5 minimum wage, with which Ford startled the industrial world in 1914.

Some skilled workers are receiving as high as $10 a day. The company continues on the five-day week, with eight hours a day.

Ford, at his Huron Mountain camp, remained silent. Edsel Ford, similarly uncommunicative, was expected to return here tomorow from Seal Harbor, Me.

Dr. Conant Takes Office As Harvard's President

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 5 (AP).—Dr. James Bryant Conant, 40-year-old former professor of chemistry, took office today as the twenty-third president of Harvard University.

His desk is the one occupied for a quarter of a century by A. Lawrence Lowell, Harvard's outgoing president. There was no formal ceremony.

Kathryn Carver Sues Menjou for $2,500

Los Angeles Sept. 5 (AP).—Charging that Adolphe Menjou failed to comply with terms of a property settlement at the time of their divorce, Kathryn Carver, acterss, sued him for $2,500 today.

Freedom Vote Asked By Philippine House

Manila, Sept. 5 (AP).—The Philippine House adopted a resolution tonight favoring a vote by the people on acceptance of insular independence after 10 years as proffered by the United States Congress.

The resolution will go to the Senate.

Two-Year Break Upheld in Convention by 'National' Body.

Report Hits at Green, Asks Good Conditions for All Workers.

The 2-year schism between the American Federation of Labor and the once-affiliated National Federation of Federal Employes was extended yesterday by unanimous convention action of the employes' organization.

Washington headquqarters of the Federal group was advised of the vote last night in dispatches from the Kansas City convention.

The federation approved also a resolution which stated "the Government should lead in the program of recovery by increasing wages and reducing hours of labor." The resolution expressed opposition to furloughs and wage cuts which "have worked untold hardships on Government workers."

A report of the committee on officers' reports, charging "there is no slightest sign the leadership of the American Federation of Labor has any real consciousness of the needs of the hour so far as Federal employes are concerned," was adopted unanimously.

Steward Assails Green.

The action followed arraignment by Luther C. Steward, president, of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and of that organization's recently formed affiliate, the American Federation of Government Employes.

It was the second convention victory for National Federation leaders, who sponsored secession from the American Federation of Labor two years ago following differences over personnel classification.

A proposal to cut the pay of Steward and of Miss Gertrude McNally, secretary-treasurer of the organization, was badly beaten, delegates pointing out inconsistency of the action when contrasted with their own drive to wipe out the 15 per cen pay cut in the Federal service.

The vote against restored relations with the A. F. L. came in the face of several pending resolutions proposing reaffiliation. These did not come to a vote.

Double-Dealing Charged.

Dr. Walter P. Taylor, Tucson, Ariz., offered the report opposing reaffiliation. He commended as "masterly" Steward's arguments against joining the A. F. L.

"Nohting can be gained by reaffiliation so long as the present hopelessly double-dealing, unscrupulous and reactionary leadership is maintained by the American Federation of Labor," he declared.

Taylor looked forward, however, "to the time when the common people, Government employes (Federal, State and local) workers of all sorts, including farmers, would join in the effective advancement of standards of living and leisure of the masses."

Nicaragua Bids Adieu To Envoy Sailing to U.S.

Managua, Nicaragua, Sept. 5 (AP). Government officials, including members of the Supreme Court and Diplomatic Corps, and hundreds of ordinary citizens, bade farewell to United States Minister Matthew E. Hanna as he sailed for New York today.

Mr. Hanna was known here as "the earthquake minister" owing to his work in the 1931 earthquake. fter visiting Washington he will proceed to his new post in Guatemala.

Ickes to Side-Step Red Tape In Pushing Cash Allocations

Riled by Slow Progress, Administrator Orders Full Speed Ahead.

(Associated Press.)

Disturbed at slow progress of the public works program, the administration yesterday ordered red tape brushed aside to speed money from the $3,300,000,000 construction fund into pockets of unemployed.

The Cabinet board altered its entire system of making allotments for non-Federal projects to institute a high speed "tentative allocation" method, indicating dissatisfaction with slow action by States and cities.

The Bureau of Public Roads sought to hasten expenditure of $400,000,000 allocated for roads by offering to advance money to States from a revolving fund for paying bills instead of waiting six weeks for approval by Washington.

702 Postoffices Planned.

L. W. Roberts, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, placed before President Roosevelt recommendations for building of 702 postoffice buildings at $62,000,000 cost.

Secretary Ickes, announcing nearly half of the $3,300,000,000 public works fund had been allotted, said he was far from satisfied at speed of non-Federal bodies in bringing projects forward.

Under a resolution voted yesterday by the special board for public works tentative allocations of funds would have a 30-day deadline.

Chance to "Get Busy."

"Under this resolution," he said, "projects may be presented, provided, on their face, they come within the scope of the industrial recovery act and public works board regulations.

"If the board considers the project desirable, it will make tentative allocation necessary to complete it. This action puts it distinctly up to the States or municipalities to get busy."

Meantime, Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, said Federal relief grants to 37 States and 3 Territories reached $49,882,034 in August, and brought the total distributed out of the $500,000,000 fund by Sepember 1, to $150,135,478.

Compelling NRA Kiss Nets Cook $500 Fine

St. Louis, Sept. 5 (AP).—Robert Wright, unemployed cook who beat Max Komen, restaurant man and forced him to kiss a "Blue Eagle," was fined $500, the maximum punishment, on a charge of peace disturbance today.

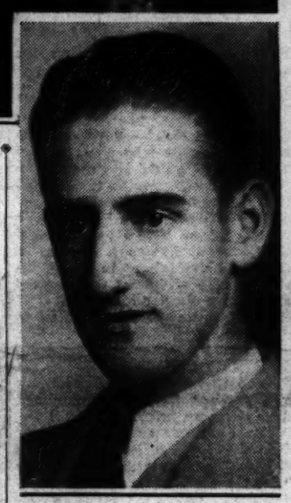

Komen said his torn ear required nine stitches. Wright, admitting the charge, said he was enraged by Komen's derogatory remarks "about the Blue Eagle."

$1,616,714 Asked For Virginia Work

Art Museum Included in Public Project.

Charlottesville, Va., Sept. 5 (Spl.). Jay W. Johns, chairman of the State advisory board of the Public Works Administration, announced today the board has submitted to the Federal Public Works Administration expenditures of $1,616,714 for projects in Virginia, inclusive of $142,314 for an art museum at the University of Virginia.

Thirty per cent of the allocation would come from the Federal Government.

17 Dead, 23 Missing In Japanese Typhoon.

Tokyo, Sept. 5 (AP).—Seventeen dead and 23 missing in western Japan and southern Korea were the toll today of the typhoon that swept out of the Yellow Sea.

Yamaguchi and Yamagata prefectures in Japan reported 3 dead and 10 missing. Rengo (Japanese) News Agency reported from Seoul, Korean capital, 14 killed and 13 missing. Hundreds of houses in southern Korea were reported partially flooded.

Davis, Arms Envoy, Arrives in England

He expects to spend 10 days in London before going to Paris and Geneva.

Buildings in Three Cities of Rio Grande Valley Smashed.

(Associated Press.)

Thirty-two known dead, 1,500 injured and damage estimated unofficially at millions of dollars was the known toll last night of the tropical hurricane which devasted the extreme southeastern coast of Texas and rolled on to the West.

Twenty persons were killed in and around Brownsville when the most serious gulf hurricane in 60 years hit the city.

Homes Are "Smashed."

A newspaperman, after a trip through Texas from Brownsville to McAllen, estimated at least 200 persons were injured and reported that houses were "smashed to kindling wood in Brownsville, Harlingen and San Benito.

Texas' woman governor, Miriam A. Ferguson, ordered a special train with surgeons and nurses to the stricken area.

Her husband, a former governor, expressed belief that "we will find in the morning that there has been a frightful death toll."

The storm zone embraced a population of 165,000, but many fled in advance of the hurricane.

Rescue Train Speeded.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 5 (AP). Reports to San Antonio late today said Harlingen was totally wrecked by the hurricane which whipped through the Rio Grande Valley.

A Missouri Pacific rescue train, laden with food and water, left Kingsville at noon for the stricken city.

Harlingen authorities said the reports to Missouri Pacific officials have requested military aid in preserving order and rescuing injured. Whether any were killed was unknown, but reports said it would have been impossible for some of the Harlingen population to escape.

Unofficial reports from the same source said that Brownsville and San Benito also lay in complete wreckage.

Hundreds Feared Dead.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 5 (U.P.).—Representative Dick Kleberg, in a telephone message to Mayor C. K. Quinn, tonight said he had flown over the Rio Grande Valley region in an airplane and it "appeared that hundreds were dead."

Deaths Estimated at 100.

Edinburg, Tex., Sept. 5 (U.P.).—Unofficial reports reaching here tonight said that at least 100 persons met their deaths in the hurricane which swept over the lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas and ranged on into Mexico.

Witnesses said 30 persons were killed when the old cathedral at Matamoros, Mexico, crumbled. Estimates were that at least 20 others were killed at Matamoros.

There were 10 known dead at Brownsville, 3 at San Benito and others in widely scattered areas.

Aviator Depicts Storm Damage

Pilot Tells of Demolished Homes, Uprooted Trees Near Brownsville.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 5 (AP). F. J. "Pat" Nolan, pilot of the giant Pan-American plane which brought first news of the stricken Brownsville area to San Antonio late today, told a harrowing story of his flight over the paralyzed area. Nolan, who flew from Tampico, Mexico, to San Antonio, said:

"When I first sighted Brownsville, all that was discernible was a solid sheet of water from the Gulf to within about 30 miles inland.

"Numerous buildings in Brownsville were battered. Roofs had been entirely clipped off two large warehouses. Along the line to Harlingen, I saw railroad box cars overturned and demolished. Near Brownsville a large sugar mill was completely crushed.

"Several small buildings at Harlingen were blown in. Trees were uprooted and strewn along the ground. Roofs were sheared off houses."

Clay Meredith Greene, Noted Actor, Dies at 83

San Francisco, Sept. 5 (AP).—Clay Meredith Greene, 83, actor and playwright and 11 times shepherd of the New York Lambs Club, died at his home here today after a long illness.

He was said to be the first American child born in San Francisco.

German Line Patrolled By 7 Austrian Planes

Vienna, Sept. 5 (AP).—Seven airplanes piloted by police aviators with military training, tonight took off for Innsbruck, to do patrol duty along the Austro-German border.

The planes are privately owned, principally by the Fascist Heimwehr (Home Guard). Under the St. Germain treaty neither the army nor police is permitted to hold title to armed aircraft.

Viscount Grey Weaker And Still Unconscious

Christon Bank, England, Sept. 5 (AP).—A bulletin late tonight from the bedside of Viscount Grey, of Fallodon, said that he remained unconscious and was weaker than during the morning.

The viscount, former British foreign secretary, was said to have been in a coma since a relapse Monday morning, and little could be done except make him as comfortable as possible.

Chilean Government Condemns Communists

Santiago, Chile, Sept. 5 (AP).—After two days of debate the Chamber of Deputies tonight approved a resolution condemning Communists and Nazis as illegal revolutionary groups.

The resolution recommends that the government take steps against the two groups to prevent further activity or to present a projected law designed to outlaw them.

Queen Mary Sells $675 Of Goods at Bazaar

Ballater, Aberdeen, Scotland, Sept. 5 (AP).—Queen Mary acted as an auctioneer at a bazaar at Abergeldie Castle tonight and sold all of her goods within an hour.

Her receipts were about £150 sterling (approximately $675) and will be turned over to Craithie Church, where the royal family worships while visiting Balmoral.

Nation Looks To President For NRA Speed

Question Asked if Power of Office Will Be Invoked.

National recovery machinery rolled forward yesterday with the attention of the country centered on what President Roosevelt will do to inspirit the recovery movement.

From the White House came no definite indication how far the Chief Executive was prepared to go in utilizing resources of the Federal Reserve Board, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and other Federal agencies in the recovery battle.

The President's warning to bankers was expressed in a message sent to the meeting of the American Bankers Association in Chicago. He said he wanted the bankers to know that "we" rely on that organization to do its part in the recovery movement. How far the President is prepared to go in putting official compulsion on the banking business has not been determined.

Gen. Johnson Returns.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, winged his way back to Washington last night from Chicago. He returned at the end of a day filled with speculation and rumors of conferences with Henry Ford, leading bankers and industrial leaders called to Chicago on the supposition that their presence might escape especial notice in the galaxy.

As he left Chicago, Johnson gave no indication that the disinclination of Ford so far to accept the automobile code was to bring action from the administration.

"It's Ford's move," he said, expressing again the intention to wait until public opinion in support of the NRA program has been brought to bear upon the manufacturer.

There was no indication that the Government was prepared to take drastic action against Ford because he has refused to join the NRA.

President Roosevelt is expected to discuss Ford's attitude with Johnson today. Johnson has said he does not believe in employing the compulsion of the licensing provision of the recovery act. Ford has been expected to announce higher minimum wages and lower maximum working hours than prescribed in the automobile code. That, Johnson said, will not permit Mr. Ford to use the Blue Eagle.

Coal Code Dragging.

Preparation of the coal code is dragging along. The negotiations are regarded as of importance to more than the coal industry. Champions of labor, union advocates and representatives of industrialists and financiers opposed to organized labor have taken a hand in the complicated negotiations.

Johnson is confident a code will be worked out eventually. He has said bluntly that if a disagreement results he will recommend the President impose a code.

Despite the announcement by Johnson that a general agreement had been reached which assured a satisfactory code, the coal negotiations have bogged several times. One of the reasons has been because representatives of the non-union mine operators have sought to thrust into the document, in several places, language tantmount to approval of so-called open-shop practices. This has been couched in wordage similar to that approved in the automobile code. The labor advisory board felt so strongly about any language qualifying the law that it forced Johnson to promise he would not accept similar language in other codes.

Labor Plans Hour Drive.

Labor is preparing to launch a drive to reduce hours of labor. Johnson promised when he approved the cotton textile code that it did not mean a 40-hour-week standard. However, that has come to be accepted by representatives of industries writing codes. Forty hours is far away from labor's idea of what the work week should be.

Representatives of labor are preparing a drive to reduce the maximum working week prescribed in codes which have been approved and in temporarily approved codes.

A letter indicating dissatisfactiion on labor's part with decisions which have been made by the NRA was sent yesterday to Dr. Leo Wolman, chairman of the Labor Advisory Board, by Clyde M. Mills, representative of the International Typographical Union.

Work went forward yesterday on preparation of a retail code. Hearings have been held on codes prescribing working hours and minimum wages and fair practices for general retail stores and for drug stores. Both drug and grocery store operators claim the right to exceptions to the general hour-shortening program.

Plot to Assassinate Englishman Denied

London, Sept. 5 (AP).—A report of a plot to assassinate Lord Trenchard, head of the metropolitan police, was officially denied today.

Scotland Yard stated the report, published in one of the morning newspapers, was untrue and said "There are no grounds for believing an attempt on Lord Trenchard's life had been made or was contemplated."

Senate Milk Probe Goes to Baltimore

Effect on Washington Market Sought.

The investigation by the Senate District Committee of the milk situation here will switch to Baltimore today. Elwood H. Seal, assistant corporation counsel, will transfer his probe to determine if the National Dairies Corporation's operations in that city have any effect on the Washington market.

Mr. Seal said he would establish an office there. He will interview officials of producers' and distributors' organizations, including Isaac W. Heaps, manager of the Maryland Dairymen's Association.

Hurricane Cuts Path of Death Through Texas

Fertile Rio Grande Valley Is Laid Waste; Scores Are Injured.

Losses Estimated in Millions.

Damage was estimated in the millions of dollars, with citrus crops in some sections of the lower Rio Grande Valley virtually destroyed.

Twenty-four State highway patrolmen and several hundred Federal cavalrymen from Fort Brown at Brownsville held Harlingen, San Benito and Brownsville under martial law tonight.

Deputy Sheriff J. D. Borden, who returned from a trip to Harlingen tonight, said houses looked as if they had exploded. In many instances, he said, houses were hurled as far as a quarter of a mile.

Two trains were marooned when debris blocked the tracks. The Southern Pacific's passenger train from Houston to Brownsville and Mexico City was held at Edinburg and another train was marooned near Corpus Christi.

The causeway connected Corpus Christi with the lowlands across Nueces Bay was washed out.

Damage Over $1,000,000.

Corpus Christi, Tex., Sept. 5 (U.P.).—A tropical hurricane roared in from the Gulf of Mexico today and caused upward of $1,000,000 worth of damage as it swept across southern Texas counties.

The hurricane swept across the southern tip of Texas, centering its force just north and south of Corpus Christi. Thousands of residents of the coast towns fled inland. Hotels in Houston, 100 miles north, were reported filled with persons seeking safety.

A Missouri Pacific Railroad passenger train was reported marooned south and west of Corpus Christi. It was estimated that 3,000 persons had sought safety in San Antonio.

Two Dead in Florida.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 5 (U.P.).—Leaving two deaths in its wake across central Florida, a tropical storm apparently was moving with diminished intensity back toward the Atlantic Ocean tonight.

Weather Bureau reports indicated the disturbance was blowing northeastward across southern Georgia and northern Florida. No winds of sufficient intensity to do further major damage were reported.

Radio Amateurs Active.

Amateur radio operators in Texas last night filled the air channels with news of the hurricane disaster in Texas. One appealed to amateur dispatchers elsewhere in the country to "clear all wires" to permit communication with senders in the affected areas.

Amateur Station W3BKZ, operated by Burke Edwards, picked up these dispatches

From W5DCS, Dallas: "Path of gale was more than 200 miles wide. Wreckage strewn over whole distance. All towns without communication except radio."

From 5ASV, Houston: "All amateurs please stop sending. Major distress in Texas Rio Grande Valley."

Red Cross Aid Sent.

(Associated Press.)

Ten trained relief workers of the Red Cross last night headed toward Brownsville, Tex., to aid hurricane sufferers in that area as the organization extended its activities from Atlantic Coast States to Florida.

All local chapters in Florida were asked to obtain relief funds at once by the national organization following receipt of word that at least 1,000 families were left in distress by the hurricane and several hundred homes destroyed.

The Red Cross, meanwhile, was continuing its relief work in Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Delaware, swept by a hurricane August 23.

Poland Receives U. S. Envoy.

Honor Ford

Dearborn Citizens Perplexed After Naming Him NRA Drive Leader.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 5 (AP).—Henry Ford is honorary president of the Dearborn, Mich., unit of the NRA, it was revealed today.

The fact that Dearborn's first citizen had been named to the post became known when the unit met today to determine what if any action should be taken regarding his appointment in view of the fact he has not signed the NRA agreement for the automobile industry.

The unit was formed three weeks ago and its officers, saying they had been assured that Ford would cooperate, named him honorary president.

Cotton Acreage Plan Approved

Growers Meeting in Atlanta and Memphis Agree to Aid Measures.

Atlanta, Sept. 5 (AP).—Reduction of the Nation's cotton crop for the next two years, both on the basis of acreage and of bales ginned, was voted here today by representatives of five States, while a similar meeting in Memphis aproved any plan the Federal Government might adopt for reducing the yield.

Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida were represented at Atlanta, and Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee at Memphis.

Cotton States representatives also met in Dallas, where Cully A. Cobb, cotton production chief, said the reduction program was being worked out now for the 1934 season in order to help prices for the 1933 crop now being picked.

Bale-Reduction Plan Hit.

(Associated Press.)

Farm Administration officials, generally, are opposed to reduction of the cotton crop by bales instead of acreage, as called for in a resolution adopted at a conference in Atlanta yesterday.

They pointed out the bale system would probably involve an intricate system of licensing gins, work a hardship on the growers who get the most out of their land and might prove to be illegal.

C. C. C. Camps Report Few on Sick List

Less than 1½ per cent of the 300,000 members of the Civilian Conservation Corps were on the sick list last week, the surgeon general of the Army reported. A little more than one-half of 1 per cent of the men were prevented from working by injuries.

In plain figures, this means that the total sick roster of the corps was less than 4,500 men, while less than 2,000 were suffering from injuries. "In general," the report said, "the health of the members of the Civilian Conservation Corps is excellent."

Thanks a Lot!

Navy Care Given Ill Italian Officer and Midshipman Praised by Bernotti.

Expressing appreciation for "affectionate care" given to an Italian officer and midshipman stricken ill while visiting this country, Admiral R. Bernotti, of the Royal Italian Navy, in a letter received yesterday, formally thanked Secretary of the Navy Swanson for the courtesies extended to the members of the Italian Training Squadron during its recent visit.

The squadron sailed yesterday from New York for Italy. Midshipman Longo and Flag Officer Lieut. Morabito, were taken ill while visiting in the East. Admiral Bernotti's letter pays particular tribute to the medical attention given the two men by Lieut. Robert Duncan, at the Washington Naval Hospital, and by Capt. Joseph A. Biello, of the Naval Hospital, in New York.

Machado Shies At Return After Second Revolt

Deposed Cuban President Now Afraid to Go Back to Island for Trial.

Montreal, Sept. 5 (AP).—Gerardo Machado, deposed Cuban president, today reversed his stand and said he now was unwilling to return immediately to face civil or military trial.

He declared Sunday upon arrival from the Bahamas, that he would return to Havana if guaranteed personal safety.

"What good is their guarantee of safety to myself, if they can not even protect themselves?" he said today. He would not comment on the coup which swept out the De Cespedes government, but commented as follows on his own regime: "There was no act during my presidency that I need be ashamed of, and none that I consider punishable."

He expressed hope that later there will be "safety for everyone" in Cuba, adding: "When that is achieved I shall submit without doubt or fear to any trial which may be offered me."

Americans in Cuba Guarded by Ships

He declared order would be maintained.

The capital was calm, with shops and cafes open. Lightning swiftness of the bloodless coup left the populace stunned, however, the people not having fully recovered from the revolt last month, which placed De Cespedes in power.

Wild Rumors Circulate.

Attitude of Washington toward this new junta was awaited anxiously as wild rumors of intervention circulated. Enlisted men, sailors and national police intimated they would fight efforts to land U. S. marines. Cuban officers were imprisoned.

It was the first time in Cuba's troubled history that a revolt of the lower classes had succeeded.

The first proclamation of the new government was issued tonight reiterating intention of new leaders to carry out the republic's promises, pay the debts and aid workers.

It also announced a determination to proceed with the court-martial of officials in the ousted regime of Machado, exile in Canada. Numerous executions by this more radical committee government were expected.

Their criticism of the Dr. De Cespedes government was that in his three weeks in office it had failed to move rapidly enough for a "new deal" for farmers and workers, and punishing Machado followers.

The new regime may be expected to be considerably more radical.

At Santiago, Lieut. Comdr. Henning, commanding the destroyer Sturtevant, conferred with the United States consular authorities. Henning said later they had told the Cubans if order were maintained no effort to send a landing party would be made.

Events Come Swiftly.

Events came in swift succession during the day. The committee, ruling much in the manner of a Soviet or communal commissariat, temporarily, issued a proclamation outlining reasons for the rebellion and policies to be pursued. Order would be maintained, they promised.

President De Cespedes was hastily recalled from Santa Clara, where he had gone to inspect hurricane damage.

The cabinet members gathered. Their resignations were drawn and submitted when De Cespedes arrived. He remained in conference with leaders of the new movement after the cabinet retired from the palace, and then departed for his own residence, leaving the committee of five in possession.

The committee went at once into executive session.

Palace officials confirmed the formal withdrawal of De Cespedes. He did not submit a resignation, but merely stepped out of the presidency.

"I have fulfilled faithfully the revolutionary program of the people," De Cespedes told the United Press. "Now it is time for others to assume the responsibility of government. The responsibility will be theirs before history."

Loosen Credits, Bankers Told By Roosevelt

Administration Leaders Urge Financiers to Aid Industry.

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP).—President Roosevelt told the bankers of America today he expects them to unleash credit and enable industry to take advantage of the national recovery act.

"I am confident you will work with me to meet the credit needs of industry and trade," he said in a speech read before the annual convention of the American Bankers Association.

Two of the administration's spokesmen, Gov. Eugene R. Black of the Federal Reserve Board and Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, expressed in even stronger terms a demand banks loosen credits.

Blue Eagle on Vault.

"The Blue Eagle should be on the vault door as well as on the bank window!" Jones said. "The greatest obstacle to the NRA would be failure of banks to extend available credit."

Roosevelt said that steady progress had been made since the banking holiday, but continued:

"I do not mean to suggest that the task is finished. We have before us continuing duties for bankers, depositors, and the Government in the development and maintenance of the highest standards in bank organization and management. * * *

"Loans can be made and will be made. I want you to know we rely on your organization for its cooperation in furthering the free flow of credit so essential to business enterprises. Only if this is done can employers do their full part in the great recovery program under way."

Opposes Guaranty Law.

President Francis H. Sisson of the bankers association expressed an opposite view, terming it a law which "largely repeats the old mistakes on a bigger scale."

In addition to the bank guaranty clause, Sisson said he objected to provisions in the act which forced banks to give up investment activities and which gave to the "politically appointed" Federal Reserve Board the power to control credit movements of member banks.

Couzens Hints "Criminality"

Suggests Line of Inquiry to Prosecutor in Banking Probe.

Detroit, Sept. 5 (AP).—With resumption of the grand jury inquiry into Detroit's banking affairs set for tomorrow, Senator James Couzens today outlined before prosecutor Harry S. Toy, suggestions for a line of investigation that, Toy said, "might tend to show criminality" in operations of the Union Guardian Trust Co.

Condition of the trust company precipitated the Michigan banking holiday last February, after which two large Detroit banks and two trust companies failed to open.

Couzens, whose testimony was the major sensation of the long hearing, will take the stand again.

Seven witnesses are on call in tomorrow's grand jury session. One is Peter J. Monaghan, attorney for the Detroit Bankers Co., holding company for the closed First National Bank-Detroit. Monaghan was criticized in the testimony of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin recently. Other witnesses will include Ralph Stone, chairman of the board of the Detroit Trust Co., and Donald N. Sweeny, former president of the First National.

Rain Delays Soviet Stratosphere Flight

Moscow, Sept. 5 (AP).—The flight of the Soviet army's stratosphere balloon, scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed because of rainy weather.

Officials announced tonight that the take-off will be made as soon as weather permits.

D. C. Navy Officer Speeds to Cuba

Marylander Is in Command of Another Ship.

A Washingtonian and a resident of nearby Maryland were in command of warships ordered to Cuba, the Navy Department announced yesterday in telling the personnel of the craft assigned to Havana and Santiago.

Lieut. Comdr. Elmer R. Henning is the Capital resident. His vessel, the destroyer Sturtevant, proceeded at full speed on a 70-mile run from Guantanamo Bay to Santiago where serious disorders were reported.

U. S. Interveniton In Cuba Doubted

(United Press.)

The United States is "loath to exercise" its right to intervene in Cuba, and the matter is not under consideration, Assistant Secretary of State Caffery said last night in an address.

He described sending of United States warships to Cuba as merely a "wise precaution."

Discussing United States relations with Latin-America, Caffery, soon to become United States Ambassador in Havana, said that in its recent dealings with Cuba, this Government had lived up to the policy of a "good neighbor," recently enunciated by President Roosevelt.

Settle Is Likely To Win Air Bag Race, Aids Say

Outside Chance Seen for Naval Man; Van Orman Still Unheard From.

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP).—Lieut. Comdr. T. G. W. Settle, who piloted his Navy entrant 800 miles from the starting point before landing near Branford, Conn., was conceded an outside chance of winning the James Gordon Bennett balloon race by officials tonight.

Although two other racing bags—the Polish standard bearer entered by Capt. Franciznek Hynek, and the American civilian balloon of Ward Van Orman—were still unheard from, mileage negotiated by Settle was described by officials as "exceptionally good in view of prevailing sluggish winds."

Settle brought his bag down last night, the fourth to finish its trial. Others which have descended are the French entry, Sunday, near Homer, Mich., about 145 miles from the starting point; the German entry, Kingston, Mich., about 245 miles away, and the Belgian entry, near Roscommon, Mich., 275 miles away, yesterday.

Settle's Balloon Packed.

Branford, Conn., Sept. 5 (AP). Lieut. Comdr. T. G. W. Settle and his aid, Lieut. Charles H. Kendall, of the United States Navy, left tonight for New York after their successful balloon flight from Chicago to Hotchkiss Grove.

The balloon was packed during the day and sent to Lakehurst, N. J., its home port.

Jamaica to Prevent Imports From Japan

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 5 (AP). Belief was expressed in poltical circles here tonight that the legislative council will renew efforts to curb Japanese imports despite British government opposition to such action.

The British government, it was understood, holds such legislation would nullify treaty agreements.

Nudism Here?

Commissioners Asked to Build a Public Solarium Here.

Alice M. Caporn, priestess of seminudism, yesterday asked the District Commissioners to build a public solarium where the Capital's residents could utilize the sun's rays—segregated by sexes, of course.

The woman doctor of philosophy suggested sort of a "sun park" to be under control of the Police Department and the supervision of the Health Department.

Capital's Role in Chemistry Will Be Told to U. S. Parley

Federal and University Experts Will Attend Chicago Meeting.

Contributions of the science bureaus of the Federal Government to agriculture, industry, and human welfare will be described at the eighty-sixth meeting of the American Chemical Society to be held in Chicago in connection with the Century of Progress Exposition, September 10 to 15. Many addresses will deal with the development of Washington as a world center of science.

Edward Wichers, of Chevy Chase, research chemist in the Bureau of Mines and chairman of the Washington section of the society, will head a large delegation from the District of Columbia, which will include representatives of the Federal services, universities and technical schools, and industrial laboratories.

Special honors will be paid to 42 pioneers of the 'Old Guard" of American chemical science, who attended the Columbian Exposition in 1893, and to Dr. Richard Willstaetter, of Munich, who will be presented with the Willard Gibbs Medal, one of the highest distinctions in chemistry, by the Chicago section of the society.

To Honor Dr. Munroe.

Dr. Charles Edward Munroe, inventor of smokeless power, is among the pioneers who will be guests at a dinner on September 14.

Chemists from the leading laboratories of America and Europe, the national officers of the society and representatives of other fields of science will join in a national tribute to the group whose life and work spans the rise of the chemical industry, now representing an investment running into the billions.

Dr. Munroe, 84, is still active as chief explosive chemist of the United States Bureau of Mines. He is the sole surviving charter member of the American Chemical Society, organized in New York City in 1876.

Other Washington pioneers are Dr. Charles L. Parsons, secretary and business manager of the society; Dr. Willard Dell Bigelow, director of research laboratory, National Canners Association; Dr. Lyman F. Kebler, Dr. K. P. McElroy and Dr. George Steiger, U. S. Geological Survey.

Creative chemistry, it was pointed out, has, during their time, inaugurated a new era in the whole realm of American industry and life.

Capital Men to Talk.

Horace S. Isbell, Ward Pigman, R. F. Jackson, J. A. Mathews and Max J. Proffitt, of the United States Bureau of Standards; R. E. Lothrop, research chemist, Carbohydrate Division, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, and C. F. Walton, jr., and C. A. Fort, of the United States Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, will give addresses.

In the Division of Physical and Inorganic Chemistry, G. W. Morey, F. C. Kracek and H. E. Merwin, of the Geophysical Laboratory, Carnegie Institute, and A. K. Brewer, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, will present papers.

Chemists from the United States Department of Agriculture will figure prominently in the Division of Fertilizer Chemistry. Dr. J. W. Turrentine, of the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils; H. L. Marshall, research chemist in the Fixed Nitrogen Laboratory; Dr. A. L. Mehring, K. D. Jacob, and W. H. Ross, of the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils; S. L. Madorsky, of American University; Colin D. Whittaker and D. S. Reynolds, research chemists in the Department of Agriculture, are listed as speakers.

Addresses will be made before the Division of Organic Chemistry by Dr. Robert C. Hackett, hygienic laboratory of the United States Public Health Service; Prof. C. S. Hudson, National Institute of Health, and Raymond M. Hann, of Washington. Dr. M. X. Sullivan, of Georgetown University, will present papers before the Division of Medicinal Chemistry and the Division of Biological Chemistry.

Other Washington chemists who will present papers include Charles A. Browne, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils; F. A. Csonka, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils; A. G. Fieldner, chief chemist, Bureau of Mines, and Beveridge J. Maier, Bureau of Standards.

Revenue Group Here Shifted

Review and Tax Liability Division Will Be Separate Units.

(Associated Press.)

Reorganization of the Internal Revenue Bureau to separate the review division from the branch making initial determinations of tax liability was ordered yesterday by Guy T. Helvering, Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Helvering said the income tax conference unit would be separate from the audit review division, so the former "will not be subject to supervision from the division that makes the initial determination of tax liability."

The conference unit hereafter will be directly under Charles T. Russell, deputy commissioner in charge of the income tax division.

W. T. Cardwell will be chief conferee and ex-officio chief of the conference section.

J. W. Hardgrove, whom Cardwell succeeds, was named an associate conferee. W. T. Speer was advanced from an associate conferee to a member of the conference group.

All disputed income tax matters go to conference group which seeks to arrange a settlement out of court.

Railways to Boost Commodity Rates

(Associated Press.)

Railroads have notified the Interstate Commerce Commission that, effective October 1, when emergency freight surcharges expire, they will put into effect increased rates on scores of commodities on which reductions were made to meet truck competition.

Surcharges, authorized October 20, 1931, to tide the roads over the slump, have been extended twice. The commission has said they would not be continued beyond the end of this month.

Peace Plan in N. Y. Grain Strike Fails

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP).—Buffalo's strike of grain elevator employes, which has tied up boats carrying wheat, continued unsettled today despite efforts to bring union leaders and operators together before the lakes "grain rush" next week.

Dairymen Plan To Ask Ouster For Wallace

"If He Won't Alter Policy We'll Go to Roosevelt," Says Pennsylvanian.

An influential dairymen's organization is threatening to demand removal of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, it was learned last night.

Direct appeal to the White House where he said he would "get results" was threatened by H. H. Heyburn, of Concordville, Pa.—dairyman and officer of the Delaware County Milk Producers and Consumers Association.

He said he represented 25,000 farmers who are organizing the milk code protest committee in an effort to override the Philadelphia milk shed code in defiance of the administration

Simultaneously, threats of a September 11 milk strike for the area were voiced by an assogiate of Heyburn.

22,000 Distributors Organize.

The milk code protest committee, which has grown with leaps and bounds since the Philadelphia code went into effect, contends the agreement mitigates against farmers and favors distributors, who are represented, 22,000 strong, by the Interstate Milk Producers Association.

The code, protestants assert, unnecessarily increases cost of milk to consumers by 1 cent a quart, besides forcing them to continue selling much of their milk as "surplus" at an under-par price, although it is sold to consumers at regular prices.

"Secretary Wallace leans the wrong way," Heyburn said. "If he does not immediately come across with a fair deal for the farmers, we will petition President Roosevelt for his prompt removal.

Hopes Seen Collapsing.

"Secretary Wallace's stand in the past and his present stand, as expressed in a speech at Hershey, Pa., Sunday, have almost shattered any hope farmers may have in relief from the administration.

"If plans for restoration of the farmers are to be carried out, and if the farmers are to have any confidence in the administration, Wallace must either make a complete turnabout in his policies or be removed."

Reports from Philadelphia were that a showdown would occur next Monday, when a hearing is to be held in that city on the code as the result of the protests.

With farmers meeting every night to consider the question, the dissension is represented as spreading across the Pennsylvania line into Maryland.

Cliff Deer Lured By Trail of Corn

Men Lowered 50 Feet in Effort to Save Buck.

Watkins Glen, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP).—Balked in a "big push" to drive the Watkins Glen deer from its prison home on a rocky ledge in the Glen Gorge, authorities hoped today a trail of baited corn would get the buck from the predicament in which it has spent 11 days.

Seven men lowered 50 feet from the top of the cliff tried in vain to corral the animal this morning and drive it across the bridge constructed a week ago.

Several times during the chase the buck leaped over the end of the bridge, camouflaged with evergreens, but refused to cross. Death for the animal in the chasm below appeared imminent as the chase became active and the men were hauled up. More than 100,000 persons have come to see the deer, park officials said.

Shoe Wholesalers Adopt NRA Code

Minimum Wage and Hour Plan Voted in Boston.

Boston, Sept. 5 (AP).—A code for the wholesale shoe trade has been agreed upon by a special committee of the National Association of Shoe Wholesalers, the association announced today.

The code provides for a minimum wage of $15 a week in cities of more than 500,000 or in the immediate trade area of such cities, $14.50 a week in cities of between 250,000 and 500,000 or its trade area, and $14 a week in cities of less than 250,000. The minimum wage for beginners was set at $12 a week.

Maximum hours of labor would be 40 hours a week.

Baltimore Pigeon Pays Capital Visit

The bird, which bore the mark McCa, 310.33, belonged to L. G. Rebham, Hamilton Postoffice, Baltimore, Army officers learned.

Counterfeiter, Gone Five Years, Caught

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP).—A convicted counterfeiter who fled five years ago in New York was captured by Secret Service operatives today.

The prisoner is Richard W. Adams, 38, arrested at a union bus depot here with a woman whom the Federal agents believe to be Lila Mae Adcox, 25.

In their possession were five suitcases and small trunks containing a complete outfit for counterfeiting $10 notes and 300 counterfeit bills.

two gold watches from R. Harris & Co.

Banquet Tomorrow.

All of the 51 Federal employes nominated in the contest and escorts will be guests of The Post tomorrow night at Club Michel, Thomas Circle, when prizes will be formally presented.

The banquet will begin at 8 o'clock. Speeches will be held to a minimum and dancing will begin about 9. Nominees will receive four bids each to the ball for their friends.

Women will wear evening gowns, and men white flannels or linens.

A good dinner, music by one of the best orchestras in the East, dancing on Washington's skyline, refreshments—all are in store. By the way, there is a big moon that night.

After the final vote was rechecked last night, the standing of the nominees with more than 100 votes was as follows:

Women's Division.

| | |
|---|---|
| Miss Beulah Myles (first prize) Veterans Administration | 7,561 |
| Miss Janet Stevens (second prize) Public Roads, Agriculture | 7,027 |
| Miss Sadie Slutsky (third prize) Patent Office, Commerce | 2,956 |
| Mrs. Nan Schofield | 2,213 |
| Miss Barbara Davis | 2,085 |
| Miss Agnes M. Barry | 1,650 |
| Mrs. Alice M. Atkinson | 1,575 |
| Miss Margaret Jordan | 605 |
| Miss Jeanne Biondi | 450 |
| Miss Doris Shoup | 175 |

Men's Division.

| | |
|---|---|
| Francis O. Panneton (first prize), General Accounting Office | 4,456 |
| William E. Mitchel (second prize), Veterans Administration | 3,744 |
| Karl Gregoire (third prize), Plant Industry, Agriculture | 1,700 |
| Francis K. Watts | 1,433 |
| T. Walter Clark | 1,124 |
| Thomas Valenza | 735 |
| Elmer Thompson | 591 |
| L. J. P. Fitchthorn | 575 |
| Robert Beeton | 575 |
| Robert O'Toole | 450 |
| Harry Stepakof | 375 |
| Edward Purtell | 125 |

Only 463 duplicate ballots were found in the final recheck in the master file used in the contest. This is an exceptionally small number, considering that nearly 50,000 persons voted; that in some departments there were two or more nominees, and that early in the voting it was not clear to some of the voters that they could vote for but one woman and one man.

In no case was there a ballot that was found to be intentionally miscast.

Sharing in the laurels with the nominees are their friends. The nominees took little active part; associates in their respective offices and friends in other departments conducted their campaigns. The fairest of sportsmanship prevailed throughout.

The winners of first and second prizes will soon be on their way to a royal vacation with The Washington Post paying all the bills. At Chicago, Miss Myles and Mr. Penneton and their escorts will stop at one of the city's finest hotels; they will have a week to visit the World's Fair; they will visit the famous Field Museum; they will attend several Broadway hits at Chicago theaters, and they will enjoy excursions to points of interest around the southern tip of Lake Michigan.

Miss Stevens and Mr. Mitchell will enjoy vacations at the luxurious Cavalier Hotel at Virginia Beach. There will be swimming (pool and surf bathing), golf, tennis, horseback riding, and other outdoor recreation. Excellent cuisine will await them at each meal when their appetites will be spurred by the salty tang of the sea. Dancing, bridge parties and rest finish the picture of an ideal vacation.

Checker Tourney.

AFTER winning a dozen games in simultaneous play during a recent meeting of the Federal News Chess Club at the Federal Clubhouse recently, C. C. Bettinger is likely to be on the spot tonight when the members meet again.

Bettinger, who is employed at Veterans' Administration and is third ranking player in the organization, defeated A. B. Graves, D. W. Waite, J. E. Moser, A H Macdonald, George Mannas, Irvin Carbalan y Vazquez, Charles Hopkins and John Gay in recent play, going from board to board in a similar manner to that used by World Champion Alekhine in his recent visit to the Jewish Community Center.

D. S. Burch, president of the Chess Club, announced yesterday that S. E. Graybael had been admitted to provisional membership. A tournament, to start the fall season, is planned by the organization shortly after its next quarterly business meeting in October, and officials have announced that membership has increased from 12 to 40 since organization in July by the N. F. F. E. paper.

Today's Epitaph.

Our heart goes out to our friend,
poor Oscar.
Many were the cases he filed.
When they imposed the cuts and furlough,
It simply drove poor Oscar wild.

Technical Unit To Aid NRA Oil Group Planned

Economists, Geologists and Industry Would Help; Price Plans Viewed.

(Associated Press.)

Creation of a technical board to aid the Federal Oil Administration and the industry's planning and coordination committee in supervising the $12,000,000,000 business under its NRA trade code was disclosed yesterday as one of the Government's immediate plans to carry out its stabilizing program.

The board would be composed of six or seven members and the oil legal aids to Secretary Ickes, oil administrator. It would include economists and geologists as well as practical oil men. J. Elmer Thomas, of Fort Worth, Tex., was reported as likely to be chairman.

Plans Are Gone Over.

Members of the industry's planning and coordinating committee, in advance of their session today, went over plans in conferences.

While expressing full approval of Mr. Ickes' decision to try out rigid control of production to meet demands before attempting any price fixing or regulation, committee members were represented as desirous of preparing for submission to Mr. Ickes positive price ranges with which he could work in making a final decision.

Threat of Court Suit.

Indirect threat of a court suit against the oil code was given to Ickes yesterday by the Texas Independent Refiners Association, protesting against the so-called ratio price control provision of the code.

The refiners association's telegram said, "Neither we or the courts will uphold" the present provisions in the code covering this point.

Wallace Urges Dairy Control

Production Supervision Is Only Hope of Farmers, Secretary Warns.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP).—Hope for dairy farmers rests in production control, not in Washington "magic," Secretary of Agriculture Wallace said today in an address at the New York State Fair.

"We shall continually be trying to perfect the technique of making marketing agreements accord with economic facts," he said, "but no matter how skillfully this is done, I am confident that it will not be enough. The dairy problem can not be settled by agreements and licensing provisions alone. It is obvious that soon we must think more definitely of the way in which the whole milk prices hit butter prices, and of the way that butter prices hit the walls around the milk sheds."

If dairymen fail to recognize they have a problem in production control, "they need not expect indefinitely to get a continuous flow of agreements and licenses from Washington," he warned. "Agreements and licenses are ultimately unenforceable if they are out of line with economic facts."

Governor Rolph Improved.

Radio Tells

Amateur Operator Hears Message Presumably About Texas Storm.

A radio description of the Texas storm was received last night by Roy C. Corderman, amateur radio operator, at his home, 4401 Leland street, Chevy Chase, Md.

The message received from an unidentfied source said: "Greatest calamity came from Gulf Coast today. Along 200 miles of Texas coast, frail buildings fell like paper and small ships tossed about——" At this point communication was cut off.

Mr. Corderman was unsuccessful in contacting anyone in the stricken zone he said.

Process Levy Sought to Pay For Hog Killing

Packers Propose Tax to Defray Cost of Federal Reduction Program.

(Associated Press.)

A processing tax on hogs, starting November 1, at 25 cents a head and increasing gradually to $1, was advocated yesterday by leading packers to defray expenses of the administration's program for slaughtering 5,000,000 swine.

They warned a tax "of any great amount" would result in "unprecedented dumping of the product on the market."

The packers expressed their views at a hearing before the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. A program already has been started to aid raisers and to provide meat for needy at low cost.

The Agricultural Administration has estimated approximately $50,000,000 will be required to carry out the program and that this could be obtained by a tax of one-half cent per pound on live hogs. The pigs being slaughtered weigh between 25 and 100 pounds and the sows up to 275 pounds.

William S. Clithero, of Armour & Co., estimated the slaughtering program would cost approximately $33,250,000.

The prediction that dumping would follow the imposition of a high tax was made by Thomas E. Wilson, president of Wilson & Co., who explained the packers would have to "get out from under" and that this would "break the market and immediately reflect itself in lower prices for live stock."

Hog Speculators Hit.

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP).—Speculators who bought up pigs to take advantage of the Government's slaughtering program are now at the mercy of the farmers from whom they purchased, Agricultural Adjustment Administration officials asserted today.

The speculators can't sell their stock to the packing houses handling the Government pork unless they obtain permits, and the permits are being issued only to the original owners.

Confederate Sons Fight Monument

Atlanta, Sept. 5 (AP).—Frustration of plans for a monument to mark the fall of the Southern Confederacy at Appomattox was advanced as a major objective of the Sons of Confederate Veterans in convention here today.

Congress has appropriated $100,000 to erect the memorial, but the descendants of the men who fought the South's battles are turning every stone to see that it is never built.

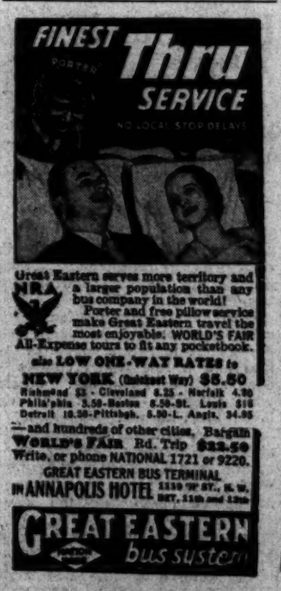

Dr. William R. Dancy, of Savannah, commander in chief of the Sons, says the incongruity of the thing is what arouses resentment of Southern people.

Two other major objectives Dr. Dancy cited in his annual report were the creation of Manassas battlefield into memorial grounds and establishment of a Confederate library and museum at Beauvoir, Jefferson Davis' home at Gulfport, Miss.

Crows Threaten Ruin To Coast Walnut Crop

Santa Ana, Calif., Sept. 5 (AP).—English walnut growers need some first-class crow hunters or there is going to be a sad story to tell about this season's crop.

So intensive has been the assault upon the ripening nuts that police and volunteer gunners have failed to make progress against the feathered enemy. Great numbers of the birds were killed, but the screaming survivors continue to hold the area.

Japanese Librarian Thanks U. S. Officials for Their Aid

Restoration After Quake Due to America, Says Professor.

Dr. Masaharu Anesaki, professor of comparative religion and librarian at the Tokyo Imperial University, returned to Washington yesterday to thank Dr. Herbert Putnam, of the Congressional Library, and Dr. C. G. Abbot, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, for their help in reconstructing the university library, destroyed in the 1923 earthquake.

After the earthquake, Dr. Anesaki came to this country seeking a new collection of books. He appealed to Dr. Putnam and Dr. Abbot. A large portion of the books now on the shelves of the new University Library were donated by the Congressional Library and the Smithsonian.

Dr. Anesaki's visit was a part of a tour of this country, his first since reconstruction of his library.

Next year Dr. Anesaki will be 60, the age of compulsory retirement.

"Thus far my life has been devoted to others, the university and the library," he said. "Now is the time to think of myself."

Mother of Capital Editor Dies at 78

Mrs. Elinor M. Patterson One of Noted Family.

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP).—Mrs. Elinor Medill Patterson, whose father founded the Chicago Tribune, died in a hotel today of a heart attack. She was 78 years old.

She was the daughter of Joseph Medill, and the widow of Robert W. Patterson, who became editor-in-chief of the Tribune upon Medill's death. She also was the aunt of the present publisher, Col. Robert R. McCormick, and was the mother of two other editors—Eleanor Patterson, of the Washington Herald, and Joseph Medill Patterson, president of the New York News Syndicate Co., Inc.

Her death was not unexpected. She had been confined to bed for nearly 13 years.

Dr. Lubeck's Burial Today

Services for Honorary Canon to Be Held at New York.

Funeral services for Dr. Henry Lubeck, 77, honorary canon of Washington Cathedral, who died Monday at his home in New York, will be held at 11 a. m. today at St. Thomas' Church, Fifth avenue, New York, where he often preached. Interment will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Brooklyn.

Dr. Lubeck preached at the Church of the Epiphany, 1317 G street northwest, for more than a year following consecration of the Right Rev. James E. Freeman as bishop and before the calling of the Rev. ZeBarney Phillips to Epiphany. He was cathedral resident canon from 1924 to 1927 when failing health forced him to retire and he was named honorary canon. Since then he visited Washington frequently.

A native of Sydney, New South Wales, Dr. Lubeck was educated in Australian colleges. He was ordained in 1882 and came to the United States a year later. He studied law at Albany, N. Y., and obtained his master of arts degree at Hobart College.

Dr. Lubeck is survived by his widow, the former Emma Rose, of Albany.

Composer of "Meditation" Dies.

Lamson Grief Was Not Sham, Say Witnesses

Defense Testimony Shows Coast Man Attentive to Slain Wife.

San Jose, Calif., Sept. 5 (AP).—The defense opened its case today in the murder trial of David A. Lamson with testimony that the Stanford University press representative was attentive to his wife, Allene, and appeared "stunned or shocked" after she was found slain in their campus cottage last Memorial Day.

In meeting the State's charge that the defendant bludgeoned his wife to death because of marital discord, the defense recalled witnesses who pictured for the prosecution the Lamson home on the morning of the tragedy when the quiet was broken by Lamson's cry of murder.

Heard Strange Cry.

Mrs. Place testified she detected nothing unusual in Lamson's conduct when he told her he would go through the house and admit her. She told of hearing a strange cry as if coming from the bath room, and of being met by Lamson with a cry that his wife had been murdered.

"Was his appearance one of grief?" she was asked.

"Yes."

"Was there anything to indicate his grief was simulated?"

"Nothing."

Friends Tell of Visit.

Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Wright, friends of the Lamsons, said Mr. and Mrs. Lamson called at their house the night before the murder.

Lamson's attitude toward his wife was "attentive" and "kindly," the witness said.

Mrs. Willis Thoits, sister of the defendant, said she arrived about three hours after the tragedy became known.

Mrs. Thoits said she inspected the bed in which Mrs. Lamson had slept. Only one of the two pillows was rumpled, she said, bearing out Lamson's story that his wife slept alone.

Sister to Investigate Estate of Arbuckle

Los Angeles, Sept 5 (AP).—Special letters of administration of the estate of the late Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, screen comedian, were granted today to his sister, Mrs. Nora Arbuckle St. John.

She said she believed Arbuckle left an interest in real estate and personal property in California and wanted permission to search through his property.

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—Hendrick H. Whitman, head of the American Woolen Co. and former Harvard tennis star, obtained a license today to marry Miss Pauline Danforth, prominent Boston pianist.

Whitman's marriage to the former Adelaide Chatfield Taylor, Chicago society woman and playwright, was ended by a divorce last year. Miss Danforth gave her age as 32, 15 years her fiance's junior. She has played privately for Queen Marie of Roumania.

Bloodstains Aid Detroit Police In Death Case

Roomer Says Suspected Husband Washed Out Bed Sheets.

Detroit, Sept. 5 (AP).—Edward McCann, believed to be the husband of the woman whose arms and legs, hacked from the body, were found in a field here, tonight became the object of a search by Detroit police.

Bloodstains, the police said, were found in the McCann apartment. Roy Hendershott, roomer in the McCann home, who is under arrest, told police he last saw Mrs. McCann Thursday night on the veranda of her apartment. He said McCann entered his room Friday and informed him his wife had gone to the exposition in Chicago.

Hendershott said McCann washed several sheets Saturday morning. Neighbors said McCann, on Saturday, inquired if they had heard any "undue noise" in the apartment, reporting his wife suffered a heart attack.

Strike Paralyzes Neckwear Trade

10,000 Walk Out Despite NRA Mediation Effort.

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—The entire men's neckwear industry was paralyzed today as 10,000 workers walked out upon the expiration of collective labor agreements. NRA attempts to prevent the strike failed.

Louis Fuch, union manager, said the workers would remain away until every demand has been met by employers.

Among the demands are the following:

A 35-hour work week, a 35 per cent wage increase for piece workers, a 25 per cent wage increase for week workers, establishment of an unmployed insurance fund, elimination of tenement work, end of the sweatshop and contracting evils, a $2.50 weekly minimum for cutters.

Woman Held Financial Head Of Average American Family

Weaker Sex Advised by Banker to Take Up Study of Money.

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP).—Financial adversity, Mrs. Mary Berkley Finke, of New York, said today, has made woman the business head of the average family.

Mrs. Finke, manager of the woman's department of the Morris Plan Bank in New York, was a delegate to the annual convention of the Association of Bank Women.

"It can be said the depression has made the woman the financial head of the house, especially in the small home-owning family," she said.

"Financial matters—such as mortgages and taxes on the family home—are being looked after in increasing numbers by women."

The modern woman to make a success of her newly acquired duties should take up the study of money matters, she said.

Since the NRA program, she added, a noticeable increase in business loans from $500 to $1,000 have been manifest. The borrowers were women—shopkeepers and heads of small concerns—striving to replenish depleted stocks.

The women bankers will have their election of officers and business meeting tomorrow. Miss Agnes M. Kenny, manager of the women's department of the First Wisconsin National Bank, Milwaukee, is presiding over the women as president.

Head of Schools Runs for Governor

Buford S. Cross Outlines Platform in G. O. P. Race in West Virginia.

Berkeley Springs, W. Va., Sept. 5 (Spl.).—Buford S. Cross, for thirteen years superintendent of schools in Morgan County, has formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor of West Virginia, subject to the 1933 primary.

Mr. Cross, born in this county in 1879, taught school 27 years before being named to the first of the three successive terms as school superintendent.

In a briefly outlined platform he included declarations in favor of the following:

Free textbooks in all schools; use of the State as the unit of taxation for school purposes; economy in government; tax reforms; completion of the State road network with emphasis upon secondary or lateral roads. He has extensive fraternal connections throughout the State.

Young Republicans Plan Shenandoah Club

New Market, Va., Sept. 5 (Spl.). Young Republicans of Shenandoah County will meet in Woodstock, September 8 to arrange a club.

County and State campaign plans will be considered.

Twice Saved From Mob, Man Sentenced to Die

Decatur, Ala., Sept. 5 (AP).—Death in the electric chair was ordered today for Tom Brown, colored, convicted on a charge of attacking a white woman, as National Guardsmen stood ready to prevent any demonstration against the prisoner, twice saved from mob violence.

The packed courtroom received the jury's verdict quietly and within a few minutes the man was en route to Birmingham, escorted by a detail of the troops.

Davis Hopeful Of Agreement On Disarming

Not "Predicting," Trusts Nations to Weigh Consequences.

Plymouth, England, Sept. 5 (AP).—Norman H. Davis, United States Ambassador at Large, said tonight that while he would not "predict success" for the Geneva Disarmament Conference, he was hopeful that if nations "weigh up the consequences of failure against the benefits of agreement, they will have the wisdom and courage to reach an agreement."

Davis, arriving on the liner Washington, did not "like to prophesy and can not predict what will happen."

Regarding a suggestion the United States might sign an European pact of nonaggression, he said America was willing to entertain such a pact.

"Continental Europe," he added, "has been talking about a treaty of mutual assistance, and that is almost exactly opposite to a treaty of nonaggression. We support the idea of disarmament and the British plan for disarmament in principle, but details must be threshed out.

"We have advocated setting up a general body at Geneva to control armaments, but we have not yet set up the plan in detail."

Davis said he would not discuss debts while in Europe, declaring, "The subject is not germane to disarmament."

The ambassador will reach London early tomorrow.

Adopted Boy Quits; Likes Asylum Best

Omaha, Sept. 5 (AP).—Back at Father Flannagan's boys home, Peter Christopolus hopes to find in school books a solution to his present problem.

Peter has resumed class work at the home here instead of at a military school as his prospective foster-father, Jean Strengs, of Paterson, N. J., had planned.

The 14-year-old orphan entered the palatial Strengs home two months ago for a trial adoption period.

From Paterson, Strengs was quoted as saying the Omaha boy was arrogant and disobedient, and not like their son, drowned last year, whose place in the household Peter expected to fill.

Ecuador Cabinet Loses.

Quito, Ecuador, Sept. 5 (AP).—Congress tonight voted lack of confidence in the cabinet which had just been completed with the designation of a minister of foreign relations.

Beer Gardens on Sidewalk Banned by New York Order

Fight Promised as Owners Protest and Legislator Assures Help.

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—Sidewalk cafes—that continental touch brought by beer's return—were banned today.

With the 3.2 legalization, such cafes were opened in Manhattan. Some were merely a couple of tables and a few chairs outside a drug store or restaurant. Others were elaborate—such as some on lower Fifth avenue.

All were ordered closed immediately by H. Warren Hubbard, Manhattan commissioner of public works, who said they were "incumbering or obstructing the sidewalks."

Business has been excellent in most of the cafes and the commissioner's order was immediately protested. A Republican assemblyman from the lower Fifth avenue district, Herbert Brownell, jr., promised to spare no effort to have the order rescinded.

The order will not affect outdoor restaurants on private ground.

Child Killed by Truck At Fredericksburg

Fredericksburg, Va., Sept. 5 (AP). A 2-year-old child's desire to see her grandmother ended fatally today for little Peggy Ann Boutchyard when she stepped into the path of a truck on the Jefferson Davis highway which separates the child's home from that of her grandmother.

Eugene Evans, jr., 20, of Raleigh, N. C., is being held by Stafford County authorities pending a hearing tomorrow morning.

Three Agenceis Unite to Fight Sleep Malady

U. S. Directs Research; 74th Death Recorded in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Sept. 5 (AP).—With simultaneous speriments under way by scores of city, State and Federal experts, the medical centers of St. Louis have become a large coordinated laboratory to combat "sleeping sickness."

The disease tonight had taken 74 victims and afflicted 546 others.

Direction of research is centered at Epidemic Laboratory, Washington University, under control of Dr. Charles Armstrong, United States Public Health Service officer. At Barnes Hospital a dozen experiments are under way.

Today the United States Army set up a laboratory at Jefferson Barracks, under direction of Maj. James S. Simmons, bacteriologist. His study will be on the possibility insects spread the disease.

The United States Public Health Service has eight epidemiologists tracking the transmission agent.

Malady's Spread Traced.

(Associated Press.)

The Public Health Service said yesterday evidence indicates "sleeping sickness" in St. Louis is spread like infantile paralysis, through nose and throat secretions.

Many Rhesus monkeys, sent from Washington laboratories to St. Louis, will play a prominent part in the new drive there against the malady. They will be inoculated with the virus which may cause the disease.

2 Die in Stamford, Conn.

Stamford, Conn., Sept. 5 (AP).—Two deaths from sleeping sickness occurred here today. The victims were John Stricker, jr., 17, high school graduate, and Dorothy Webber, 5.

Ohio Combats Disease.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 5 (AP). With eight persons suffering from sleeping sickness in Ohio, the State Health Department today ordered Dr. Finley Van Orsdall to work to check the disease. Five new cases and two deaths occurred in Cleveland. Other cases were reported at Painesville, St. Clairsville, Cincinnati, Toledo and Unity.

Boss Hoodlum Gets 6 Months

Head of Chicago Fish Peddlers Sentenced as Racketeer.

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP).—Maxie Eisen, head of the Fish Peddlers' Union, today was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction on charges of possessing a "criminal reputation."

When Judge Thomas A. Green passed sentence upon Eisen it made the score in the State's long campaign against him: Arrests, 42; convictions, 1.

More than a dozen police officers and business men testified that Eisen, for years czar of the fish dealers' organization, was a "racketeer, gangster and shake-down artist."

Immediately after the Eisen sentencing, Sam Battaglia, West Side hoodlum, failed to appear in court on similar charges and Judge Green ordered forfeited his $10,000 bond, raised it to $30,000 and issued a capias for his arrest.

Senator Early Resigns To Take Revenue Post

Richmond, Va., Sept. 5 (AP).—Senator Nathaniel B. Early, of Greene, today resigned after 36 years' service.

100 Horses Die Of Meningitis

Fungus Growth on Weeds Spreads Epidemic in Maryland.

Leonardtown, Md., Sept. 5 (Spl.). A sudden epidemic of spinal meningitis among horses in Charles, Calvert, St. Marys and Prince Georges Counties has killed at least 100 horses within the past few days.

At least 35 horses in St. Marys County have been killed during the past 48 hours by the disease, which, according to Dr. Roy Bell, of Pearson, is caused by a fungus growth on weeds, moldy hay and short grass.

Dr. J. J. Jones, of La Plata and College Park, and Dr. R. I. Bowles, of Clements, are inoculating horses with serum sent here from New York, Baltimore and Washington. Heavy rains have increased the fungus growth.

Pictures of Girl In Pinedo's Plane

"I Kiss You Dearly," Is Inscription to Flier Burned to Death.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP).—Two pictures of a beautiful, dark-eyed girl, one signed "Giovanna" and the other "Ruba," were found today in the wreckage of Gen. Francesco de Pinedo's airplane at Floyd Bennett Field.

The noted Italian flier crashed and burned to death while attempting to take off on a flight to Bagdad last Saturday morning.

It was signed "Ruba" and below the signature also was written "Tuo cara," meaning "Dearly yours."

Mount Rainier to Decide on All Sunday Amusements.

Mount Rainier citizens must decide their Sunday motion picture question.

The town council voted last night to hold a referendum on Saturday, October 21. The election will also determine the legality of Sunday concerts, baseball games, golf, tennis and many other sports.

The Hyattsville council will decide tonight as to a similar referendum in their town.

State Works Fund Rule Hit by Arlington Group

A "fair portion" of the $16,000,000 due Virginia from the Federal public works road fund should be spent in the counties without interference from State authorities, was the demand made for Arlington County last night in a resolution adopted by the Arlington County Civic Federation, meeting at the Lyon Park Community House.

Jail Is Guarded Inside and Out To Hold Bailey

Oklahoma Authorities to Speed Case Against Kidnap Suspect.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 5 (AP).—As authorities concentrated in assembling evidence the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel in readiness for the Federal court trial of Harvey Bailey, Albert Bates, and nearly a dozen others charged in the abduction, developments involving activities of other underworld characters claimed the spotlight today.

A double guard stood watch inside and outside the jail here, where Bailey was imprisoned late yesterday after his spectacular escape from the Dallas Jail and recapture at Ardmore. The jail's exterior is floodlighted at night.

Investigation Started.

Held with the two outlaws are Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannon and their son, Armon, on whose farm Bailey was captured while asleep several weeks ago.

At Dallas a rigid investigation of jail break was under way, and a Federal grand jury also will inquire into the mysterious escape, carried out apparently single-handed.

Nick Tresp, turnkey kidnaped by Bailey at the time of his escape, says Bailey told him the work of sawing the bars of his cell was done Sunday night and Monday morning. The saw, he said, was brought into the jail, hidden on his thigh by adhesive tape. He claimed to have found the pistol in a mattress.

Place of Trial Uncertain.

There remained some uncertainty whether Bailey would be tried here in the kidnaping case before being taken to Kansas City for trial in connection with the Union Station Plaza slayings in which four officers and Frank Nash, Federal prisoner, lost their lives.

Liner Presidents Elected.

Hamburg, Germany, Sept. 5 (AP). The boards of directors of the Hamburg-American and the North German Llyod Lines today elected Max Oboussier and Dr. Rudolph Firle as presidents of the respective companies.

AUBURN
Women at the Wheel

No finer compliment could be paid to the AUBURN than the unanimous endorsement of the women who drive it—

The extreme ease with which the car is handled—the touch of a toe on the hydraulic brakes—the pressure of a finger on the sensitive steering wheel—the eager alertness of the motor—the inspiring feeling of confidence and security, in the jam of city traffic or on the long reaches of the open road—all these appeal with peculiar force to the woman driver and offer to her a new and delightful experience in motoring—And—entirely aside from the performance of the AUBURN is the fascinating beauty of its outward appearance—

There is a charm to the graceful sweep of the body lines that is distinctively new in motor car design.

There is a rich harmony to the color combinations and an atmosphere of luxury and refinement in the interior finishing that meet the most exacting demands of discriminating taste.

"Proud and glad to do our part"

WITH President Roosevelt's acceptance of the NRA Automobile Code, Chevrolet, the world's largest builder of motor cars, officially begins operations in accordance with the administration's recovery program.

Although the official code was signed only a few days ago, it will be of interest to Chevrolet's many friends to learn that the Chevrolet Motor Company started to carry out the spirit of today's recovery program over three years ago!

At that time, we put into operation a "share-the-work" plan, whereby our workmen cooperated in spreading the work to give more men jobs. By means of this plan, as well as by regulating hours of work per week to meet retail demand, and by building up parts stocks in lean seasons, it was possible to carry 33,000 men on our payroll through the depression. For eleven months of each year since 1929, we have kept our employment within 10 per cent of this average. We are justly proud of that record. We are also proud to say that Chevrolet workmen did not, at any time during the depression, become a burden on public welfare departments.

On August 1st of this year, Chevrolet announced a blanket wage increase as well as the adoption of a 7½-hour, 5-day week and the employment of 12,000 additional men. This wage increase was the second in the last 4 months, Chevrolet having been among the first to put a blanket wage increase into effect.

We feel that the President's recovery program deserves the wholehearted support of every citizen and manufacturer in America. It is a bold, swift, courageous plan to start the ball rolling toward economic recovery. Its sincerity is unquestioned. Its objectives are admirable. And the direct, forceful steps the President and his associates are taking to make it a success, should stir the pride and admiration of every American.

We are proud and glad to do our part. And we are deeply grateful to the American people for the patronage that has enabled us to anticipate the present recovery program and to play our part today. After all, the immense number of men employed by Chevrolet is a direct result of the continued preference America has shown for Chevrolet.

The "Man Power" Problem.

General Johnson's Chicago speech was by far the most important description of the ideals and methods of the NRA which so far he has given to the public. His address fortunately was free from the picturesque remarks that have characterized some of his former utterances. Nevertheless his words certainly did not lack punch.

The General's outline of the theory, the principles and the meaning of the recovery act is worthy of the most careful thought and study. He has failed, however, to cover adequately the important problems connected with the personnel of the Recovery Administration—what is called in industry the "man power" problem.

General Johnson's previous governmental experience had to do with war activities, when people were drafted into service. The administration now is initiating a system which closely approaches an economic drafting system. But there is no basis for assuming that the American people are ready to accept as a permanent form of organization a system built up in this way.

In an emergency, men of brains, character, and executive ability are willing to come to Washington and give their services to the country at the bidding of those in power, but, sad to relate, few are willing to stay when the crisis has passed its acute stage. They do not want to give up their home ties or their business affiliations. The successful administration of the recovery act, however, calls for the services of men of first-rate ability who are prepared to enlist in the Government service not far days or weeks but for years if necessary. They should be strong enough to resist unpleasant political pressure, able to withstand abuse, and capable of surviving the ordeal of investigations by congressional committees, which not infrequently go beyond the scope of impartial inquiry and unnecessarily absorb the energies of Government officials.

General Johnson has consistently emphasized the necessity of cooperation on the part of organized industries and labor to insure success of the recovery plan. Such cooperation the Government must unquestionably receive, but it alone will not guarantee successful execution of the recovery program. The Government's administrative organization must be manned by men trained, competent, and single-minded in their desire to give effect to the provisions of the recovery act.

The trade and manufacturing associations must, as General Johnson says, be made part of the enforcement machinery and developed with a view to governing their respective trades and industries. But in many cases official advice and guidance will be necessary to prevent a reversion to the archaic competitive conditions that the recovery act seeks to eliminate.

The rather placid picture painted by General Johnson showing the Government sitting on the side lines equipped with a veto power to prevent abuses of monopoly, oppression of small enterprises and exploitation of consumers is not as convincing as his previous vigorous exposition of his plans and purposes. His program is one to tax the mind and energies of the Nation's best citizens. The country would welcome assurances that steps are to be taken to enlist such men in the national service, not for a brief time, but for the long pull.

Two Hurricanes at Once.

Two hurricanes originating in the Caribbean are ravaging parts of Florida and Texas. With wires down it is impossible to estimate losses, but apparently the residents of inland Florida took good precautions, either by stiffening their defenses or by evacuating regions that were subject to flooding, and therefore the loss of life is expected to be very small. Texas, which had been forewarned, was as well prepared as possible to resist the onslaught, and while property damage is large there has been little or no loss of life.

The hurricane season will extend through September. The big storm of 1926 struck Florida on Sept. 18, and that of 1928 occurred on Sept. 28. The only recourse for sections subject to these visitations is to profit by experience. They can build storm-proof buildings and can protect seaside settlements with walls to ward off tidal waves. The lower sections of Florida, notably the Lake Okeechobee region, can not be protected against floods resulting from torrential rains. The only alternative in that section is better building and evacuation of the population before a hurricane strikes.

It is possible to develop a better system of observation in the Caribbean area, so that all regions in the probable path of these storms can receive early warning. All vessels traversing the Caribbean should be enlisted in the information service, and a more complete exchange of information should be arranged between the United States Weather Bureau and all similar agencies in the countries of the Caribbean. In taking all steps humanly possible to avert disaster, advance information is invaluable.

The Aryan Myth.

The revival of the Aryan myth by Hitler recalls the long and trouble making career of this doctrine in German history. Its reappearance in postwar Germany may mean that the Nazis have gleaned little from the past.

What is Aryanism? Originally it was an intellectual dispute between bewhiskered scholars as to the existence of a pure and undefiled Aryan race at one stage of the earth's history. The origin of this race—its precise geographic cradle—became one of the great detective stories of scientific researches in philology, anthropology and archaeology. But beginning as a controversy between scholars, with no more at issue than the settlement of a fact, it became in the hands of others a dangerous political doctrine.

In the early nineteenth century Count Joseph Arthur de Gobineau, native Frenchman but naturalized German, gave to the controversy an ominous significance when he declared that "national degeneration is due to racial impurity caused by intermarriage."

Unable to answer the unanswered question as to the existence of any pure Aryan race, de Gobineau brushed aside this hobble to the conclusions he wished to make and assumed the historical existence of such a race. He argued that the German people were its purest descendants, and contended that all civilizations have sprung from conquests of weaker peoples by "Aryans" and that all have declined "when Aryan blood became diluted by inter-marriage."

In the years that intervened to the World War the Gobineau thesis was built upon steadily until it flowered in a superiority complex the most dangerous part of which, according to scholars, was a belief in the divine destiny of Aryan Germany to advance civilization by dominating the world.

Even Kaiser Wilhelm subsidized out of the royal purse the publication of books that re-stated the Gobineau theme with more fantastic implications. Dr. Frank H. Hankins, noted American sociologist, observes that in Germany on the eve of the great war "German writers and politicians, professors and theologians had aroused the people to a frenzied zeal for a holy war in defense of Teutonic Kultur."

Scientifically the doctrine of an Aryan race is still unproved. And no scholar emancipated from the impulses of romantic patriotism has ever established that the German people are the purest representatives of this mythical people. Competent authorities have pointed out that northern France is more Teutonic than southern Germany, and that in many places eastern Germany is more Slavic than Russia. They say also that so-called Aryan-Nordic types are relatively infrequent in Germany outside of Hannover and are more numerous in north central France than in Bavaria.

Hence, if anthropology is to be taken seriously, Hitler's prospective blue-eyed, fair-complexioned, blond-haired, long-headed rejuvenation of Germany may have to make a very practical compromise with the purity it extols if modern Germany is not to undergo a severe geographical surgical operation.

The revival of the myth of racial purity at this late stage in world history is like trying to unscramble an omelet, though it remains to be seen what faith may do to reality.

Mexico's Six-Year Plan.

The solution of Mexico's economic problems is the ideal of long-term planning that is being formulated by Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, former president and revolutionary leader, who is still regarded as the strong man whose support is indispensable to any administration. Few details of the Calles six-year plan have as yet been announced, but a number of the country's ablest men have been enlisted for the development of its various phases.

Naturally, as agriculture is of predominant importance in Mexico, the scheme is largely concerned with the improvement of farm production and marketing conditions. Preliminary indications are that the new plans include an ambitious attempt to control agriculture so as to secure the best returns by regulating production to meet local market and export requirements. In brief, the idea seems to be to apply to all farm produce the regulatory measures that are being enforced with regard to leading farm commodities in the United States.

Mexico will hold presidential elections next July, and it is predicted that Gen. Calles' economic plan will virtually form the platform of the National Revolutionary Party in the forthcoming campaign. The candidate who stands upon this platform and enjoys the support of Mexico's Iron Man probably will have an excellent chance of election.

Oil Output and Prices.

The long-debated code for the petroleum industry went into effect on September 1 with the price-fixing problem still unsettled, but with a definite announcement from Secretary Ickes, as oil administrator, fixing State quotas for the limitation of production. The daily average output for the week ending August 26, was 2,756,400 barrels, which is now restricted to 2,409,700 barrels a day, or approximately the estimated consumption requirements of the industry.

It was expected that, in connection with the inauguration of the code regulations, the oil administrator and the Planning and Coordinating Committee would announce prices to govern sales of petroleum and all its products. Instead this question is held in abeyance pending conference with the President, who may be called upon to exercise his discretionary powers to establish such price schedules. This step is naturally looked upon as one of great significance, not only for the oil interests, but as to its possible bearing upon all industrial codes.

Reports from the mid-continent oil fields indicate a prompt and general response to the new code requirements. Thousands of additional workers are being added to the operating forces in the fields and at refineries. It has been estimated that the double effect of additional help and increased wages will add 20 per cent to company pay rolls. The increase in employes by five companies was placed at 6,000 men, as work hours were shortened to 35 or 40 hours a week.

Texas, the largest oil producer of any State, suffers the heaviest cut under the new limitations, its output maximum now being fixed at 975,200 barrels a day, against recent production exceeding 1,200,000 barrels. Oklahoma is reduced from 605,500 barrels a day to 540,000 barrels, and California from 501,400 barrels to 480,000. The new quotas are expected to result in an immediate curtailment of the excess output, which has made it difficult for the industry to maintain fair prices.

Repeal on the Way.

Six States will vote on prohibition repeal this month, besides Vermont, which voted yesterday. Maine will vote on Sept. 11, Colorado, Maryland and Minnesota on Sept. 12, and Idaho and New Mexico on Sept. 19. By the end of this month it is expected that thirty-one States will have voted to repeal the eighteenth amendment. Five more will be needed to effect repeal.

Virginia will vote on Oct. 3, Florida on Oct. 10, and North and South Carolina, Ohio, and Utah on Nov. 7. Utah's election is tentatively fixed for Nov. 7.,

Of the total popular vote on repeal in the 24 States which have acted, about 9,800,000 have registered for repeal and 3,000,000 against repeal. By States, the move for repeal is unanimous, and it is not believed that any of the States voting between now and Nov. 7 will break this unanimity.

In only a few States has any definite program been evolved for dealing with the liquor question after repeal. The hour appears to be opportune for appearance of a plan that will be adaptable to all the States. The general sentiment, so far as it can be gauged, is in favor of prevention of the return of the oldtime saloon; strict State control of the manufacture and sale of hard liquor; prohibition of retail business by distillers and brewers; and imposition of rather stiff taxes.

Foreign producers of liquors are hoping to obtain tariff concessions, relying upon what they conceive to be a widespread demand in America for intoxicating liquor. They fail to reckon, however, upon the necessity for larger Federal and State revenues, and upon the influence of liquor producers in this country. It does not seem probable that Congress will lower the tariff on foreign liquors at this time, when the tendency is to hold tariff barriers firmly against foreign competition of all kinds, in the campaign to foster national recovery.

Calendar Reform.

In 1931 the advocates of calendar reform succeeded in bringing up this much-discussed question for consideration by the League of Nations. Since that time, it is announced, sentiment has been growing in favor of the adoption of a more equally balanced division of the year and a stabilization of such movable holidays as Easter. This feeling is more especially marked in England, where the Trades Union Congress at its last two annual meetings passed resolutions urging calendar revision.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, in a letter to the National Calendar Association, expressed his readiness "in an authoritative way" to support the proposal for the stabilization of Easter, provided the other Christian churches would also champion the change. This, it is claimed, will be forthcoming, and it only remains for the Holy See to express its approval of an act of Parliament passed in 1928, which fixed the date for Easter, to go into effect when ratified by the churches.

A referendum among English business men, it is claimed, showed 90 per cent to be in favor of the immediate fixing of Easter, and 80 per cent in agreement for complete calendar reform. There are today two principal schemes of revision, out of some 200 submitted to the League. One would divide the year into thirteen months of twenty-eight days each, introducing between June and July the new month, Sol. The other provides for quarters of 91 days each, retaining the twelve months as at present. The latter plan is said to be gaining adherents more rapidly than any other.

The Toy Exchange.

The arrest of children charged with stealing toys and sent to the Children's Court for examination led Mrs. Ida Cash, a New York probation officer, to investigate the motives of these petty pilferings. In many cases it was found that the children who had been thus tempted had never owned a plaything of any kind. Many youngsters in the slum districts of the metropolis had never come nearer to a doll or a toy train than seeing them in a shop window, and it was not such a surprising thing that, once inside a store with a cherished treasure in hand, the child was unable to part with it.

As a result of Mrs. Cash's activity a group of women decided to do something to relieve the situation. They established a center where playthings can be borrowed without charge, like books from a public library. After bringing a parent with them to register at the New York University Community Center, children are permitted to select toys and keep them for a stated period.

Toys are a necessary part of the normal life of any child and the need is most acute in the homes of the very poor. If the children of more favored parents understood the degree of pleasure afforded to less fortunate ones in receiving old playthings, they undoubtedly would be happy to donate them.

THE COMMITTEE ON LEISURE.

("Committee on leisure time named by NRA board to teach workers what to do with their additional spare time, under shorter working hours."—News item.)

Scene: Factory Office.

Workman (forlornly)—Boss, I'm sorry, but I've got to ask you a favor.

Boss (a little puzzled)—These are not your working hours. You're not supposed to be around as late as this.

Workman—That's just it. You've got to help me out or I'll go nuts.

Boss—What's the matter? Haven't I given you more time off than you ever had in your life?

Workman (very depressed)—That's the very point, boss. I don't know what to do with my leisure hours!

Boss (with an I-knew-it attitude)—I could have told you that would happen.

Workman (weeping)—It's terrible, boss * * * those long hours with no work to do. They got me whipped!

Boss—The thing to do is to take that problem up with the committee on leisure time. They have it all figured out.

Workman—I did, boss. They suggested kite flying. I tried it for a few days, but it didn't satisfy me. I never was much of a hand for kite flying.

Boss—How about hoop rolling? One of our men, who only works four hours a day, tried hoop rolling on his free time and seems to be enjoying it immensely. He's gotten so he can roll two hoops at a time.

Workman—I tried hoop rolling, too.

Boss—I'd like to help you, my man. You can't give us your best work if you come in every day all in from worrying about how to play in your spare time.

* * * *

Boss—Have you thought of stamp collecting or butterfly mounting? How about steam-shovel watching?

Workman—Steam-shovel watching?

Boss—Yes. A lot of the workmen are doing that in their leisure hours. You just walk around town until you find somebody excavating for a new postoffice or something, and just lean on the rail and watch the steam shovel. You can even criticize the operator and offer suggestions.

Workman (very dejectedly)—It's no use. I'm a nervous wreck trying to figure what to do with my leisure hours.

* * * *

Workman—What?

Boss: There's an old high-wheeled bicycle in my attic. I'll be glad to let you take it. Try it in heavy traffic. It's bully fun and will take your mind off everything.

Workman (pessimistically): No, boss. I'm sick of this leisure. You've got to do it. You've got to do it.

Boss: Do what, my man, do what?

Workman (firmly): Put me back to work on the old hours! Please! Please!

If the Suicide Can Be Restrained by Force, Why Not the Sucker?

By Robert Quillen.

SUPPOSE some resident of an exclusive neighborhood, having heard that great profits are made in the glue business, should transform his home into a factory that would stink to heaven and thus make the property of his neighbors worthless.

Would they submit to the outrage without a fight? Would law or common sense uphold the man's right to use his property for that purpose?

Consider, then, the matter of gambling.

It is commonly believed by persons of sound sense that the greatest menace to normal business recovery is a premature and unwarranted "bull market."

Another frenzy of buying, followed by the inevitable market collapse, would undo all the good that present recovery plans have done.

That is so obviously true that nobody questions it. But nobody can be sure, under present conditions, that it won't happen.

In a recent editorial, Collier's Weekly says: "There will be no trouble if we as individuals refrain from gambling. We can be protected from everyone except ourselves. If we want to be suckers, nobody can stop us."

The first statement is true, but the last is not.

If we as individuals think we have an opportunity to make some easy money, and yet let it pass in the name of patriotism, there will be no trouble.

But we as individuals are not made that way. We are a race of speculators. And the habitual speculator, despite his previous losses and regardless of the effect on the Nation, will bet his pile in a rising market if he thinks the rise will make him a profit.

Argument won't stop him. Pleas for the common good won't influence him. He will be a sucker, perhaps, but he hopes to be a winner, and nothing less than force will keep him from taking a chance.

He can be stopped. Make no mistake about that. The administration has power enough to stop everything but the tides.

And he must be stopped before he starts if the rest of us are to escape hurt.

We are 125,000,000 people. Suppose but one million of us are determined to gamble. Has one man the right to take a chance that will ruin 125 of his neighbors?

The Government hasn't hesitated to deprive citizens of other rights. Surely the right to ruin one's neighbors is not the only one sacred enough to survive.

Comment of the Press

Maine's Repeal Convention.

New York Herald Tribune.

The question seems to be not whether we shall have repeal before Christmas, but whether a single State of those that act will vote against it. There is a possibility that Maine will be first exception.

Maine's Supreme Court is mainly responsible for its convention election law. The Legislature in framing it followed the expressed opinion of the court that Article V of the United States Constitution, in designating conventions as a means of ratifying amendments, did not contemplate assemblies of delegates elected at large. The court also vetoed the suggestion that the delegates should be pledged in advance, contending that they should have the freedom of choice originally intended for the Electoral College.

What the fathers defined as a State constitutional convention has never been conclusively ascertained. And every one knows what has happened in the case of the Electoral College. Its members became rubber stamps the moment the party system developed, and as such they have named the country's Presidents for considerably more than a century.

Poking Up the Laggards.

Houston Post.

The threat of Public Works Administrator Ickes to invoke the forfeiture clause in public works contracts, where due speed is not being made in getting the construction contracts under way, is entirely in order. It is high time some one was putting "high life" on procrastinating authorities responsible for the delay in getting public works projects started.

As Mr. Ickes said a day or so ago, making available funds for public construction does not meet its full purpose until the money has been put into the pockets of people reemployed. To hasten that $1,200,000,000 of Federal funds already allocated for public works into the pockets of hundreds of thousands of unemployed is one of the urgent needs of the hour.

A Yankee Jump.

New York Sun.

"New England Pay Rolls Jump."—Headline. As a former laborer in those vineyards we can avow that what would be a pay roll jump in New England would be merely a muscular twitch almost anywhere else.

Upholding the New Deal.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The District of Columbia Supreme Court, which two weeks ago upheld the Roosevelt recovery program in its first important court test, has handed down a second opinion declaring a highly controversial part of the recovery machinery to be in accordance with the guarantees of the Constitution.

In the first instance, Justice Cox denied an injunction sought by certain Texas oil retailers to stop Secretary of the Interior Ickes from enfrocing a Presidential order forbidding interstate shipment of oil produced in excess of State-fixed quotas. Justice O'Donoghue dismissed a suit for an injunction which would have restrained Secretary of Agriculture Wallace from carrying out the provisions of the Chicago milk-marketing agreement. Justice O'Donoghue, like his colleague, took the view that in a grave emergency it is the duty of the judicial power to permit the legislative authority to cope with its problems as best it can.

Just Folks.

By Edgar A. Guest.

The Serpent.

Slithered a snake across the grass,
And strangely as I watched it pass
Weird music seemed to fill the air.
An ancient priest intoned a prayer
Within a temple, where a crowd
In curious adoration bowed.

Great serpent heads were carved in stone
With fangs extended, jaws wide thrown.
As true as human art could make
Was graven many a granite snake.
And thousands in that holy hour
Paid homage to the serpent's power.

Then ninety steps above a maid
Appeared in robes of white arrayed,
And to the tom-tom's solemn beat
She walked Death's agony to meet.
A human sacrifice to please
The rain god and his rage appease.

Slithered a snake across my path.
I thought of gods that ruled in wrath
And temples long since overthrown
Adorned with serpent heads of stone,
And the blood-lust which made religions grow

Along the Potomac

With

Carlisle Bargeron

IT IS difficult to square the administration's concern about child labor with what it has apparently just done to the youngsters who attended the convention of the Young Democrats at Kansas City. These children, ranging in age from 25 to 50 years, returning to the city over the week-end, show vividly the effects of a spy scare that the elders threw into their midst while they were trying to work out a program to help the country. That's all they were doing, that and nothing else. All sitting around a room, I am told, when into the group was thrown this thing that frightened them to death.

Bargeron.

It was en experience they will, of course, never forget. And to look at their drawn faces and their frightened eyes; to see them back away when one tries to pet them, just makes my blood boil at what the administration did.

* * * *

IT must be remembered that the children left home in a nervous frame of mind, what with the atmosphere of the country charged with rumors of spies and espionage and of the White House dog biting everybody that comes around—and on top of that it was their first trip away.

Then for the elders to frighten them the way they did would seem to constitute an outrage, if it constitutes anything.

The scare revolved around a 45-year-old youngster named John M. Holzworth. It seems he has been around more than the rest, that he has hunted grizzly bears in Alaska and run for Congress from New York State. Well, he got to agitating among the other youngsters that there was no reason in the world they should spend all of their time listening to long-drawn-out speeches by party bigwigs from Washington. At their own convention why shouldn't the youngsters themselves be permitted to do the talking, he argued.

* * * *

FRANKLY, it is my opinion that he was on good grounds, regardless of his motives—he insists they were pure and in the interest of better government. One of the many things about human nature I have never been able to understand is why otherwise intelligent people will sit for an hour or more to hear some Government official read a speech, which, more likely than not, was perfunctorily prepared for him by a subordinate and which, in any event, never sheds the slightest bit of light on men or affairs. Yet, people do this. In fact, they bring all sorts of pressure on the Government officials to get them to make the speech.

To deliberately leave one's hearth and travel all the way to Kansas City to hear one of these speeches, though, is really too much.

The yonngsters gathered there, having the receptive minds associated with youth, readily saw Youngster Holzworth's point. They voted to hold speeches by such notables as Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross and Sacrificer Dan Roper down to 10 minutes apiece.

* * * *

NOW feeling their oats over their victory, the young insurrectionists decided they would elect their own officials without regard to the slate prepared for them by the elders. Apparently the elders had become alarmed at the spread of their youth movement, at the course it was pursuing and the form it was taking on, and decided upon drastic action.

So they dug up the fact that Holzworth, when he had run for Congress in 1930, had done so as a Republican. They immediately shouted that a Republican spy was in the ranks, that that was what Holzworth was.

Now if the men who did this have ever read any of the Department of Labor's literature on child rearing they should know that children are most impressionable, that impressions which they get in childhood go with them all through life. A baby's nursery, you will recall, is always done in bright colors. Until this day I am frightened by a hearse, because when I was a child a colored driver of one wore a false face. Notwithstanding that in later years I have learned that he was just doing that for fun, that false faces are not the usual face-wear of a hearse driver, when all my reason tells me, indeed, that my fear is absurd, I can't forget that childhood picture.

I'll bet the parents will know better than to let their children go off to a Democratic convention again.

MOTORING AT 11,000 FEET.

Fall Rive Pass carries the magnificent new Government highway over the continental divide between Estes Park and Grand Lake. The road in question is perhaps the highest continuous highway in North America, extending for nearly 10 miles above timberline, which in that region is at an altitude of approximately 11,000 feet, according to the Kansas City Times. Trail Ridge, along which the road has been built, is so open as to leave the motorist virtually exposed to any blizzard that may sweep across the divide there, but the highway is so wide and the grade is so easy, that even in a storm he is not likely to feel any sense of danger. From a scenic point of view, this highway that crosses the watershed between the Atlantic and Pacific slopes is one of the wonders of the modern world, which, of course, is hard for Americans to believe, because it happens to be at home.

Fairfax Board Proposes New School System

Supervisors Asked to Vote County Unit Plan to Finance Education.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

The Fairfax County School Board yesterday unanimously voted to ask the supervisors to adopt the county unit school plan of taxation and indebtedness. Authority for the plan was granted the county board by the special State Assembly last week.

School districts would be abolished except for county board representation. All building indebtedness being paid by special taxes in the districts and future indebtedness for buildings would be paid by the county. All district funds would be abolished and transferred to a special county fund.

According to school board plans this authority and liberalized laws for borrowing from the State literary fund would enable several new projects to be undertaken. NRA funds could supply 30 per cent of the cost. Such loans of about $150,000 would be repaid over a long period and would reduce the special county school tax of 22 cents per $100 property valuation as indebtedness is reduced.

The board also asked the supervisors' permission to obtain a $25,000 temporary loan to finance the Groveton School Building in anticipation of the State literary loan.

Trustee John T. DeBell, of Centerville, and Joseph Murphy, of Floris, were appointed to obtain additional school grounds adjoining the Centerville School

Chairmn DeBell and Superintendent W. T. Woodson were authorized to plan bus transportation for high school pupils from Vienna and Fairfax to the Oakton High School.

Sousa's Daughter Marries Writer

Simple New York Rites Follow Romance.

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—Eileen Sousa, daughter of the late John Philip Sousa, composer and band director, was married today to Daniel D. Beauchamp, of Helena, Mont., a writer.

The ceremony was read in the municipal chapel by Deputy City Clerk Philip A. Hines.

The bride, who was born here, is 25 years old. Beauchamp is 20. The wedding followed a summer romance at the artists' colony on Cape Cod, where Miss Sousa was appearing with a stock company and Beauchamp was writing.

Constable Knight's Charges Continued

Charges against Constable Ralph Knight, Prince Georges County, were continued yesterday when an American Automobile Association representative failed to appear in Upper Marlboro.

Howard D. Andrews, New York, asserts the constable smashed into his car in an effort to stop him.

County commissioners also waited in vain for James E. Goodkey, who had asked for a hearing on a Berwyn dance hall, described as a described as a "vice den."

Booster Prizes Given By Alexandria Legion

Mrs. Hugh Barrett, George Washington Park, Alexandria, was awarded first prize, a $750 automobile, in the booster campaign of Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion. Second prize of $100 in merchandise, was given Miss Florine Brown, 424 Wolfe street, and third prize, $50 in merchandise, went to Mrs. William Fair. Other awards were 5 merchandise orders worth $10 and 20 worth $5.

Boy Escapes Kidnapers And Volley of Bullets

Wickliffe, Ky., Sept. 5 (AP).—Attempted kidnaping of Kendall Thomas, 11, grandson of F. N. Sheeney, wealthy farmer, was foiled today when the boy jerked away from three captors and fled. Shots fired at him missed.

He broke away, blindfolded and his hands tied, and ran up a shallow creek home. He was awaiting a school bus at the roadside.

Call Costs $5

Sheriff Told to Search Home Finds Owner Assertedly Intoxicated.

Bernard Brown called the police. It cost him a night in the Fairfax County Jail and a fine of $5.

Sheriff E. P. Kirby was commenting on how quiet Labor Day had been when the phone rang. A voice told them to go to the Brown home and search the place.

When the sheriff and deputies arrived they found Brown seated peacefully. They told him they came to search the place. But the house did not need searching, Brown declared, and protested vigorously. The sheriff arrested him for intoxication.

When the case was heard in the county justice court, Judge Paul E. Brown decided the call was worth $5 and costs.

Radio Waves and Ripples

MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT will speak over an N. B. C. network, via WMAL, tonight at 6:30 o'clock.

The First Lady will be introduced by Merlin H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Co., and then she will present to the radio audience John Martin, children's fiction author, who has been appointed juvenile director for N. B. C.

Mrs. Roosevelt's deep interest in the welfare of children prompts her to take part in the broadcast. She will speak on the training of children and how this phase of American home endeavor should take its place in the national recovery campaign.

Nose Knows

Cop's Not to Be Sneezed at When Spotting 500 Gallons of Rum.

Although fingerprinting has its place in crime prevention, a cop's nose is not to be sneezed at.

Or so thought Prince Georges County Policemen Ralph Brown and William E. Clifton yesterday as they unloaded 500 gallons of alleged alcohol from a truck at Hyattsville.

The policemen, on way to their daily fingerprinting class in Baltimore, sniffed a strange aroma as they passed the truck near Berwyn. John Blessing, 38, of 420 Eleventh street northeast, was charged with having whisky illegally.

NRA Purchase Drive Started By Arlington

Consumer Emphasized in Campaign; 80 Per Cent of Stores Enrolled.

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The drive to enlist merchants and consumers in Arlington County on NRA rolls started yesterday under direction of Co. George Yeatman.

Drive leaders will visit merchants uninformed about the codes in order to get the county 100 per cent behind the NRA program. More than 80 per cent of the business places in the county are displaying the Blue Eagle now.

The campaign will be centered on consumers, said Col. Yeatman. Harry A. Fellows is chairman of the county NRA committee. The following are majors: E. M. Shreve, in charge of territory between the Lee Highway and the Potomac River east of Glebe road; Thomas Crack, of Ballston, section north of Wilson boulevard to the Lee Highway and from Clarendon avenue to Glebe road; Dr. Stacy Nolan, Rosslyn, Randor Heights, Fort Myer, county courthouse, Aurora, Dominion Heights and Lyon Village; R. V. Hannah, west of Glebe road and south of Wilson boulevard to the county line; G. Frank Allwine, east of Glebe road and south of Wilson boulevard to the river and Alexandria city limits.

The majors will be assisted by committees from civic organizations.

Parley of Gas Dealers.

Northern Virginia Gasoline Dealers will meet at 9 p. m. today. President F. E. Dove, of Clarendon, also issued an invitation to all gasoline dealers of northern Virginia not members of the association to attend the meeting.

It is expected that the new law, allowing a dealer within 10 miles of Washington a rebate of 2 cents on every gallon, will be explained.

Hume School Body to Meet

The Hume School and Civic League will meet tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the home of Gen. Henry C. Fisher, in Arlington Ridge. Questions concerning opening of school, September 18, will be considered.

Apple Shipments To Britain Slump

(Associated Press.)

The American apple trade on the British market has suffered from the competition of Australian and Canadian fruit.

The Department of Commerce reported yesterday a marked decline in the ratio of British apple imports from the United States to total apple receipts, with Australia and Canada increasing their shares.

In 1931 the United States shipped half of the aggregate apple imports into the British market; in 1932 the proportion dropped to 40 per cent, and in the first half of this year the American share was only 21 per cent.

Menhaden Fish Scrap Is Smallest in Years

Heathsville, Va., Sept. 5 (Spl.). The menhaden fish scrap and oil plants operating at Reedville and other points in Northumberland and Lancaster Counties report the smallest catch of fish and the poorest season for several years. The price of the fish scrap and oil is higher this year than last.

The large number of these plants in Northumberland and Lancaster Counties operate many fishing steamers and employ hundreds of men, the monthly pay rolls running into thousands of dollars. The fishing season usually ends about November 15.

Alexandria Tax On Beer Voted By City Council

Licenses Must Be Posted in Retail Stores by Tomorrow Morning.

The Alexandria City Council, at an adjourned meeting last night, approved the beer tax ordinance, effective immediately. City licenses will be issued today by the revenue commissioner. The police will see that all stores selling beer display city and State licenses by tomorrow morning.

The council tentatively approved a list of city streets to be improved with $200,000 the city proposes to borrow from the Federal Government. This list will be considered further Friday evening. The city manager will then prepare his application for the loan. The loan conditions provide for minimum wages for skilled labor of $1.10 and unskilled labor of 45 cents an hour.

Revenue Commissioner Charles H. Callahan yesterday began issuing State beer licenses. The first permit was issued to Robert P. Whitestone for retail trade, and the first for distribution to the Old German Wholesale Corporation. These licenses must be approved by the corporation court judge by November 1.

Mrs. Roosevelt Witnesses Morgan-Coonley Wedding

Distinguished Assemblage Attends Ceremony at New York Avenue Presbyterian Church and Reception; High Officials Present.

MRS. ROOSEVELT, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Curtis B. Dall, and Mrs. Malvina Thompson Scheider, yesterday afternoon attended the wedding of Mrs. Sarah Jackson Coonley and Mr. W. Forbes Morgan, which took place at 4 o'clock in the Lincoln Chapel of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Albert Evans officiating. Mrs. Roosevelt and her party later attended the reception at Mrs. James F. Curtis' club on F street.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Robert Jackson, of Concord, N. H., secretary of the Democratic national committee, who is at the Mayflower. The engagement of Mrs. Coonley and Mr. Morgan was announced about a week ago.

Mrs. Coonley has spent much time here with her father during the last few months and already has a large acquaintance in official and residential circles. Her mother, the late Mrs. Jackson, was the first woman member of the Democratic national committee, representing New Hampshire for a number of years.

Mr. Morgan, whose home is in New York, is associated with the administration as assistant to Mr. Henry Morgenthau, jr., governor of the Federal Farm Credit Administration. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. Forbes Morgan. His first wife, the former Miss Edith Hall, who died in 1920, was an aunt of Mrs. Roosevelt.

The bride wore a very simple afternoon frock of bronzine green canton crepe made in the new drop yoke style, forming two short scarfs in front that were trimmed with sable. A tortoise-shell buckle on the belt was the only ornament. Her shoes and gloves were of brown doeskin, and she wore a plain tailored hat of the same shade of green as her gown. Her flowers were brown orchids. Mr. W. Forbes Morgan, jr., was best man for his father.

Among those attending the reception were the Secretary of State and Mrs. Cordell Hull, the Secretary of War and Mrs. George H. Dern, the Attorney General and Mrs. Homer S. Cummings, the Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Daniel C. Roper.

Many Other Officials Are Among Guests.

The Assistant Attorney General and Mrs. William Stanley, the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Mrs. L. W. Robert, jr.; the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Stephen B. Gibbons; the Assistant Secretary of Labor, Mr. Turner Battle; the Solicitor General, Judge J. Crawford Biggs; Mr. Henry Morgenthau, jr.; Gen. and Mrs. Hugh S Johnson, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and Mrs. Guy T. Helvering, Gov. Robert H. Gore of Porto Rico; Mr. J. F. T. O'Connor, Mr. W. A. Julian, Mr. and Mrs Frank C. Walker.

Miss Hope Jackson, sister of the bride; Mr. Andrew Jackson, of Littleton, N. H., uncle of the bride; Senator and Mrs. Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky; Senator and Mrs. Harry Flood Byrd, of Virginia; Senator and Mrs. William H. King, of Utah; Senator Millard E. Tydings, of Maryland; Mr. Kenneth R. Kingsbury, of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Prince, of Newport, R. I., and Mr. Charles Poletti, of Albany.

Among those from New York were Mr. Vincent Astor, Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr., Mr. Kermit Roosevelt, Judge Frederick Kernochan, Mr. James A. Moffett, Mr. Alvin Untermeyer, Mr. Eugene Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Chadbourne, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Dowling, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Combs, jr., Mr. William Rhinelander Stewart, jr., Mr. J. Cheever Codwin, Mr. Keith Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rogers Winthrop, Mr. Wayne Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Wiggin, Mr. Abram S. Hewitt, Mr. Floyd L. Kelleher, Mrs. Rosamond Pinchot Gaston, Mr. George Henry Payne, Mr. Colvin Brown, Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Mrs. George Mesta, Miss Erin O'Brien Moore, Count Mario di Zoppola, Prince and Princess Paul Chavchavadze, Mr. George Howard, Mr. Chester W. Cuthell, Mrs. Mary Eiben, Miss Gertrude Hackmeister, Mr. Murray Hulburt.

Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Trees, Mr. John W. Hubbard, Mr. Floyd L. Carlisle and Mr. Walter A. Jones, all of Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. George H. Earle 3d, of Haveford, Pa.; Mr. W. Earl Blackburn, of Summit, N. J.; Miss Dorothy Schierenberg, of Greenwich, Conn.; Mr. Archibald McNeil, of Bridgeport, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Bruce Kremer, of Montana; Mr. Timothy J. Cronin, of Manchester, N. H.; Mr. John Lane, of Chicago; Mr. Ralph W. Morrison, of San Antonio, Tex.; Mrs. Catherine Conner, of Bardstown, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. William Lebrot, of Annapolis, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Danforth, of Osterville, Mass.; Mr. Sam Rayburn, of Texas; Col. James R. Thomson, of New Orleans; Mr. Boris Said, of Greenwich, Conn.; Mrs. John Budelman, of Rockville Center, Long Island.

Mrs. James F. Curtis, former Gov. O. Max Gardner, of North Carolina; Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Mullen and Mr. Arthur F. Mullen, jr., Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Bunker, Mr. Robert K. Strauss, Mr. A. A. Berle, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Early, Col. Marvin H. McIntyre, Col. Roper, Mrs. Harry Baxter, Miss Betsy Dern, Mr. William Dern, Mr. James Dern, Mr. R. F. Roper, Mr. Gus Gennerich, Mr. Bernard Heffernan, Mrs. Elizabeth Vermillion and Mr. James L. Bernard.

The second Secretary of the Spanish Embassy, Senor Don Ramon Padilla, will leave today for New York, where he will remain until Sunday.

The Secretary of the Czechoslovakian Legation and Mme. Broz, with their children, have returned to the Capital from Bethany Beach, Del., where they spent the summer.

The Counselor of the French Embassy, Mr. Jules Henry, sailed yesterday on the Ile de France for Paris, where he will spend several months before returning to Washington.

The Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr will leave this week by motor for New England and will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Merrill, at their summer home at Prides Crossing.

Later they will go to York Harbor, Me., for several days, and before returning to the Capital they will spend some time at the Seigniory Club in Canada.

Mrs. Edward F. McGrady, wife of the Assistant Secretary of Labor, who is at Atlantic City, has as her guests at the Knickerbocker Hotel Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fleming.

Mrs. McGrady will go to Stoneham, Mass., to visit her daughter before returning to Washington.

Senator and Mrs. James A. Couzens have with them at their home in Pontiac, Mich., their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Jeffries Chewning, jr.

Representative and Mrs. Fred A. Britten, who have been motoring through New England for the last six weeks, returned to Washington yesterday. They spent Labor Day week-end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Mitchell Palmer at Stroudsburg, Pa.

Representative William B. Umstead, of Durham, N. C., is at the Raleigh Hotel.

The United States Ambassador to Belgium and Mrs. Dave Hennen Morris have as their guests at the Embassy in Brussels their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Mills, and Miss Louise Mills, who will return to this country in October. Mr. and Mrs. Mills will pass the autumn season at their home in Glen Cove, Long Island.

The United States Ambassador to Germany, Prof. William E. Dodd, who presented his credentials to President von Hindenburg last week, has taken possession of a new residence in Berlin, a handsomely appointed residence in the fashionable Tiergarten district. The house was built and occupied many years ago by a branch of the Warburg banking family.

The United States owns the embassy in Berlin, the famous Bleucher Palace on Unter den Linden, purchased on the Government's behalf by former Ambassador Frederic Sackett. But the property was damaged seriously by fire before it was ready for occupancy. Consequently, Ambassador Dodd was faced with house-hunting as his first task on arrival in Berlin.

Ambassador of Italy Returns to Capital.

The Ambassador of Italy, Signor Augusto Rosso, has returned to the Capital, following a brief visit in New York.

The Minister of Canada, Mr. William Duncan Herridge, has returned to Washington after spending the week-end at the Seigniory Club, in Canada, with Mrs. Herridge.

The Minister of Panama and Senora de Alfaro have arrived in Washington from Chicago. Senora de Alfaro had been visiting relatives on the West Coast and the Minister joined her in Chicago.

Mrs. Franklin P. Adams, one of America's greatest women geographers, has sailed aboard the S. S. Excalibur bound for Mediterranean ports. She is en route to Haifa, Palestine, and during her stay aboard expects to visit Transjordania, Syria, Turkey, Yugoslavia, Italy, Austria and Spain. Mr. Adams counselor of the Pan American Union, probably will join Mrs. Adams in Barcelona early in January and together they will visit a number of favorite points, with no definite plan as to how long they will remain away.

Mrs. Adams, who writes under the name of Harriet Chalmers Adams, is an explorer and is a founder member of the Society of Women Geographers, of which she was president for eight years. She now holds the office of honorary president.

Newtons Go To Christen U. S. Cruiser

Daughter of Former White House Aid Will Officiate Today.

Mr. Walter H. Newton, secretary to former President Hoover, with his daughter, Miss Grace Newton, will go to Philadelphia today, where this afternoon Miss Newton will christen the new cruiser, Minneapolis, at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

The selection of Miss Newton for the honor, by the former Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Charles Francis Adams, more than a year ago, was a most appropriate choice, for she was born in Minneapolis, as were both her parents. Mr. Newton represented the Minneapolis District in Congress for six terms before resigning to become secretary to Mr. Hoover. Miss Newton has also served for the past three years as one of the Gray Ladies of the Naval Hospital. Her brother, Ensign Walter H. Newton, jr., is at present on the West Coast aboard the U. S. S. Lexington. The Navy strain has run in the Newton family for several generations, in fact since a great-great-great-grandfather of Miss Newton served in the Continental Navy during the Revolutionary War aboard the Continental frigate Confederacy.

Mr. Habersham Colquitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. M. Colquitt, has returned from two months' vacation at Camp Chesapeake, near Gloucester, Va., where he won a medal for first place in senior water sports and seamanship and second place in senior track activities. He will leave next week to attend the Virginia Episcopal School at Lynchburg, Va.

Swedish Writer Honored At Dinner Friday.

Mme. Anna-Lenah Elgstrom, the Swedish authoress, who is in New York, will return to Washington early this week. She will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given by the National Women's Party in the gardens of the Alva Belmont House Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when many of the Capital's ardent feminists will be hostesses, among them Mrs. Paul M. Linebarger and Mrs. Harvey Wiley.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Newbold Walmsley, who have been spending the summer at their country home, Dream's Landing, on Weems Creek, near Annapolis, Md., have sailed for Europe. They will go to Prague, Czechoslovakia, to join their son, Mr. Newbold Walmsley, who is in the consular service there.

Miss Helen Rogers, of Charlotte, N. C., is staying for a few days with her aunt, Mrs. L. T. Cottingham. Miss Rogers is en route to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Brewer Montgomery, with the latter's children, returned to the Capital yesterday by motor from Virginia Beach, where they spent the last few days.

Miss Ruth B. Dill Wed in New York

New York, Sept. 5 (Spl.).—The marriage of Miss Ruth Rudd Dill, of Washington, to Dr. Verne Theodore Deville, of Indianapolis, took place this afternoon. The Rev. Father Bernard A. E. McLaughlin officiated in the Church of the Transfiguration.

Mrs. Deville is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Dill and was born in Indianapolis. Dr. Deville is a native of Boston.

Laura Field, Capital Deb, Is Married

Becomes Bride of William Denman Cheatham in Church Ceremony.

The wedding of Miss Laura Katherine Field, daughter of Mrs. James Gaven Field, and the late Capt. Field, U. S. N., to Mr. William Denman Cheatham, son of Maj. Gen. B. Frank Cheatham, U. S. A., retired, and Mrs. Cheatham, took place last evening at 6 o'clock in the All Souls' Memorial Church. Chaplain Sidney K. Evans, U. S. N., officiated in the presence of the members of the immediate families.

The engagement of Miss Field and Mr. Cheatham was announced last winter shortly after the former made her debut. The marriage yesterday was a double celebration as it was the birthday anniversary of the bride as well as her wedding day.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her cousin, Mr. James Field Whitescarver, and was given in marriage by her mother. She wore her mother's wedding gown, which was fashioned of rich ivory satin, handsomely embroidered in a design of roses and lilies of the valley. The tiny puffed sleeves were made of rose point lace. The tulle veil was caught on either side with clusters of orange blossoms, and she carried a colonial bouquet of bride's rosebuds and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a handsome pearl brooch which had been given to her by her godmother, the late Mrs. John McGowan, wife of Admiral McGowan.

Miss Kathleen L. Whaley, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Arthur Whaley, was maid of honor, and wore a gown of lemon-colored silk organdie, with a sash of spring-green taffeta. She carried a bouquet of talisman roses and delphinium.

Mr. B. Frank Cheatham, jr., was best man for his brother.

Following the ceremony a buffet supper was served at the home of the bride, on Cathedral avenue, for those who had attended the wedding. Later Mr. Cheatham and his bride left for a wedding trip, the latter wearing a frock of eel-gray satin and wool crepe with black accessories. They will make their home, on their return, with Mrs. Field, mother of the bride, at 2818 Cathedral avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Simms, who arrived in Washington recently from Woods Hole, Mass., has been spending a few days with Mrs. Simms' daughter, Miss Katrina McCormick, in Middleburg, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Simms plan to leave shortly for their home in Albuquerque, N. Mex., but will return to their Georgetown residence for a longer visit at Christmas time. Mrs. Simms formerly was Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick.

Dr. Thomas A. Claytor has returned to Washington from North Hadley, Canada, where he spent his vacation with his family. Mrs. Claytor and their daughter, Miss Louise Claytor, will return to the Capital about September 15. Mr. Richard Claytor, who passed several weeks with his family, has returned to Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Lindeloss, of San Francisco, are at the Dodge. They made the trip via the Panama Canal and plan to spend some time in the East.

Gen. and Mrs. Creed C. Hammond are at the Washington Hotel. Gen. Hammond formerly was chief of the Militia Bureau, War Department, and has been controller general of the Philippine Islands for four years. He resigned in June, and with Mrs. Hammond made a leisurely trip to Washington through the Far East and Europe.

The Postmaster General, Mr. James A. Farley, will return to the Capital this morning from New York, where he spent yesterday, following a brief stay in Atlantic City, where he made a speech before the National Association of Letter Carriers.

The Charge d'Affaires of Chile, Senor Don Benjamin Cohen, accompanied by Mr. Thomas Menchaca, of Chile, arrived last evening in the Capital from New York, where the former has spent the last week. Mr. Menchaca will be a guest at the embassy for several days.

Miss Swope Wed; Service At University

United to Mr. J. B. Zimowski at Georgetown; at Home After October 1.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Rust Swope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Swope, to Mr. Joseph Bernard Zimowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Zimowski, of Washington and Jeannette, Pa., took place yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Dahlgreen Chapel at Georgetown University. The Rev. Dr. W. Coleman Nevils, president of the university, officiated.

The bride, who was escorted by her father, wore a princess gown of fine white net, which flared from the knees, forming a short train. A jacket of net with puffed sleeves completed the costume. Her long tulle veil fell in voluminous folds from a cap of rare old Brussels lace. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley and gardenias.

Miss Margaret Elizabeth Swope attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing a gown of peach taffeta with godets of chartreuse net. It was finished with a large chartreuse bow at the back. Her picture hat was of chartreuse Milan straw, trimmed with a bow of peach mousseline de soie. She carried a bouquet of orchids.

Mr. Zigmund Zimowski, of Pittsburgh, was best man and the ushers were Mr. Godfrey Butler, Mr. Christopher Callan, Mr. Charles Pratt and Mr. Dan Doherty, of Pittsburgh.

An informal reception followed at the university, when the young couple was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Swope, the bride's mother, who wore a handsome gown of brown chiffon, with a large felt hat of the same shade, and a corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Mr. Zimowski and his bride left later for their wedding trip, the latter traveling in a chartreuse crepe ensemble, with black accessories, and a small black felt hat. They will be at home after October 1 at East Clifton Terrace.

Eleanor Selden Wed at Cismont

Member of Virginia Family Becomes Bride of New Yorker.

Charlottesville, Va., Sept. 5 (Spl.). Miss Eleanor Worthington Selden, daughter of Mrs. Susan Johns Worthington Selden and the late Mr. John Selden, of the University of Virginia, and Mr. Edward King O'Meara, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin P. O'Meara, of Brooklyn, N. Y., were married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Grace Episcopal Church, Cismont, the ceremony being performed by the rector, the Rev. Francis L. Robinson.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John Selden, and had her sister, Miss Frederica Selden, as her only attendant. Mr. Benjamin O'Meara was best man for his brother.

The ceremony was followed by a reception for members of the immediate families at the home of the bride's mother on the Frys Spring road, just south of the city.

The bride attended the University of West Virginia and Mr. O'Meara is a graduate of the University of Virginia, where they will make their home.

Have Never Met, Yet Plan to Wed

Fort Erie, Ont., (AP).—Elizabeth Calder, 61, of Far Hills, N. J., is en route to Vancouver to marry James M. Christie, a war veteran, whom she has never seen.

Since the years of the Great War when Christie, concealing his age, joined the Canadian troops, he and Miss Calder have known each other only through correspondence. Border officials at the international boundary waived red tape regulations to let her enter.

Christie is known throughout the West as an expert rifle shot. In the War he earned the Distinguished Conduct Medal and Military Cross.

Suzanne Smith Weds Quietly

Marriage Tuesday to Mr. Oscar Coolican Surprises Friends.

Mrs. Volney O. Chase announces the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Suzanne Chase Smith, to Mr. Oscar Coolican. The wedding took place yesterday at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Maj. and Mrs. John McDonald Thompson, at Camp Holabird, Baltimore, Md. The ceremony was performed by Chaplain Webb, of Fort Howard, Md.

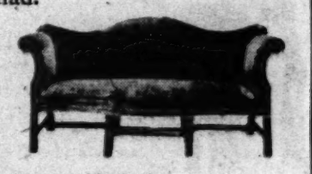

No announcement had been made of the engagement of Mrs. Smith and Mr. Coolican, so the marriage comes as a surprise to their many friends in Washington.

Col. and Mrs. John Kingman and their family leave today for Providence, R. I., where Col. Kingman will serve as district engineer.

Weekenders' "Beauty Kit" Discovered

By Ruth Anne Davis.

One of the surest ways to ruin a week-end is to pack carelessly and leave various and sundry little conveniences at home. A beauty expert evidently had this in mind when she planned the "week-end treatment sets." A small square box with a mirror in its top contains everything you're likely to need for care of the complexion.

There's a small jar of cleansing cream to smooth and soften the skin; a skin tonic to prevent large pores and give a healthy tone to the skin; an astringent to take the tired lines from your face; a box of powder and some cleansing tissue.

Such compact equipment as this you can easily tuck away in the smallest of week-end bags, and while braving the sun of the beach or the snows of the mountains, be assured that your visage won't be the worse for wear. The price? $1.

There it was: a small apartment with a folding bed. She had thought she was going to be so pleased with it. But every night held its terrors for her. She would dream that the springs were tightening and that the bed was slowly folding into the wall. Her friends laughed when she told them, and so did she, but, nevertheless, the dreams haunted her. Large, dark circles found their place under her eyes.

One day she chanced into a downtown furniture store and saw a studio couch, the kind that opens out into generous sleeping space. Here was the solution, she realized immediately but, alack, she feared the price. When she found it was only $19.95 she bought it and took it home immediately. Perhaps it's what you're looking for?

No one doubts that buttermilk is good to drink, but what about washing your face with it? Practically unanimous is the answer: "I wouldn't like to try it!"

But maybe you would when you see it all fixed up as a cake of soap. A downtown store has some at special prices which they claim to be absolutely the "nth" degree in skin soaps. You can buy it in green, white, blue, rose, violet and yellow, a dozen cakes for 68 cents!

Instead of a cocktail shaker, why not a cocktail mixer? It saves you a lot of effort, a lot of superfluous exercise. Indeed, as someone sagely remarked, it's almost equal to one's daily dozen to get a cocktail properly shaken up. With this little mixer you can do the same amount of good in less time and with less effort. It looks like a miniature egg-beater, the kind you put in the bowl, turn the handle and let the circular spokes do the work. You put this one into the glass, pull the handle up and down—and there you are. The drink is mixed in a jiffy. You can also use it as a cream beater. Price 20 cents.

Surely, one might think, if anything is staid and simple, it's a wash cloth. But, ah me! No. Not with the manufacturers tearing their hair to introduce innovations in every line of merchandise. And as for their new sponge wash cloths, they do deserve credit. They're made of the softest quality of rubber, in the manner of sponges. They can stand a lot of wear and do a lot of scrubbing. If you haven't tried one, you really should. Price 10 cents, in any color.

In the fall and winter, when it isn't so easy to step out in the garden and pick yourself a bunch of posies, it's very necessary to have attractive vases in your room. You must realize that very few of them can stand the test without some floral decoration. That's why those on display in a Connecticut avenue store are so likely to suit your fancy.

The hobnail glass of which they're made is suited ideally to colonial furnishings, and shows up to advantage with or without flowers. These imported vases are priced all the way from $1 to $1.75. They come in various shapes and sizes.

Among other things which milady finds convenient to carry in her burdened purse is the eyebrow pencil. If you're naturally endowed with raven locks, you have small reason to worry, but if your hair is light and your eyebrows too, you can not fail to realize that your eyes need your attention to appear at their very best. Be they brown, blue, green, or black, they must be surmounted by a dark eyebrow line. Carry the little pencil wherever you go—it is especially designed for your purse—and see that your eyebrows retain the same smooth dark line.

Tweeds for Stout Figure.

The woman whose hips are inclined to bulge, but who, nevertheless, loves the "atmosphere" of sports clothes, will find that she can wear a tweed skirt with purposely synchronized twin sweaters, without betraying her figure fault. Knitted clothes are to be smarter the coming winter than they have been for several seasons. This includes the knitted version of hats.

Gandhi Has Freed India's Women Native Asserts on Visit to Capital

Calls Victory Sure; With New Fields Opening; Thinks Dress Here "Queer."

Gandhi has awakened the women of India to a love of their country and a desire for independence, according to Mrs. Tara Master, visitor in Washington from Bombay.

"We still have far to go," she said. "Our victory will be gradual, but it will be sure.

"The Indian women are playing an important part in the progress of their country. They are not only taking advantage of educational opportunities themselves," she continued, "but are organizing to see that the poorer people, people who perhaps have never learned to read or write, send their children at least to the elementary schools."

Wears Native Garb.

Mrs. Masters was an enthusiastic speaker. She sat on a low divan with her bare, sandaled feet peeping out from under the folds of her voluminous native dress. Her black hair, parted in the middle and gathered into a low knot on the back of her head, was half-covered by a toga-like cape draping one shoulder and worn partially over her head. Its light lavendar color intensified her deep olive complexion and large black eyes that shone when she spoke of the new India which was coming to the fore.

"A great many of you Americans have the wrong idea of India," Mrs. Master declared. "Already the freedom of women in the cities is a full grown conclusion. In the country and in the villages they have not advanced so rapidly, but in recent years there has been a noticeable change.

Taking the Initiative.

"They have begun to realize that their salvation rests on their own shoulders and they must take initiative steps."

Mrs. Master was decidedly modern in her outlook. She hesitated not a moment when asked if she thought women capable of filling professional positions.

"Indeed, yes," she replied. "In my country you will find many women in the law schools, many in the medical schools.

"Yes, of course," she answered another query, "they dress just as I do. You see, it would be very difficult for us to adapt ourselves to your queer costumes. They're very attractive," she added hastily, "but we have our own fashions in India."

MRS. TARA MASTER

declares Americans have the wrong idea of India in supposing its women are not modern. She says they are playing an important part in the progress of their country, making possible education for children and underprivileged adults. She finds Western fashions interesting, but prefers Indian mode of dress.

The Family Marketer

Canteloupes Less Enticing, but Higher; Cauliflower, Lettuce Excellent.

CANTALOUPES are quite contrary. They're evidently loathe to leave the market, for they're certainly cutting up about it in conspicuous fashion. Instead of bidding us adieu at their very best, they're at their worst.

The mellow flavor with which nature has endowed them seems totally lacking in most instances. In behalf of the contrary cantaloupes, it's only fair to say the recent rains are responsible in part. But on the other hand, their prices! We're paying twice as much for poor melons now than we were for the very best a few weeks ago.

A great many people have wondered whether they could save money by buying lima beans in their shells instead of already prepared in the baskets. According to several vegetable dealers, you save nothing at all and bring a lot of unnecessary trouble on yourself. They sell for 20 cents a pint basket, or in their shells, 2 pounds for 25 cents.

Lettuce Good, But High.

The price of lettuce affects not only many people but many dishes. Nearly all salads and sandwiches are dependent in part on the freshness and crispness of its leaves for a major part of their inviting appearance and a small part of their taste. The new lettuce here from California is high, there's no getting around that. But on the other hand it seems to be of unusually good quality. It's selling for 15 cents a head.

The radishes on the market today sell as usual at 5 cents a bunch, but they, like a great many other members of the vegetable kingdom, seem to have been affected by the weather, too. Instead of looking red and glowing they give the impression of being a bit faded and somewhat lacking in peppery flavor.

The watercress and the mint offer a pleasing relaxation from the usual run of "necessity foods" on the market. We know very well we could do without either of them, but we know very well we wouldn't want to. The watercress, for instance, gives a spice and gaiety to a salad that nothing else will. If you'd like to try something really delicious sometimes, take raw carrots, cucumbers and radishes and cut them up together. Cover with watercress and serve with French dressing.

Mint Indespensable.

As for mint, you know how good it is with lamb. You know how good mint jellies are with any fish or fowl. You won't dispute its absolute affinity with ice tea. And isn't it nice that both of these plants, which are luxuries to some extent, sell for only 10 cents a bunch?

It's always a pleasure to find something even a little cheaper instead of the usual "something higher." Undoubtedly you will be pleased to know that the new Nancy Hall sweet potatoes are down a little bit, 5 cents a pound.

In line with the sweet potatoes is the home-grown okra, now 15 cents a quart. It would be a good idea to appease your family's okra taste, here and now, for by November it will be 40 cents a quart.

Cauliflower At Its Best.

The California cauliflower is looking bigger and better than ever. For 25 cents you can buy a large firm head of it, enough to feed your entire family. Why not try fixing it a la Parmesan? Here it is:

One head cauliflower, cooked; one cup white sauce; three tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese; ½ cup buttered bread crumbs.

Place cauliflower in greased casserole. Pour white sauce over cauliflower, and sprinkle with cheese and bread crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or until crumbs are delicately browned. Serves six. American cheese may be substituted for Parmesan cheese, if desired.

Corset of 1900 Back With Us

Stays 'n' Everything; Camisoles, Petticoats Darkly Hinted.

And now we have with us again the old-fashioned corset. The genuine 1900 type of corset, with proper undulations above and below the drawn-in waist line. Fortunately, the stays of the 1933 model are not quite so harshly unyielding as were those of the earlier day, but still they afford a decidedly more substantial garment than the crushable wisps we've been labeling "foundation garments" for the last several seasons.

It's all because the designers, evidently taking seriously the fad which Mae West started in fun, are creating gowns which call for a definite bust line. There is even a prediction of a drawstring bodice, with high-up dress fronts for both day and evening. Corset covers, camisoles and petticoats are darkly hinted. And hats with big plumes.

In Canning Fruits Be Clean, Careful

If simple precautions are taken, your winter canning will not spoil, nor will your family be exposed to the dangers of poisoning. Select only sound fresh foods, and can nonacid foods as soon after gathering as possible. Clean them thoroughly. If possible, use a pressure cooker as it provides sufficient heat to kill any bacteria. Be sure the containers are clean and perfect. Glass jars should have new lids and rubbers and after processing, lids should be tightened at once. If there is any question of spoilage, take no chances.

The Lead of a Trump.

One of the simplest of all defensive plays is the lead of a trump to prevent the Declarer from ruffing losing cards in the Dummy. This is a play which almost everybody knows and one which is usually recognized quickly. However, it is not always so easy to appreciate the importance of the time factor. Sometimes, if the play is to be at all successful, it must be made immediately and an instant's delay will completely lose the tempo of the hand. This is true in the hand given below.

West, Dealer.

The bidding:

| West | North | East | South |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1♡ | Pass | 2♣ | Pass |
| 2♡ | Pass | 3♡ | Pass |
| 4♡ | Pass | Pass | Pass |

East's bidding is perfectly legitimate, but West's bidding is decidedly fantastic—he managed to bid three times an a bare minimum. In spite of these overbids, however, he actually had a fairly good play for the hand.

North quite naturally opened the King of Clubs, which held the trick. This player now knew that there was but one more club outstanding and so a continuation could do no more harm than to force the Declarer. However, the singleton spade in the Dummy was staring him in the face and he saw immediately that this card was very important to the Declarer. He therefore shifted immediately to the Knave of Hearts. This was won with the King in the Dummy and a spade led immediately. South clattered up with the Ace and continued his partner's defensive policy by leading another trump. At this point West was completely helpless. He was able to ruff one spade in the Dummy, but was forced to concede two more tricks in this suit to the adversaries.

It is apparent that a second club lead gives Declarer the hand as it not only enables him to trump enough spades in the Dummy, but also permits him to establish the club suit itself by simply conceding one trick to the adversaries—his diamond suit provides enough entries for this purpose.

The hand is not presented as an example of a brilliant play, but simply of the importance of appreciating a fairly common situation.

Modernists Of Music Call Fall Session

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—The second of those festivals at which the left wing of the musical moderns comes together for mutual admiration and criticism, is to be held September 30 and October 1 at Yaddo in Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Yaddo is a colony for artists, a sort of refuge of the same general type as the MacDowell Colony at Paterboro, N. H., where for little or nothing in the way of expense creative genius is given a chance to flower, and sometimes to be heard.

The festival is lent an air of exclusiveness by two things, the first being the reputation it has among composers for uncompromising modernity. Writers of music whose predilections are toward the older habits are so few as to be almost invisible among the men whose work is heard at a Yaddo festival.

Invitations Required.

The second reason is that the programs are heard in Memorial Hall, which is quite large enough for the purpose, but does not have room for an audience of thousands. Hence those who wish to attend are asked to apply for invitations, of which "several hundred" will be issued by Mrs. Elizabeth Ames, of Saratoga Springs, executive director of the colony.

Because of the left wing atmosphere, an entry list of 85 compositions is considered quite good. From these, three programs were chosen, presenting the work of seventeen men, all Americans, and all, with the possible exception of Charles Martin Loeffler, known for their modernistic product. Mr. Loeffler is by no means antediluvian in his tastes, but he is not in the category of George Antheil and Henry Cowell, both of whom will be heard from this fall.

Cowell a Sensation.

Mr. Cowell is the man who writes tone clusters for the piano, which are played with the entire forearm, the elbow, and occasionally even the nose. And it was Mr. Antheil who blew the hats off an audience with one of his musical contraptions which used airplane propellers.

Three men will be heard for the first time anywhere at the coming Yaddo festival. They are Herman Chaloff, of Brooklyn; Ross Lee Finney, jr., of Northampton, Mass., and Dante Fiorillo, of New York. Mr. Chaloff's contribution is a suite for flute, oboe and bassoon; Mr. Finney's a piano sonata, and the Fiorillo opus is a pair of songs for soprano and string quartet.

Three other composers whose music has had hearings abroad but not many hearings on this side are represented on the programs, each with works for one instrument alone. Isadore Freed, of Philadelphia, has produced a piano sonata; Otto Luening, of Tucson, Ariz., a sonata for cello alone, and W. Quincy Porter, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., a suite for viola alone.

Notables There.

Some of the well-known modernists whose music will be performed, besides Antheil and Cowell, are Israel Citkowitz, of the Bronx, N. Y.; Richard Donovan, of New Haven, Conn.; Roy Harris, of Los Angeles; Walter Piston, of Boston; Roger Session Hadley, of Massachusetts, and Virgil Thomson, of Kansas City, Mo. Two others, whose work has had slightly greater currency, are Leo Ornstein, of Philadelphia, and Carl Ruggles, of Arlington, Vt.

This time Mr. Cowell will offer a composition entitled "Six Casual Developments for Clarinet and Piano." It is Mr. Thomson's opera, "Four Saints, in Three Acts" which is scheduled for performance this winter at the new model theater of the Wadsworth Anthenaeum, Hartford, Conn. The opera is composed to a book by Gertrude Stein.

Try 'In-Between' Food for Change

Tomato Souffle or Cheese Dish Are Change From Salad.

Tomato Souffle.

Take one cup sieved canned tomatoes, one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon grated onion, three quarter cup finely rolled flake soda crackers, three eggs, two tablespoons grated American cheese.

To sieved tomatoes add salt, sugar, onion, crackers and beaten egg yolks. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, sprinkle with cheese and pour into a buttered baking dish. Bake in a slow oven 325 degrees F, for 45 minutes. Makes six portions.

Cottage Cheese and Nut Roast.

Take one teaspoon minced onion, two tablespoons butter, one cup cottage cheese, one cup chopped walnut meats, one cup finely rolled lunch-style crackers, two tablespoons lemon juice, one-quarter cup milk.

Gently cook onion in butter until tender. Stir in other ingredients. Put into a greased shallow baking dish in a hot oven 425 degrees F., for 25 to 30 minutes. Makes six portions.

Good Luck Purse Gift to President

San Francisco—Ten thousand stitches went into a purse made here as a gift for President Roosevelt by Mrs. J. D. Reeng. Each stitch represented a "hope for success."

Tailored Fall Handbags Practical and Ornamental

Directed by Amos Parrish

Information as to where purses of the type illustrated and their variations are available in Washington will be given by the Fashion Department, Washington Post, on request.

Tailored bags, like tailored dresses, are no longer as plain as they once were. They help to ornament your simple tailored costumes . . . without giving up one speck of the usefulness they've learned in other years.

They have to be practical, for women have learned not to be carried away by an attractive exterior that proves to be just one more test for a good temper when opened. The new bags welcome opening.

Made Roomy.

Many of them are made with split bottoms, for one thing . . . such as you see on the second bag sketched. That gives you room to tuck a few things in . . . compact, handkerchief, cigarette case and so on . . . without its immediately looking like a horse that's fed on too many apples.

Fastenings are firm, but easy to work, so that you aren't bounced from one end of the street car to the other while you're getting out your nickel. And inside zippers make a safe place for valuables in many purses.

Probably the very most convenient one of all is the third bag sketched. Especially for commuting or traveling. The top handle is adjustable . . . decorative, and fashionably suggesting the reticules of the nineties.

Use Geometry.

But maybe you're sold on envelopes. Plenty of those this fall. The second one in the column has gone in for geometry like so many fall fashions. Those triangular flaps would go very well with a dress that uses triangular sections. And the initials leave no doubt as to its being yours individually.

The bag at the top wears a carved metal frame . . . another 1890 revival which would suit those modified leg o'mutton sleeves. And if you like a bag that's not so squarish you'll find plenty in different shapes and often with curved frames.

Some Softer.

And then for a pleasant contrast to tailored clothes, some women will carry a soft bag such as the bottom illustration. Three metal balls (not intended as unpleasant reminders of depression days) trim this bag and fasten it also.

Black and brown are still the best colors for tailored bags . . . and calf, suede and alligator will be the favorite materials. You'll see some fabric bags, however . . . sometimes playing matching games with scarfs and gloves.

Leaflet on Gloves.

As a rule, though, gloves can play this match-up game better than handbags . . . as is proved in a leaflet which many women are using to get ideas for match-up tricks. If you'd like it, send the coupon and requested inclosures.

Mothers, Daughters Should Aid Each Other on Make-up

Mothers and daughters should study together the mutually engrossing problem of proper make-up—mothers so as to guide their daughters in growing beautifully, and daughters in order to keep their mothers well groomed, interested and young looking.

It is hard to say who needs guidance more, mother or daughter. The youngsters are rash, inclined to go to extremes in make-up. Mothers are too conservative. Because they grew up in an era of white powder they are inclined to feel that white powder alone is discreet and proper.

Too many gray-haired women insist upon wearing the white or pale flesh-toned powders considered "the thing" in their girlhood days. On a skin that has faded to a parchment or tan shade, light powders are startlingly and unflatteringly conspicuous. The combination of aging skin tone and too light powder is apt to result in a lavender tint which adds years to the wearer's apparent age.

Women who have gray hair should wear a decidedly dark shade of powder. As one ages, the skin darkens. Peach bloom becomes tan, or yellow, or even muddy complexions. A dark rachel powder with sunset pink added will give a glow of youthful warmth to the sallow skin.

If, on the other hand, age has served to give a ruddy or purplish tone to the skin, a tan, beige or brunette powder will modify it to a becoming bloom.

Rouge and lipstick of delicate rose shades are best for gray-haired women, with few exceptions. The lighter and brighter shades of rouge give to the aging skin a freshness and glow, when toned down with the darker powders previously suggested, that could never be achieved by the use of dark rouge and light powder.

And if mother is taking up seriously the question of adding years to her youth, she will do well to consider judiciously the matter of having her hair shorn. Straggling wisps of hair escaping all around the edges of her coiffure often make a woman look old, despite strict attention to cosmetics and style. Taking the hair away from the neck seems to lift the face and make a drooping chin less noticeable.

How Ox-Tail Soup Came Into Being

Ox-tail soup, which enjoys great popularity as "something a little different" in the fluid food category, had an interesting origin, according to C. Herman Senn, author of many books about foods.

During the Reign of Terror in Paris, in 1793, many of the nobility were reduced to starvation and beggary. The abattoirs sent animal hides fresh to the tanneries without removing the tails, and in cleaning the hides for tanning, the tails were tossed aside.

A beggared noble asked for and received a tail, which he took to his lodgings and speedily converted into the first dish of the now-famous ox-tail soup. He told others of his ingenuity, and the tanners were subsequently so much annoyed with requests for ox tails that they put a price on them.

Stately Gowns Grace Maids And Matrons

(Associated Press.)

September has set Maid and Matron of this Capital City to planning their annual return, in new and dazzling evening gowns, to ballroom and banquet hall.

August has been quiet here. Shopping was slowed up by street repairs. But with the blue eagle bringing femininity back to the style marts, signs point to a busy September—with all eyes upon the mannequins who model the "formals" for fall.

And formal they are, more stately in line than last season, clinging as to bodice and hip; flaring as to skirts that often end in trains, not extreme but effective. Very low indeed are their backs—or else very high. Velvet leads in materials, either black transparent with a sheen, or one of the new, unusual, floral shades in dull finish.

The diplomats, the Army and Navy officers with their gold braid, will have no corner on the epaulets at White House functions this winter. The women will be wearing them, too—in fur on evening gowns, in velvet on evening wraps.

And what with sleeves leg-o-mutton, modified, on many an evening coat, the way will have to be wide where guests stand shoulder to shoulder.

In one of the new dark shades that border on eggplant was a tricky, tailored evening ensemble with wrap and dress all-of-a-piece. The material was one of those rough, basket-woven all-silks that artfully simulate woolen. The formal frock, figure-fitting, with a V train, was high in front, finished at the neck in knotted effect and extremely low in back. By broad lapels of monkey fur the short, lined jacket was made ultra smart.

Tailored, too, was a black transparent velvet, with fluted vest of white taffeta, and an apple-green ribbon band running from the back bodice around the shoulders to finish in a St. Patrick's bow in front. There were trimmings, too, of rhinestone buttons.

But the lady who loves her frills can have them. Lovely, indeed, was a concoction of black taffeta and black hand-drawn alencon lace, with five alternating silk and lace ruffles for its sleeves, four for its skirt flounce. The final skirt frill was taffeta, the better to swish. The final arm frill was lace, made to stand out in the broad-shoulder effect by an inner lining of horsehair braid.

Job for Co-Ed Hard to Find

Vocational Counsellor Finds College Training Impractical.

The job-hunting coed graduate has a tough time of it nowadays, in the opinion of Esther Eberstadt Brooke, vocational counselor and employment agent of New York City.

"Our female institutions of higher learning are still taking girls for a four-year ride and letting them walk somewhere alone," she says.

The average college girl hasn't got what it takes to get a job today, Mrs. Brooke points out. They come to employment agencies actually wanting to know whether "a stenographic course will keep them from stepping into nice executive positions?" says Mrs. Brooke.

They are full of culture and rosy dreams, but are floored by the simple question:

Chrysanthemum Used for Salad

Chrysanthemum is one of the latest plants to be added to the dietary list. Its taste is somewhat similar to that of cauliflower, only much more delicae, writes a gastronomic authority. If shredded finely and mixed with a salad cream, it makes a most delicious salad.

In Japan, the chrysanthemum is a common article of diet, abundantly displayed in grocers' shops during November and December. The Japanese eat them as a salad, almost every variety being used. Those of a deep yellow are considered choicest, however. As for most foods, the taste for chrysanthemum salad no doubt has to be acquired.

Walt Mason, Himself

The Saddest Man.

WHO is the saddest man on earth, remote from happiness and mirth, with dreams behind him lying dead, and not a sign of hope ahead? Perhaps it is Ex-Kaiser Bill, who sits upon a windswept hill, and thinks about his former state, when Germany was strong and great, and he was seated on his throne, the great Panjandrum, all alone. Then people trembled at his frown, like Alice, as she's written down, or wept in rapture when he smiled, as did that famous Alice child. Then anything he said was hurled as pregnant, all around the world, and if he deigned to comb his hair the news was broadcast everywhere. And if he suffered from a corn his troubled people were forlorn. And now he sits upon a mound with darkness closing all around; all day he's been at humble jobs, at shelling field corn from the cobs; he has pursued, on weary legs, the straying hens for mislaid eggs; he's whacked up divers wet elm trees, and fed the pigs, and herded bees; he's dug a posthole in the sod, and there was no one to applaud, no adulation soothed his ears, and none cried, "Hoch!" or gave three cheers. The world once hated Kaiser Bill, but as he broods on yonder hill, and thinks upon his vanished state, compassion takes place of hate.

New Yorker Today

By Mark Barron.

New York—At least there is one girl panhandler in Manhattan, and she gives a performance that would be worthy of our most emotional of screen stars.

Modishly dressed, fairly attractive, she is likely to be encountered in the Madison avenue shopping district. Selecting a prosperous appearing man, preferably elderly, she approaches him smiling and with hand outstretched.

A Play to Gallantry.

"Oh, hello, I'm so glad to see you again," she begins. "You don't remember me, do you? It's been so long since we met. I'm Sue So-and-So. I knew you'd recall me. You see, I'm in a most embarrassing predicament. I came downtown to shop, and lost my bag. Could you possibly lend me a dollar for taxi fare, and I'll have my husband send it to you tomorrow. It's awfully embarrassing, and I'm so grateful . . ."

Sometimes, of course, the ruse fails to work, in which case she just apologizes that she thought he was someone else. But, you'd be surprised how many times she is successful, which explains why she is always stylishly dressed.

Gushing out her appeal in a torrent of words, she never gives her bewildered victim a chance to protest that he doesn't know her. In the end, he usually decides it is best to give her a dollar, rather than take a chance of snubbing some friend's wife he doen't recall meeting.

There is one panhandler who has a woman and a baby as stooges. With the woman, carrying the baby in her arms, clutching his sleeve, he approaches and begs a quarter for ferry fare to "their home in Jersey City."

There are several girls in the sandwich-board profession on New York streets. Two of them are on Broadway, one advertising a beauty parlor, and the other a restaurant. Both get $22 a week, but the restaurant girl also gets her meals free.

Stilted But Novel.

A Miss Billie Kalister, who came here from Johnstown, Pa., a few months ago, is a stilt-walker, sandwich-board girl. She works mostly in the Wall street district. She doesn't mind the wise cracks of passers-by, because from her high-viewpoint, looking down, human beings look pretty funny to her, too.

Walking on stilts is no easy job. It's awfully tiring, unless you sneak a rest now and then by sitting on top of a parked sedan. Most stilt walkers will work only four hours a day, which makes them something of super-super NRA patriots.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Peritonitis.

Not much is heard now, as compared with former years, of peritonitis, principally because the term is not used as loosely as it once was. In that day, much of the appendicitis, dicerticulitis, and other infections starting near the peritoneum and spreading to it in some degree were entered in the records as peritonitis.

The peritoneum is the very delicate, fine membrane which covers the organs located in the abdomen. It also dips down into the pelvis and partly covers the organs there. It corresponds to the pleura, a similar membrane covering the lungs, the pericardium covering the heart and the meninges covering the brain and cord.

The only disease of the peritoneum of which there is any talk is inflammation due to infection. This is what goes by the name peritonitis. The microbes causing peritonitis get to the membrane from other structures. Among the infections that are liable to spread to the peritoneum from nearby organs are those causing appendicitis, suppuration of the gall bladder, strangulated hernia, pus tubes, childbed fever, and abscesses of the liver, kidney and pancreas. The list is a long one.

There is at least one condition in which an infection entering at a remote part of the body has some tendency to locate in the peritoneum. That is epidemic sore throat.

The symptoms of peritonitis are pain, tenderness, fever, and rapid pulse. The pain is greatest in earlier stages. When the inflamed membrane is rubbing after fluid begins to exude the pain is apt to be less.

In addition, there are symptoms caused by the disease out of which the peritonitis grew, such as appendicitis or pus tubes. Treatment is principally surgical. The chief object of the surgery is to overcome the primary disease, the appendicitis, the pus tubes, the abscess, the perforation—the basic trouble, whatever it may be.

We hear much about adhesions. Among the persisting after-effects of peritonitis are adhesion bands. As a rule, these follow localized rather than a generalized inflammation of the peritoneum.

Credit Group Told to Watch Retail Volume

Association Manager Says Sales Will Be Key to Autumn Business.

The most important single item in gauging business progress during the next few months will be the volume of retail sales. So have members of the Washington Association of Credit Men been informed by Henry H. Heimann, executive manager of the national association.

Mr. Heimann states there will, of course, be many other factors to be watched closely. Production figures, car loadings, statistics reflecting banking operations, security prices and all of the manifold list of things which have a bearing upon the state of business are important.

But even the record of the men employed will not tell the real story of progress made unless sales of goods to the consumer are shown to be increasing rapidly enough to give evidence that they will support increased production and employment.

Increase in Sales.

For that reason, he finds it encouraging to note some increase in retail sales over the corresponding period of a year ago. For the month of July, stores in 200 cities reporting to the Federal Reserve System, showed an increase of 4 per cent over July, 1932.

While the sales were a little lower than for June, the decrease was less than the usual seasonal amount. Early reports, still incomplete, indicate that the showing for August will be similar.

It is necessary, Mr. Heimann concludes, that buying power increase. This presupposes increased employment and increased income for the consumer. It also presupposes ability to make advances to labor beyond the immediate expected return.

Key to Expansion.

This, he says, means credit expansion. Out of this must ultimately come increased profits if there is to be a stabilized prosperity. He believes that credit men shall, therefore, do well in the next few months to watch the trend of retail sales as the foremost indicator of the progress being made in the great recovery project.

The annual fall dinner meeting of the educational committee, faculty, officers, governors, committee chairmen and consuls of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, will be held in the oak room of the Raleigh Hotel next Tuesday evening beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

This is the first social function of the chapter's administrative year. Dr. Harold Stonier, New York City, national educational director of the institute, will be the principal speaker at this assembly. The foregoing notice was issued yesterday by Walton L. Sanderson, of the proposed Hamilton National Bank, who is chairman of the educational committee.

New Bank Executive.

Victor B. Deyber, who has been elected to membership on the executive committee, national bank division, American Bankers Association, is president of Second National Bank of this city, a past president of the District of Columbia Bankers Association, secretary of the Washington (D. C.) Clearing House Association and an active member of the Stockholders Association of the Fifth Federal Reserve District Bank of Richmond, Va.

Some simple tests to distinguish the precious metals from base ones are suggested by the Commodity Exchange, Inc. The tests are cited in the exchange's recently published silver market dictionary, written by Herbert M. Bratter, of Washington, D. C.

To distinguish a silver or gold coin or other object from base metal which may resemble it, apply acid as near the edge as possible. If the object be plated, first scrape off a bit of the plating. A drop of the below-mentioned acid will not affect the genuine metals, but will react plainly on counterfeits. Any druggist can prepare the following solution, which will test silver: Nitrate of silver, 24 grains; nitric acid, 30 drops; water, 1 ounce.

A similar test of gold can be made with a solution consisting of strong nitric acid, 6½ drachms; muriatic acid, ¼ drashm or 15 drops; water, 5 drachms.

It should be noted that the two tests do not act in the same way. The test for use on silver is designed to disclose base metals by the appearance of a stain on the silver, whereas the test to distinguish gold from base metals does not produce a stain on the base metal, but attacks it with the evolution of gas bubbles and usually with the appearance of a green solution.

Bond Market Drifts Lower On Quiet Sales

Secondary Loans Weaken; Turnover Mounts to $8,471,000.

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—While the trading volume picked up a little in the bond market today, there was little enthusiasm for the advance and prices generally drifted to lower levels.

Sales totaled $8,471,000, par value, against $7,006,000 last Friday, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans was off three-tenths of a point.

The continuing sag in steel production was seen as an indication of seasonal tendencies as well as a renewal of cautious buying on the part of manufacturers who are waiting further developments in the national recovery program.

Secondary bonds were inclined to emulate stocks. Prime investment issues, however, held to a narrow movement. A number of higher grade maturities advanced fractionally, but the demand here was small.

Rail liens off 1 to 2 or more points included some of Alleghany Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake Corporation, St. Paul, Hudson & Manhattan, Illinois Central, New York Central, Nickel Plate, Seaboard Airline, Southern Pacific and Western Pacific.

Industrials are Dull.

Aside from an advance of a point in American Metal 5½s, the industrials did little. Armour & Co. 5½s lost 3⅜ points, International Paper 6s were off 1¾ and National Dairy 5¼s yielded 1.

Declines of 1 to around 3 points were recorded by such utilities as American & Foreign Power, Columbia Gas, Postal Telegraph and International Telephone.

United States Government securities were fairly steady and foreign obligations irregular. Bonds of Dutch East Indies, France, Norway and Royal Dutch advanced 1 to 3 or more points, while losses of as much were suffered by some loans of Argentina, Cuba and Germnay.

Foreign Markets.

London, Sept. 5 (A.P.).—There was little activity on the stock exchange today. Gilt-edged securities hardened on the somewhat better demand while gold shares were easier at the opening owing to the weaker trend of the French franc, which is the basis for the determination of the price of bar gold. However, these shares recovered subsequently. Oil stocks were less active, while international issues eased and German bonds were weak. The market closed quiet.

Paris—Business on the bourse was quiet and indecisive with speculators inactive awaiting Wall street's lead. The closing was irregular.

Berlin—Prices continued weak on the boerse, losses amounting from 3 to 5 per centum which was admittedly due to selling by German emigrants. There was a slight occasional improvement which did not affect the closing.

Metal Market.

New York, Sept. 5 (A.P.).—COPPER—Quiet; electrolytic, spot and future, 9 asked.

TIN—Firm; spot and nearby, 45.87; future, 46.25.

IRON—Quiet; No. 2, f. o. b. eastern Pennsylvania, 17.50; Buffalo, 17.50; Alabama, 14.00.

LEAD—Steady; spot New York, 4.50; East St. Louis, 4.35.

ZINC—Steady; East St. Louis, spot and future, 4.67@4.70.

ANTIMONY—Spot, 6.87.

QUICKSILVER—63.00@65.00.

U. S. Treasury Receipts.

(Associated Press.)

The position of the Treasury September 1 was: Receipts, $10,530,310.02; expenditures, $8,239,620.99; balance, $1,201,805,161.88; customs receipts for the month to date, $1,255,063.64.

Receipts for fiscal year (since July 1), $359,782,126.44; expenditures, $587,409,954.08 (including $214,975,921.16 emergency expenditures); excess of expenditures, $227,627,827.64.

Stocks Driven Lower As Commodities Drop

Trading Remains Quiet as Leaders React From 1 to 4 Points Under Selling; Session's Turnover Totals 1,253,040 Shares.

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—Declining commodity markets provided an unfavorable background for stocks today and prices dragged lower in quiet trading.

Stocks droned through the first few hours with slight changes, mostly recessions. Toward the close, however, offerings increased and quotations gave ground readily, just as they had advanced in the final minutes last Friday. Net losses of 1 to 4 points or more were plentiful. Volume totaled 1,253,040 shares.

Gold mining issues were fairly firm at times. Chemicals bogged down, Allied losing 7 net and du Pont and Union Carbide nearly 3. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem each lost a couple of points. Farm implements sympathized with grain markets, while rails and wet shares skidded. New York Central, National Distillers, Santa Fe, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Case and Union Pacific flopped approximately 4 points. American Telephone, American Can, General Electric, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas, Western Union, Harvester and Southern Pacific dipped 1 to 3 net.

News over the holiday appeared to have provided few, if any, fresh clues as to the probable fall business trends. Early September is normally a time for cheerfulness, since trade begins to anticipate the larger requirements of the autumn season, and considerable optimism has been expressed over prospects for this year. A unique factor, of course, enters the situation in the figure of the Blue Eagle with its rising production costs and uncertainty as to how much consumer buying can be expanded. Considerable progress is being made in the reduction of unemployment, and apparently there is to be no relaxation of current efforts to better, before winter arrives, the record already achieved.

Meanwhile, the seasonal summer downswing by heavy industries has not yet been arrested. Steel output is lower, having attained, says American Metal Market, a level approximating its rate at the end of May "when the steel market was regarded as decidedly brisk." This review expects affairs in the industry to be dull until sellers and buyers have assimilated all the details of code operation. Freight traffic, comfortably above 1932, is nevertheless yielding some of its volume.

Money markets were flabby and some dealers quoted still lower rates on time funds. The Government's aims in its renewed credit expansion drive were plainly expressed by Gov. Black, of the Federal Reserve Board, who said at Chicago, that current open market operations of the system were designed to "force money to seek investment, to find employment, to go to work in behalf of industry, commerce and agriculture."

Canada Likely to Study Favored Trade Treaties

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 5 (U.P.).—A review of many trade treaties between Canada and foreign countries is anticipated here before long.

The most favored nation clause, when inserted in one treaty, often is extended automatically to other countries. In the negotiation of the French treaty recently care was exercised in seeing that the French commodities that were given preferential treatment could not be duplicated. The same condition does not apply to some other trade conventions and the effects of their operation are causing trouble. It is suggested that the whole "most-favored nation" arrangement be revised and specific agreements with specific countries covering the particular commodities that it is mutually profitable to exchange be substituted.

Banks Resent Charge Credit Curb Hits NRA

Publication Defends Handling of Loans by Local Institutions.

New York, Sept. 5 (Spl.).—Recent publicity to the accusation that banks are not extending credit helpfully to advance the flight of Blue Eagle has put local institutions "on the spot" unfairly, according to the American Banker, daily banking publication in its ninty-seventh year in New York.

This publication in a letter to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson points out that business recovery means as much to bankers as to anyone and that they are "doing their part" to the full extent possible under the law and the supervision of increasingly "hard boiled" bank examining authorities.

Besides, the American Banker adds, under a 1932 law to break the "credit jam" that spring, borrowers who are disappointed at local banks can get loans from the Federal Reserve Banks or branches directly if their complaint is justified.

Check on Banks.

As an alternative, the American Banker suggests that where conditions are such that local banks cannot risk their funds with some deserving NRA borrower, the local NRA committee arrange to endorse or collateralize his note. If the loan is really a good one, as complainants imply, there should be no objection to this method of cooperation to give the deserving borrower benefit of such available unused local credit backing.

The "credit jam" which must be broken, comments this banking publication, is not bank inaction, but the inability of borrowers to present credit statements which warrant bank loans. If funds were all that were lacking, there would be plenty of applications for cash capital from the R. F. C. on preferred stock issues by banks. But most banks have funds in volume for creditable borrowers. Much is being loaned at less than 1% in New York by banks which would rather lend it at home at legal rates of interest if there were borrowers who could be guaranteed to pay.

No Reports on Loans.

"Only the exceptions are complaining to NRA headquarters about lack of bank credit," remarks the American Banker. "The vast number of large and small loans which are being granted daily everywhere that improved conditions warrant by local institutions to carry inventories and operations through the initial stages of the recovery program are not reported to the NRA committees."

Among the various forms in which bank aid to recovery is being extended at present, the American Banker cites the program of the National Bank of Far Rockaway, Long Island, which has for some months had in effect a plan for small loans on indorsed paper to local businessmen whose position was handicapped by lack of other credit.

This plan has been adopted by a number of other Long Island banks and is typical of tactics being utilized in other parts of the country to give credit where credit is due.

Local Bank NRA Cooperation.

"The local banker's dependence on local business activity makes his cooperation in the extension of credits something which he is glad to give voluntarily, without compulsion by Washington authorities. However, the banker's desire to cooperate locally has been dampened by the increasingly hard-boiled attitude of bank examiners in regard to local loans since 1928 and particularly since 1930," says this banking daily.

"In fact many of the credits which are most desired in the recovery movement (loans to companies without visible operating profits) are of the sort which examiners have been most insistent about calling in the past two years. Thousands of bankers have found to their disadvantage that such local credits have been least understood by the examiners, even though experience in bank liquidations has been to the effect that small local borrowers are much more likely to pay in full than large bankrupt corporations.

The Glass act recently passed in the interest of more solvent banking, adds restrictions in local lending which make resumption of 1926 credit conditions impossible. The standards set up for admission to the prospective Federal deposit guaranty system have also made it inadvisable for banks to lend without unimpeachable collateral or other credit backing.

Goods Market.

New York, Sept. 5 (A.P.)—Cotton goods markets were steady and moderately active today. Rayons continued scarce. Wool prices tended higher following a wave of heavy buying. Burlap prices were steady.

Trade Trends.

(Associated Press.)

Iron ore—Shipments from upper Great Lakes ports in August came to 5,100,702 tons, the largest volume for any month since October, 1930. This compared with 721,587 tons in August, 1932.

Knit goods—Hoisery sales have shown improvement, but some mills have canceled orders as a result of strikes. Undewear lines are more active coincident with the start of the fall buying season.

Dried fruits—Pacific Coast shipments on old contracts are said to be progressing steadily. The New York market reports a good call for California prunes, apricots, pears and figs. Prices are firm.

Floor coverings—Most mills have increased carpet and rug prices 3 to 8 per cent, the average rise approximating 5 per cent. Shipments on the basis of the new list are being guaranteed until October 15.

Clothing—Chain store managers report brisk inquiry for suits and topcoats in anticipation of price advances. Fabrics markets have been active as clothing manufacturers place fill-in orders to meet the demand.

Wool Market.

Boston, Sept. 5 (A.P.).—United States Department of Agriculture).—The recent trading has stimulated further mark up in asking prices on greasy wools. Some houses are asking 34 cents in the grease for their best offerings of strictly combing 58s, 60s, ½ blood, Ohio and similar fleeces. In a few houses 38 cents in the grease is being asked for strictly combing 48s, 50s, ¼ blood, Ohio and similar wools, although prices freely obtainable are in the range 36@37 cents.

Curb's Prices Decline Under Lighter Buying

Selling Near Close Causes Losses; Sales Drop to 228,000 Shares.

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—The curb market today settled back into the dull trading range that the market occupied prior to the Labor Day holiday. Trading was fairly steady at the opening, but lack of buying response caused the list to work quietly lower, until the last half hour when selling activity increased, particularly in the utility division.

Oils lost a goodly part of their recent improvement while metals, alcohols and investment trust shares suffered downward revisions in prices.

Aluminum Co. of America preferred and Commonwealth Edison each lost 5 points in nominal trading, while Columbia Gas & Electric preferred was down 3½. Other losses of 1 to around 2 points were registered by Electric Bond & Share, American Gas & Electric, Atlas Corporation, Bristol-Myers, Distillers Corporation-Seagrams, Hiram Walker, Newmont, Parker Rust Proof and Swift International.

Transfers approximated 228,000 shares, compared with 246,000 last Friday.

Flour Markets.

New York, Sept. 5 (A.P.).—Flour steady; spring patents, 6.40@6.65; soft winter straights, 5.80@6.00; hard winter straights, 6.30@6.65. Rye flour quiet; fancy patents, 4.75@5.25.

Minneapolis, Sept. 5 (A.P.).—Flour unchanged. Carload lots family patents, 7.40@7.50, a barrel in 98-pound cotton sacks. Shipments, 62,354. Pure bran, 14.50@15.00.

Rubber Closes Easy.

Big Canadian Exports Fail to Buoy Market; All Grains Down.

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP).—Despite big export business in wheat from Canada, grain values ran rapidly down hill today, and at one time showed 2½ cents a bushel loss.

Heaping up of pressure from three days' accumulation of hedging sales by rural holders, both in Canada and this country, proved to be more than the wheat market could withstand. An additional weight on values came from 2,672,000 bushels increase of the United States wheat visible supply total.

Wheat closed unsettled at a moderate rally, 1⅜ to 2 cents under Friday's finish; corn, ⅝ to 1⅝ down; oats, ⅝ to ⅞ off, and provisions varying from 15 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents;

Canadian Export Sales.

Taking advantage of price setbacks, Canadian exporters disposed of 3,500,000 bushels of wheat abroad. Assisting this result was an unexpected sharp upturn in wheat quotations at Liverpool, simultaneous with Argentine reports of critical crop conditions because of drought and harmful frosts.

There were also advices of killing frosts in northern areas of Canada, with notable damage in the Peace River District.

It quickly became apparent, however, that new speculative buying power in the wheat market was deficient, and after a maximum advance of 1 cent, values began to tumble and rallies lacked vigor.

Traders Begin Selling.

Professional traders took to the selling side, largely on account of disappointment over the relative dearth of fresh purchase orders as compared with decided expansion of volume which in various quarters had been looked for in connection with autumn. Another unsettling influence was a sudden downturn of wheat prices at Buenos Aires, seemingly to compete with North America.

Corn and oats moved downward owing chiefly to wheat market action. Another incentive to sellers of feed grains was fairly heavy rains of late throughout the corn belt.

Provisions responded to upturns in the value of hogs, but then reacted as a consequence of grain weakness.

Wall Street Briefs.

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—Freight loadings of the Santa Fe Railway on its own lines last week totaled 18,536 cars, against 18,920 in the previous week, and 18,986 a year ago.

International Shoe Co. will call for redemption, in December, the remainder of its preferred stock at a price of $105 a share. More than half the issue was called on June 1 last, leaving less than 50,000 shares to be redeemed.

Business failures in the United States for the last week of August, says Dun & Bradstreet, "were down to the low point of the year," numbering 311, compared with 326 and 312, respectively, in the two preceding weeks, and 549 a year ago. The South, said the review, "continued to make relatively much the larger reduction over last year." The decline in the East and West was also marked, and fewer defaults occurred on the Pacific Coast than a year ago.

The Traffic Executives Association of Eastern Railroads will meet in Chicago on September 14.

Percival E. Jackson, counsel of the bondholders' protective committee of the Pressed Steel Car Co., said today that the committee would oppose the application, to be made September 12, of receivers for the company for permission to issue $1,000,000 of receivers' certificates. The committee's opinion is that assets of the company "can now be disposed of for sufficient moneys to pay the bondholders in full and that issuance of prior lien receivers' certificates will jeopardize the bondholders' security."

Commercial Credit Co. of Baltimore has acquired more than two-thirds of the capital stock of the Textile Banking Co., of New York, and is offering stockholders of the latter $50 a share in cash for their stock. Shares already acquired were obtained on the same terms.

Charles R. Dunn, fiscal agent, today announced the public offering of a new issue of $30,000,000 Federal intermediate credit banks 2½ per cent collateral trust debentures, dated September 15, next, and due in six, nine and twelve months. The debentures are eligible collateral for 15-day loans by member banks at the Federal Reserve Banks.

September financing for the Federal Intermediate Credit Banks will comprise a new $30,000,000 issue of collateral trust 2½ per cent debentures.

Transue & Williams Steel Forging Corporation had August gross nearly 300 per cent above that of August, 1932, says J. R. Gorman, president. Orders for farm machinery and oil equipment supplies made important contributions to the volume.

Sales of Jewel Tea Co., for the four weeks ended August 12 totaled $730,839 compared with $755,629 for the same 1932 period, a decrease of 3.2 per cent.

Selling Trims Cotton Prices $2 Per Bale

December Closes at 9:15 as General Market Drops 37 to 44 Points.

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—A decline of approximately $2 a bale in cotton today was attributed to an accumulation of Southern selling orders over the holidays and to liquidation. December contracts sold off to 9.12, or 42 points net lower, and closed at 9.15, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 37 to 44 points from last Friday.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 3 to 9 points under Southern hedging and scattered selling. Initial offerings were absorbed by covering and trade or commission house buying, promoted by the relatively steady showing of Liverpool and the Gulf storm, which threatened possible damage in south Texas.

Buying Is Light.

A little more demand developed around the 9¼-cent level for December, but it was supplied on bulges of 9 or 10 points, and the market reached the lowest levels of the day in the late trading.

Selling was probably stimulated by the action of the grain and stock markets, and after showing net losses of 42 to 44 points, prices closed within a few points of the lowest.

Hedging More Active.

The Southern hedging was said, by market observers, to be more active than any day previously this season, while there was talk of a possible increase in the next Government crop indication. This was encouraged by private end-August crop reports, two of which were issued during the morning, one placing the indicated yield at 12,924,000, the other at 12,960,000 bales. Stop orders were uncovered on the decline, which carried prices off to the lowest level they have touched in the market here since the reactions last month. Exports today 16,466, making 611,475 so far this season. Port receipts, 12,215. United States port stocks, 2,999,598.

Cottonseed Oil.

Bleachable cottonseed oil was easier today, influenced by weakness of cotton, as well as declines in the lard, grain and crude oil markets. The market closed easy at net declines of 4 to 10 points, with sales estimated at 49 contracts. Bleachable spot and September closed 4.75; October, 4.86; December, 5.05; January, 5.10; March, 5.20.

Chinese Ask Tariff Aid Against U. S. Oranges

Hongkong, China, Sept. 5 (AP).—The director of agriculture in Kwangtung Province today asked the government to impose a special import tax to protect native orange growers against increasing orange imports from the United States.

Chinese orchardists say a cheaper United States dollar made possible the importation last year from America of oranges worth $100,000 (in gold).

England's Coal Output Will Last Many Years

London, Sept. 5 (AP).—The department of scientific and industrial research reports that coal can be produced in the Northumberland-Durham field in present quantities until the year 2100.

Present production in the two counties is 50,000,000 tons a year.

English Banks Plan to Back World Trade

Financial Authorities Study Ways to Halt Lag of Industries.

London, Sept. 5 (AP).—Britain is hopeful of using its position as world banker to aid its lagging industry.

Various schemes of "rationalizing" British industry have made but moderate progress, and mass production is comparatively underdeveloped as compared to the United States.

Many financial authorities here acknowledge that England scarcely can hope to regain her vaunted prewar position as workshop of the world. Then she imported large quantities of raw materials and flooded the world with her manufactured goods.

Dominant Position Lost.

Industrial development throughout the world—even in the dominions which Britain had long regarded chiefly producers of raw materials—has made such progress that England definitely has lost her dominant position.

But leading banking quarters insist that British credit eventually will return to its previous position of being chief financier of world business.

It is no secret that British credits commonly carry with them the stipulation that a good part of the funds shall be used for the purchase of British goods.

Dominions Get Loans.

With bank deposits and gold reserves in the Bank of England at record levels, bankers here are extremely hopeful of the future.

Already, financing for the dominions has been resumed, and London sold its part of the international loan to Austria at terms strikingly more favorable than France was able to get for its portion in Paris.

Nevertheless, the rather disorganized state of British industry gives rise to much uncertainty as to how it may be able to compete in world markets with the technical efficiency of the United States and Germany, once international trade revives.

Labor Fears Mass System.

Most British industries are split up into many relatively small companies. The giant corporation is relatively less advanced than in America.

But some observers, and particularly some labor leaders, express doubt as to the advantages gained in the long run from over-rationalization of industry. Mass production, it is pointed out, may aggravate unemployment, and corporations may grow to sizes making efficient management difficult.

Esthonians Seek Island Home.

Tallinn, Sept. 5 (AP).—Sixty Esthonian families have asked the government here to get permission from Ecuador for them to settle on an uninhabited island in the Galapagos group. They have sufficient money to charter a ship and to equip farms.

Destroyed Cotton and Selling Of Hogs Mark NRA Battlefield

(Associated Press.)

Plowed wastes that were blooming cotton fields only a few weeks ago and the protests of pigs and sows rushed to market yesterday were symbols of the first half year of the Roosevelt administration's break with orthodox tradition in its effort to help the farmer.

Less spectacular, but of more moment, were programs worked out, or being outlined, which were expected to yield growers and other producers between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000 before Franklin D. Roosevelt has been President a year.

This will be done under authority of the farm adjustment act of May 10, a measure which the President openly termed an experiment. In its province it is as broad in scope as its companion piece, the National industrial recovery act.

For instance, Secretary Henry A. Wallace, once an Iowa farm editor, has already levied a processing tax on cotton and wheat of 4.2 cents a lint pound and 30 cents a bushel, respectively.

The funds from the cotton tax will be used to pay Southern farmers approximately $110,000,000 for plowing up more than 10,000,000 acres of cotton in August. Meanwhile, a cotton plan for next year is being drafted.

The levy on wheat will go to growers who will reduce their average production next year 15 per cent in return. About $120,000,000 will be paid out in the wheat campaign.

The hogs now being sent to market are lightweight pigs and sows soon to farrow. The Government promised to pay premiums on them in an effort to cut down the supply. Funds for the promised premiums are estimated at around $50,000,000, and they, too, will be raised through a processing levy.

Once 4,000,000 of the pigs and 1,000,000 of the sows are purchased, the campaign will end, only to be followed by another long-time program, eventually, which will affect both corn and hogs. The Secretary of Agriculture wants to take about 20,000,000 acres of corn out of production. This will cost $150,000,000, or more, since the Government pays those farmers who reduce their acreage in accordance with the terms laid down by the Farm Adjustment Administration.

Dutch Sell Arctic Mines to Russians

Rotterdam, Holland, Sept. 5 (AP).—Long standing Dutch commercial interests in Spitsbergen have passed into Russian hands by sale of the coal-bearing area around Barentsburg to "Arktikugol," the Soviet state coal trust.

A board report to the stockholders' meeting of the Netherlands Spitsbergen Co. stated that the property had been sold for 1,580,690 guilders or about $870,000. Of this 12 per cent was cash and the balance notes maturing up to 1941.

The Russians reserved the right, up to November 15, 1934, to cancel the contract in case surveys should fail to disclose existence of 20,000,000 tons of coal. In that case the Dutch company would be paid $2.20 for every ton mined.

Virginia Wheat Crop Reduced by Contracts

Blacksburg, Va., Sept. 5 (AP).—State agricultural extension officials today announced contracts have been signed in Virginia to reduce wheat production nearly a half million bushels. The figure was based on reports from 23 counties among 42 in which a production reduction campaign is being conducted.

The reduction limit per farmer is 15 per cent of his average acreage and production in 1930, 1931 and 1932.

Mercantile Marine Cut 1,751,357 Tons in '32

London, Sept. 5 (AP).—Reduction in the mercantile marine of the world in 1932 totalled 1,751,357 tons by total loss, breaking up or condemnation of ships, says Lloyd's Register. This excludes vessels of less than 100 tons.

New Early Lettuce Hailed in England

Chestnut, England, Sept. 5 (AP).—British scientists have discovered a new lettuce—the "Chestnut early giant"—which they expect will give domestic producers a better chance against importers.

It has ben developed at the government experimental station here to cope with a situation where extensive greenhouse areas devoted to tomatoes are empty from November to February. Varieties of lettuce available were found not to produce a "good-hearted" crop much earlier than the end of March, whereas tomatoes must be planted not later than the first week of March.

Investigators have tried for several years to develop a type of lettuce which would mature in time for the February market and the sought-for-result, it is announced, has been found in the "Chestnut early giant."

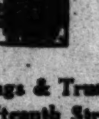

Seeds for trial in nurseries in October are to be made available.

Planes Help Traffic in China.

Shanghai, Sept. 5 (AP).—The China National Aviation Corporation has extended its service to Chengtu, capital of Szechwan Province. Planes make in a few hours a trip that formerly consumed 8 days by river steamer.

Australia to Use British Planes.

Melbourne, Sept. 5 (AP).—Sir George Pearce, Australia's minister for defense, has announced that hereafter the air force will use only British military planes with speeds of at least 200 miles an hour.

Western Sugar Votes Dividend Of Sixty Cents

S. S. Kresge Co. Again Declares Return on Common Shares.

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—Great Western Sugar Co. today resumed dividends on its common stock by declaring a quarterly disbursement of 60 cents a share, payable October 2 to holdings of record September 15. The last previous payment was 35 cents on October 2, 1930.

Directors of Celanese Corporation of America declared a $4 dividend on the first participating 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock on account of accumulations. It is payable September 30 to stock of record September 18.

S. S. Kresge Co. has resumed dividends on the common stock with the declaration of a 20 cents disbursement payable September 30 to shares of record September 16. The last previous dividend was 25 cents in January of this year.

Philip Morris Consolidated is to pay off the dividend accumulations on its class "A" stock. Directors, it was announced today, have declared a payment of $5.98 on this issue, representing arrearages, in addition to the regular quarterly disbursement of 43¾ cents, both payable October 2 to holdings of record September 18.

CHEESE—Receipts, 185,974, quiet; State, whole milk flats, fresh, fancy, unquoted; do., held, fancy to fancy specials, 20@31½.

SUGAR—Raw was quiet, but displayed a firm undertone today at the basis of 3.60 for spots. No nearby business was reported, with refiners said to be interested in obtaining Cubas at 3.60, but only a few lots were offered at 3.65. Over the weekend, 14,000 bags Perus for October shipment were sold at 3.57½ to an outport refiner, with full duty offerings held at 3.60.

Futures had early net gains of 3 to 5 points on Cuban developments, but when outside demand failed to broaden, prices reacted partially, closing 1 to 3 points net higher. Sales totaled 28,000 tons. The opening quotations represented the highest levels for the day, reflecting sharp rallies at London over the local three-day holiday, reports of hurricane damage to Cuban sugar mills, and renewed political disturbances in Cuba. Covering and buying by trade operators was believed to have represented the bulk of the morning demand. For a while contracts were relatively scarce, and limited to profit-taking on a scale up. Brokers with Cuban connections sold later and liquidation became more noticeable in the late trading when some of the more active positions sold off to the lowest levels for the day. However, uncertainty over the actual damage to sugar in Cuba, as well as the status of disturbances there, was believed to have checked heavier pressure.

Refiners' list quotations remained unchanged at 4.70 for fine granulated, but with some resale offerings reported at concessions of 10 or 15 points.

COFFEE—Quiet today and barely steady. Trade interests sold and locals absorbed the contracts on the scale down. Santos opened 5 higher and closed 2 higher to 2 lower. Sales, 4,000; No. 7 opened 2 to 7 higher and closed unchanged to 3 higher. Sales, 2,000. Closing quotations: Santos—September, 8.16; December, 8.41; March, 8.53; May, 8.53; July, 8.70; No. 7—September, 5.70; December, 5.99; March, 6.15; May, 6.22; July, 6.27. Spot coffee demand better, Santos 4s, 9; Rio 7s, 7½, cost and freight offers included Santos Bourbon 3s and 5s at 8.65 to 8.85.

Market Visits In London May End in Ouster

If Uninvited Guests Hear Cry of "1400," It Is Time to Leave.

London, Sept. 5 (AP).—A stranger wandering inadvertently to the floor of the London Stock Exchange had better take to his heels when he hears the ominous shout, "fourteen hundred!"

Unlike the New York Exchange, the London Exchange has no visitors' gallery, and persons who are not members or who are not employed there just are not supposed to enter.

But, unlike the New York Exchange, the silk-hatted guards who stand at the doors to the London market are inclined to be negligent, and it is possible to wander unnoticed from the street to the floor.

Membership Is Limited.

Years ago, the membership of the London market was for some time limited to 1,399, so when a member observes a stranger, he shouts "1,400."

This is a signal for the occasional indulgences in horseplay in this comparatively dignified market, which reach heights of raucousness comparable with the fracases on the floor of the New York market on the day before New Year's.

One group of members seizes the bewilderd stranger and endeavors to throw him out. Another group grasps him from the other side and pretends to rescue him from the evicters, assuring him that he has a perfect right to be there. After being jostled about for some time, in the course of which his necktie is usually untied and his hat bashed down over his ears, the misguided stranger is allowed to depart.

Building Is Inconspicuous.

The London Stock Exchange is distinctly not an imposing structure, and does not stand out conspicuously in the center of the financial district, as does the New York market. It is hidden away in a triangular six-story building between Throgmorton and Old Broad streets. There is no imposing facade or great windows as in the case of the famous Wall street market.

The London Stock Exchange Building, faced with polished brown stone, bears no ornamentation, and carries no conspicuous sign designating it as the stock exchange. Some of the doors have small brass plates indicating that they are entrances to the exchange but they are inconspicuous and an unsuspecting outsider might easily wander through and find himself on the floor without knowing where he was, should the guard fail to notice him.

The trading floor is in the center of the building, and the rooms fronting on the street are let out as offices to brokers and other concerns, so that there is scarcely an indication that the structure is anything but an office building.

Privacy From Intruders.

This arrangement was long ago worked out by deliberate design, to insure privacy from intruders, including eager or angry clients. The present building has been occupied since 1802.

The membership is now well beyond the old 1,399 figure, and is close to 5,000, or more than three times the number of members in the New York Stock Exchange.

The price of memberships is cheap, however, amounting to about $5,000, in contrast to New York seats, which have risen as high as $500,000.

But it would not profit a small timer who might save up $5,000 to purchase a London membership. In the first place, it is unlikely that he would be approved by the committee, and, should he be admitted, he would get little business, for proper financial and social connections are essential. The old school tie worn by graduates of Eton and Harrow is a great asset to a member of the stock exchange.

Buying of Live Locusts Is Aid in Curbing Pests

Buenos Aires, Sept. 5 (AP).—Live locusts are quoted at 3½ cents per 66-pound sack in Buenos Aires. The price was fixed by the government department of agricultural defense, which buys the insects, kills them and sells them for poultry feed or exports them to Europe—particularly to Germany—for fertilizer.

They are bought "on the hoof" because when bought killed they sometimes are not suitable for marketing.

Autumn Outlook of Business Revealed as Backing New Deal

Various Divisions of Industry Found With Plans for Expansion Based on Recent Recovery; Some Lines Still Tardy or Fighting Losses.

New York, Sept. 5 (Spl.).—Outlook for various divisions of industry is summarized by the Standard Statistics Co., of New York, as follows:

Advertising—Improvement in newspaper lineage, while more prompt than magazines in responding to the business upturn, recently has been at a relatively slower pace; gradual further betterment, however, is indicated during the fall months.

Agricultural machinery—Factory activity in the agricultural equipment industry during recent months has shown a moderate increase over the low 1932 level, and the full year output should at least equal the preceding year's total.

Aircraft—The prospect of continued rapid growth of nonmail traffic, together with the outlook for gradual lowering of operating costs, suggests that the air transport industry eventually will attain a self-supporting basis.

Automobiles—Passenger automobile and truck activities have shown evidence of a belated seasonal downturn, althought the curtailment thus far has been only moderate.

Automobile parts—Production by this industry has been maintained through the summer with but minor seasonal slackening.

Building—Residential and nonresidential building for the first part of August was seasonally lower than for the like period a month earlier, but public works and utility operations registered a sharp increase, having reflected the initial allotments under the Federal construction program.

Chemicals—Shipments of chemicals during recent weeks have slackened definitely in response to the moderate letdown in general industrial activity, especially in the heavy lines. This decline, nevertheless, has been no greater than seasonal.

Coal—While the bituminous coal strike in early August temporarily interrupted the sharp uptrend of production, operations recently have been resumed on an expanding scale. Anthracite production during recent weeks continued to make a more favorable showing than for the corresponding period last year.

Electrical equipment—Orders for electrical appliances and small machinery are being received in relatively heavy volume, and these lines probably will constitute the bulk of activity for this industry during the remainder of 1933.

Food products—Indications are that the upward trend of consumer purchasing power will eliminate any material contraction in sales which otherwise might result from higher retail quotations. Moreover, advances in selling prices likely will provide full compensation for increased raw material and labor costs.

Leather and shoes—Although shoe production during May, June and July was approximately 50 per cent greater than for the like interval a year earlier, August statistics undoubtedly will register a substantial recession in the rate of gain.

Machinery—Following a temporary lull over the next month or two, prospects favor continued improvement during the fall season. With the Federal public works program gathering momentum, manufacturers of construction machinery and allied lines also should realize a sizable increase in business during the next 6 to 9 months.

Medicines—Aggregate trade profits are running approximately 10 per cent greater than in the third quarter of 1932, and indications are that the spread should be moderately further enlarged in the final three months. For the full year, most drug units will record a slight increase in net earnings over the returns of 1932.

Office equipment—Demand for office equipment remains at relatively satisfactory levels, despite the retarding influence of seasonal dullness in general business activity.

Paper—Reattainment of satis actory earning power by the paper industry generally still is not in immediate prospect. Full year results of many manufacturers, nevertheless, should show considerable relative improvement over the extremely poor experience of last year.

Petroleum—As consumption of petroleum products is being stimulated by improving general business conditions, the progress already made in restoring operations to a more profitable basis, as compared with the thoroughly demoralized price conditions in effect earlier this year, should be definitely extended during coming months.

Radio—Although the electrical equipment code has been adopted by the radio trade, it is doubtful that this development will promptly correct the prevailing demoralized condition in the industry.

Railroads—Following the moderate recession which began in the second half of July, railroad car loadings recently have shown renewed expansion.

Railroad equipment—Bookings of the railway equipment manufacturers recently have shown some improvement. In addition, the demand for repair parts has increased sharply.

Retail trade—Nearly all types of retail stores are widening their gains in dollar volume over the levels of a year ago, despite the fact that during August and September of last year a sharp temporary spurt in activity was witnessed.

Shipping and shipbuilding—Operators of foreign shipping are experiencing moderate improvement in demand both in the freight and passenger divisions. Although large-scale commercial shipbuilding work still appears remote, most of the larger concerns have received a substantial share of the $129,777,600 naval contracts recently awarded.

Steel—Steel activity is expected to continue at relatively satisfactory levels during early future months; although costs will be higher under the code, the firm price structure should be a partial offset in operating results.

Sugar—Profits of most sugar companies for the full current year should be substantially in excess of last year's returns, especially in the case of domestic beet units and Puerto Rican producers. Cuban producers, on the other hand, are expected to report additional deficits.

Textiles—In order to avoid the payment of higher prices made necessary by the increased costs under the code operation, converters and distributors of textiles accumulated large inventories during the late spring and early summer. Present stocks in secondhands, therefore, are of such proportions that mills are receiving little new business, and a letdown in output is gradually resulting. Sufficient unfilled orders are on hand, nevertheless, to permit the maintenance of operations at a satisfactory rate through September.

Theaters—Increased employment and higher wage scales recently have found reflection in larger theater attendance. Improved film quality also has been a contributing factor. It is expected that attendance records will show continued betterment during the coming fall and winter.

Tobacco—Despite the substantially smaller profits being secured by the leading producers on present wholesale cigarette prices, larger sales volumes and the possibility of a price increase, allowed under the industry's modified blanket code, justify the expectation of substantially improved earnings over the longer term.

Texas Oil Gains Offset Oklahoma

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 5 (AP).—Increases in east Texas offset a large decrease in Oklahoma production last week and the national crude oil output rose 2,849 barrels in daily average to 2,774,714 barrels, the Oil and Gas Journal reports.

Total Texas output rose from 1,237,082 barrels to 1,297,038 barrels, with the east Texas area increasing production from 625,173 to 683,118 barrels a day.

Other areas showed little change. Kansas production was up from 129,050 to 129,720 barrels; Eastern fields increased output 1,000 barrels to 117,000 daily; in the Rocky Mountain [illegible] production was up from 78,1[illegible] barrels a day. Californ[illegible] cut production from 501,5[illegible]150 barrels daily.

Italy Sure Trade Slump Has Ended

Rome, Sept. 5 (U.P.).—Both Guido Jung and the Parliamentary budget committee are convinced that the bottom of world depression has been touched. If decisive international agreements will accelerate their pace and yield first fruits, the road to general recovery for trade and finance is not far distant, is the prevailing belief.

An exhaustive and critical study of the economic situation in its several aspects, made by the budget committee of the house on the finance bill for 1933-34, concluded as follows:

"In several sectors of our economy the downward trend has been checked and we note a tendency to improve, while the behavior of the lira on world markets confirms the adequacy of our reserves of all kinds. Not only can we calmly await those decisive international agreements which can not be long deferred, but we now may consider as imminent the hoped-for return of more favorable possibilities. Alien as we are to easy optimism and unjustified forecasts, we conclude our task with the positive conviction that, so far as Italy is concerned, the bottom of the depression has been touched."

The impression conveyed was confirmed by the budget speech of Guido Jung, the finance minister.

Farmers in Oklahoma Raise Crop of Tobacco

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 5 (U.P.).—Tobacco can be grown in Oklahoma and for a profit if a market was developed, experiments indicate. Two men in widely separated sections successfully have grown good crops this year.

T. A. Jordan, Kay County, made 1,000 pounds on 4½ acres, as good a yield as he has made in any of the several years he has grown tobacco. E. H. Davenport, former Kentuckian, planted an acre near Oklahoma City and says he "never saw finer tobacco raised in Kentucky."

Baltimore Markets.

Baltimore, Sept. 5 (A.P.).—APPLES—Bushel baskets, Maryland and Virginia, Wealthys U. S. No. 1, 2¾-inch minimum, 65@75; 85@1.00; 2½-inch minimum, U. S. No. 1, 2½-Northwestern Greenings, U. S. No. 1, 2½-inch minimum, 75@90.

POTATOES—Maryland and Pennsylvania 100-lb. sacks, Round Whites, U. S. No. 1, 1.90@2.10; ungraded, 1.65@1.85; New Jersey 100-lb. sacks, Cobblers, U. S. No. 1, 2.15@2.25.

YOUNG CHICKENS—Mixed, 2-lbs. and under, 12. Others unchanged.

CATTLE—Receipts, 700; market dull and inactive at about steady prices. Bulls, good to choice, 3.00@3.25; medium to good, 2.75@3.00; fair to medium, 2.50@2.75; plain to fair, 2.25@2.50; common to plain, 2.00@2.50; steers, good to choice, 5.25@5.75; medium to good, 4.75@5.25; fair to medium, 4.25@4.75; plain to fair, 3.75@4.25; common to plain, 3.25@3.75; cows, good to choice, 3.00@3.25; medium to good, 2.75@3.00; fair to medium, 2.50@2.75; plain to fair, 1.75@2.50; common to plain, 1.25@1.75; heifers, good to choice, 4.50@4.75; medium to good, 4.25@4.50; fair to medium, 3.75@4.25; plain to fair, 3.25@3.75; common to plain, 2.75@3.25. Fresh cows and springers, 30.00@60.00.

SHEEP AND LAMBS—Receipts, 2,800; steady. Sheep, 50@2.50; lambs, good to choice, 7.25@8.00; common to medium, 3.50@6.00.

HOGS—Receipts, 3,700; market about steady. Lights, 4.55@4.90; medium, 4.70@5.00; heavies, 4.35@4.90; roughs, 2.4[illegible]@3.55; light pigs, 3.00@3.50; pigs, 4.20@4.60. Western hogs, 10 to 20 cents higher.

CALVES—Receipts, 250; steady. Good to choice, 7.00@7.50; common to medium, 4.00@6.00.

HighHopesAdd Zest to Trade In Wall Street

Industries and Securities Believed Shifting Into Brighter Future.

New York, Sept. 5 (Spl.).—In its weekly review of business and financial conditions the Wall Street Journal says industry and the securities markets are shifting into the fall season, with Labor Day marking the line of demarcation offering high hopes that a definite upturn in business will eventuate and there will be a return of interest in the markets, which fell to a low ebb during the month of August.

Within a month, the financial community will have at hand proof as to whether its hopes for a fall improvement in trade were justified.

While industry is expected to furnish the major cue as to the trend of the markets, there remains always the question of the administration's policy on monetary and credit matters.

U. S. Bond Purchases.

The Federal Reserve, apparently, is going to continue substantial purchases of Governments, swelling excess reserves of member banks and increasing the pressure to put funds into use.

Low money rates are another factor designed to help business along. These are known quantities in the outlook, while the administration's position on currency matters continues to be a matter of conjecture.

As far business is concerned, it can be said fairly that the trend of consumer buying, as illustrated by chain store, department store, motor and other sales figures is on an upgrade. In important industries, like the textile and the steel businesses, production is in a lull. At the moment, there isn't anything to indicate a near-term pick-up in the rate of steel operations, and processing and floor taxes are hampering the textile industry.

Rail Traffic Grows.

While the trend of railroad traffic is continuing upward, the improvement is not at the precipitate pace at which traffic was moving ahead a year ago. A smaller wheat crop this year than in 1932 militates against such a striking betterment. While some seasonal improvement is to be anticipated, it isn't likely that it will reach the proportions of the 1932 advance. Power production, in the latest week, moved against the seasonal trend, falling under the total for the previous week.

Steel operations receded further with an average for the industry at 49 per cent early in the week, compared with 52 per cent the week before. Further recessions took place as the week progressed and one of the trade publications at midweek placed the average rate at 47 per cent.

| | High. | Low. | Last. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 30 industrials | $104.72 | $102.35 | $103.68 |
| 20 railroads | 53.81 | 52.46 | 52.56 |
| 20 utilities | 31.11 | 30.86 | 30.86 |
| 40 bonds | 87.57 | 87.17 | 87.17 |

U. S. Dollar Bows Again to Sterling

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—The American dollar displayed strength against European gold currencies today but was a bit heavy in terms of sterling and allied exchanges.

The British pound advanced 2⅛ cents, net, to a cable rate of $4.56½, and the Scandinavians, Canadian dollars and Far Eastern funds were sympathetically higher. On the other hand, French francs sagged .03¼ of a cent to 5.64¾ cents, Dutch guilders were off .21 of a cent at 58.15 cents, and Belgian belgas and Swiss francs yielded .09 and .40 of a cent, respectively.

The rally of the pound was attributed partly to the renewal of operations by the British exchange control in selling dollars against francs in the Paris market. Sterling closed somewhat under its peak for the day and the gold exchanges came back moderately from their extreme lows.

New Investment Firm Is Formed in New York

New York, Sept. 5 (Spl.).—Announcement is made of the formation of a new investment securities firm under the name of Saunders, Ashplant & Co., with offices at No. 2 Wall Street, New York City.

The partners of the firm are Gordon S. Saunders and Frederick B. Ashplant. Charles W. Goodeve will be associated with the firm in charge of the trading department. The firm will specialize in Canadian Government and municpal bonds. The partners and their associates have specialized in Canadian securities for from fifteen to twenty years or more.

Rialto Will Reopen Week of Sept. 25—Metropolitan Earlier

Film "Special" For Inaugural Ninth St. Bill

Met. Undergoing Changes; Mr. Nash Has His Proof; Theater Gossip.

The Rialto Theater, dark throughout the summer, will reopen for its 1933-34 season during the week of September 25, according to word reaching this department from unassailable sources late yesterday.

At the present time every effort is being made to rush the final cutting and assembling for general distribution of the much discussed Universal production of "The Invisible Man" for the opening attraction on Ninth street.

"The Invisible Man" is hailed as one of the most unusual film plays ever attempted. It will serve as the medium for the film debut of Claude Rains, last seen in Washington when he supplanted Earl Larrimore in the principal male role of the Theater Guild's production of Mrs. Pearl S. Buck's "The Good Earth," opposite Alla Nazimova, at the National Theater last season. Prominent in Mr. Rains' support will be Gloria Stuart and William Harrigan.

This picture has been difficult of accomplishment for the reason that, as its title suggests, its pivotal figure seldom appears in the flesh to the eyes of the spectator. Precisely how this dominance of the plot by implication has been achieved has not as yet been disclosed.

Manager Collier in New York.

Manager Rodney Collier of the Rialto, a Carl Laemmle leasehold from Tom Moore and the normal first-run outlet for all Universal product, is in New York at the present time in direct contact with Mr. Laemmle for the purpose of perfecting the details of the theater's reopening and the gala premiere that will be accorded this unique picture, looked upon as one of the legitimate "specials" of the new season.

Preceding the Rialto's new season's inaugural by perhaps as much as a fortnight will be the rededication of the Warner Brothers' Metropolitan to a strictly first-run policy, after a brief period of darkness to permit the repaving of F street between Ninth and Tenth and the complete renovation and refurbishment of the theater, either during the week of September 15 or the week of September 22, according to present expectations of the management.

Extensive Alterations.

While it was the original intention to subject the Metropolitan to only a mild going over, it is now hinted that extensive alterations may be rushed to conclusion before the reopening two-and-a-half or three weeks away.

New drapes for the proscenium, elimination of the orchestra pit—which has stood as a silent reminder of the old days of Nick Mirskey's and Daniel Breeskin's 30-piece symphonies—another possible revamping of the lobby and other minor changes will greet the eye of the habitual attendant when the Met once more throws open its portals to the cash customers.

The specific dates on which both the Rialto and the Metropolitan will be relighted, together with complete details of their opening attractions will be made known in due course.

Records are by way of being seriously threatened, if not actually smashed, in the downtown theaters this week. At RKO-Keith's, Katharine Hepburn in "Morning Glory," first of the "Greater Show Season" attractions in the RKO house, is running far ahead of the patronage accorded Ann Harding and William Powell in their recent two-week engagement in "Double Harness," and at Loew's Fox, the Duncan Sisters, Vivian and Rosetta, are packing them in at every de luxe performance in their condensed and rejuvenated version of their famous stage success, "Topsy and Eva." The Earle is right up in the running with a sprightly picture, "Goodbye Again," and a zippy stage show. Of course, the fact that this is Labor Day week and that two of the downtown first-run houses are dark, may have something to do with it, but there it is.

Orange Blossoms!

Speaking of the Fox, some bright new smiles will soon be brightening the old place, if current rumors are to be accepted at face value—and why not?

It seems that George Peters, assistant manager, decided to spend his annual vacation in the vicinity of Norfolk, Va. At the time, no one in the Loew organization quite suspected the significance of Mr. Peters' selection of this particular spot for his outing.

It now develops, however, that Mr. Peters was by way of taking unto himself a bride, as well as a few idle hours, down Norfolk way. Thus, when Mr. Peters returns to his official duties this Friday, he will be accompanied back to Washington by Mrs. George Peters, who before her marriage was Miss Margaret Stiff Mitchell, of the Virginia city. Mrs. Peters is a graduate of the Teachers School at Farmville, Va.

Began At Palace.

Mr. Peters, it should be known, began his career as a theater executive with the local Loew organization at the Palace Theater about eight years ago, where he was inducted into the intricate business of catering to the public's amusement needs under the acute and watchful eye of Orangelo Ratto, present manager of the Palace.

Following about a four-year tour of duty at the corner of Thirteenth and F, Mr. Peters was transferred to Norfolk. In the course of years he was transferred back to the Capital again and assigned to his present post at Loew's Fox.

It was that first transfer that did the business.

Congratulations!

An extraordinary attraction is booked for tomorrow night only at Chevy Chase Lake, where Eddie Carr, former film man, is revealing recurrent flashes of keen showmanship as the summer wears on. For those who like to shake a toe to "hot" tunes, Mr. Carr has booked in Cab Calloway and His Cotton Club Orchestra, for tomorrow night only at the Lake. It is Cab Calloway and his bunch, by the way, who are sounding off on the Earle screen this week in a "Betty Boop" cartoon comedy, "The Old Man of the Mountain," one of the cleverest releases in the series. He may have the old man with him out at the Lake tomorrow night, you'd better hope not!

---

We View the Evidence.

The evidence seems to be pretty thoroughly in favor of Mr. Harry C. Nash, the friendly attention-caller-toer, who objected to our statement that the Weber and Fields troupe appearing in "Broadway to Hollywood," on the Palace screen this week, was not, in fact, the Weber and Fields troupe.

That is still a question that may be open to doubt, with no further proof at hand than the long-shot glimpses afforded by the Technicolor footages of the picture in question, but Mr. Nash came armed with documentary evidence that at least some of the scenes in this natural color sequence of the current film were lifted from "The March of Time," shot two or three years ago and never released.

No Mistake Here.

One of these is the ballet number with the huge violin for a background and the Albertina Rasch Girls executing their graceful evolutions on a Gargantuan violin bow. There can be no mistake about this. Neither can there be any error in assuming that Weber an Fields, Fay Templeton, Marie Dressler, Willie Collier, DeWolf Hopper and Sabel Johnson were out in Hollywood for the making of "The March of Time."

So what?

So if you recognize any or all of these distinguished Thespians in those final long-shots at the Palace, it is they; if you do not recognize them, maybe it's a couple of other fellows!

Any way you look at it, "Broadway to Hollywood" will be found to be full to overflowing of warming and hallowed memories for the old-timer who has followed the vicissitudes of the theater with any interest whatever through the past four decades of its history.

Among other interesting exhibits which Mr. Nash bore in his briefcase was a yellowed and fragile program of the July 4, 1904, week of the Academy Stock Co., in Washington, under the management of the late Fred G. Berger, for years one of the Capital's best-known resident managers, who previously had devoted many years to the interests of the late Sol Smith Russell. The bill for that Fourth of July week in 1904—of all things, with the Duncan Sisters playing it here now—was "Uncle Tom's Cabin." And that cast! James Kirkwood was the George Harris, and Frances Nordstrom the Mrs. St. Clare, who doubled as Emmeline. Miss Nordstrom was a sister-in-law of the late Henry E. Dixie. And Little Eva, who do you think was Little Eva? Little Eva was Little Ina Fagan. And who was Little Ina Fagan? Little Ina Fagan was that brilliant comedienne known to the present-day theater as Ina Claire. Did you ever!

Helen Started Something!

When she declared it to be her belief that all theater-trained movie stars should pay a tax to the legitimate theater by returning to it at regular intervals even at serious financial sacrifice, she started a hot discussion among her associates that has become more and more heated as the days and weeks have passed.

Crosby Gaige has already been quoted here as wholly in sympathy with Miss Hayes' view. Douglass Montgomery—known to films, for some reason, as Kent Douglas—is another who feels that motion picture contracts may well be declined on occasion in favor of an unadulterated loyalty to the traditional stage. There are many others who entertain similar views, their ardency only varying.

But there are also players of note who support the opposite view with comparable enthusiasm. Among them is that comic professional inebriate, Frank McHugh, one of the cinema's most able clowns, who began his career as an actor at the age of nothing much with his touring theatrical family and before entering the movies had achieved something of a Broadway reputation.

Mr. McHugh Speaks Out.

"It's a lot of poppycock," says McHugh to 'Miss Hayes' dictum. "I've got an old uncle who used to say that 'cows off yonder have longer horns.' He was right.

"Movie people who talk about the stage are seeing it through the rosy glow of the good old days. Why, the good old days are right in their laps, now. The good old days on the stage never existed.

"I've heard people call it their cradle and their school and their dear old mother. Well, it's none of those fancy terms. The stage took your last ounce of time and strength. It made you play week after week in plays you didn't like. When you got a good one, it died on you, and you probably were out of work for weeks, maybe years.

What Price Broadway?

"Where does Broadway get the idea that it constitutes the theater, anyway? How many people have played on Broadway for longer than a year or two? Maybe a handful. I spent 15 years working up to the place where I could play three years on Broadway. But not because it was my cradle or teacher, I wanted to play on Broadway because it paid me more money than playing in tank towns.

"I play in pictures for the same reason."

A great many will applaud Mr. McHugh's candor, even if they do not share his vitriolic views.

"He worked for others, he built for others, he died for others.

It was with these words that Sime Silverman closed a full-page tribute to the late Marcus Loew, founder of the theatrical interests that still bear his name, in his issue of Variety of Wednesday, September 7, 1927, for whether public memory records the fact or not, it was six years ago yesterday, September 5, 1927, that Marcus Loew died, overworked, tired and worried, but in harness and on the job.

His name will survive for many years on the theaters that stand as a monument to his farsightedness and indefatigable industry.

Six years can seem a very short time.

A Career Woman Coming to Town

When Radio Pictures' filmization of Sinclair Lewis' best-selling novel, "Ann Vickers," comes to RKO-Keith's Theater the week of September 29, the title role will be played by the charming Miss Irene Dunne, heroine of Fannie Hurst's "Back Street," Sidney Howard's "The Silver Cord" and other distinguished films. The Lewis story, in which she will be supported by Walter Huston, Conrad Nagel, Edna May Oliver and others of note, will offer a severe test of her emotional power and versatility.

British Study Arms Program

Four-Hour Meeting Hears of Geneva and Paris Accord Plan.

London, Sept. 5 (AP).—The cabinet sat for more than four hours today. It was understood a heavy program chiefly concerned with questions of foreign policy was considered.

It was the first meeting since Parliament adjourned in July.

Disarmament and other questions likely to be considered at Geneva occupied much of the discussion.

Plans were made for conversations in Paris September 18 between British and French governments on difficulties regarding the British draft convention on disarmament. Outstanding differences were examined by the cabinet.

The industrial situation at home also was reviewed.

Mate of Girl, 15, Held in Perjury

Frederick, Md., Sept. 5 (Spl.).—Harry C. Linton, 24, was held in $500 bail for the grand jury by Justice Sherman P. Bowers today for falsifying to the age of his 15-year-old bride of three days.

Linton obtained a marriage license by giving the age of Mary C. Zimmerman as 18. When the bride announced the marriage yesterday her mother, Mrs. Nellie Zimmerman, obtained a warrant for Linton's arrest on the perjury charge.

At the hearing the bride attempted to assume the blame by stating she did not know her age. Mrs. Zimmerman settled the question by showing a family Bible with the date of birth of her daughter.

Stage Couple Married In Connecticut Rites

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 5 (AP).—Augustus F. Schue, New York, actor known on the stage as Gus Shy, and Dorothy Kyper, also of New York, were married today by Justice of the Peace William S. M. Fiske.

Film Table

Palace—"Broadway to Hollywood," at 11:15 a. m., 1:20, 3:25, 5:30, 7:35 and 9:45 p. m.

Earle—"Good-bye Again," at 11:15 a. m., 1:55, 4:35, 7:20 and 10 p. m. Stage shows at 12:55, 3:35, 6:15 and 9 p. m.

Loew's Fox—"Three-Cornered Moon," at 11:30 a. m., 1:15, 4:25, 7:20 and 10:10 p. m. Stage shows at 1:55, 3, 6 and 8:55 p. m.

RKO-Keith's—"Morning Glory," at 11:35 a. m., 1:40, 3:45, 5:50, 7:55 and 10 p. m.

Columbia—"Tugboat Annie," at 11:20 a. m., 1:35, 3:30, 5:30, 7:35 and 9:40 p. m.

Tivoli—"Mary Stevens, M. D.," at 2:30, 4:10, 6, 7:55 and 9:45 p. m.

Ambassador—"Another Language," at 2:15, 4, 5:45, 7:30 and 9:50 p. m.

Brains Count

Ohio U. Freshmen Can Be Excused From Classes —If Smart Enough.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 5 (AP).—First-year students at Ohio State University will be permitted to pass up ordinarily required freshman courses this year—if they're smart enough.

"Those who show proficiency * * * and who can prove fitness for advanced study in certain subjects," officials announced today, "will not be required to do the regular work."

The innovation, it was explained, is to allow a student to advance according to his ability and intelligence.

Claire Windsor To Take Stand In Love Case

Read Gets Witnesses for Movie Star Although Romance Is Dead.

Los Angeles, Sept. 5 (AP).—Blonde Claire Windsor, stage and screen actress, will take the witness stand again tomorrow and identify still more of a great packet of missives which passed between her and Alfred C. Read, jr., former Oakland broker.

Trial of the $100,000 damage suit against Miss Windsor, in which Read's former wife, Marian Young Read, charges the actress with stealing his love, will be resumed after a recess taken Friday.

Miss Windsor already has told about the romance which sprang up between her and Read on a transcontinental train journey in 1931, and has identified numerous love letters they sent each other afterward. These included one in which Read told her his wife had learned all, and that "the fireworks have started."

Although both he and Miss Windsor say their romance is dead, Read is to testify in her behalf, and has produced two other witnesses to do the same.

The broker returned today from Oakland with two witnesses and told a story of a third party—a man—being brought here by automobile, "practically by force."

Read said it had been planned to bring the man by train with the other two witnesses, but that an automobile journey was chosen at the last minute.

"To bring him on the train might mean a fight," explained Read. "He is very unwilling but an extremely important witness."

200 Kentuckians Hike 100 Miles for Job Aid

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 5 (AP).—Tired and hungry after a 100-mile trek from northern Kentucky, 200 jobless men who came here to request relief from the legislature were quartered and fed in the State warehouse and arsenal last night.

Warden Elmer Deatherage, of the State Reformatory, said arrangements were made to house the men at the request of Gov. Laffoon.

$700 Silverware Taken At Chevy Chase Home

Silverware valued at $700 was stolen from the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Burton Ridennour of Chevy Chase, Md., over the week-end. The robbery was reported to Bethesda Substation of the Montgomery County Police by Mrs. Ridenour.

The Ridenours returned from a holiday trip to find the house had been ransacked and the silverware and other household articles missing. Fingerprints were found by Detective Corporal Theodore Vollten, of the County Identification Bureau.

School Plan Adoption Asked.

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors will meet today to check monthly accounts of departments. The board will be asked to adopt the county unit school plan.

Raskob Sees Bootleg Doom Saving Nation

Former Democratic Chief Tells Why He Took Part in Politics.

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP).—John J. Raskob, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, today in an interview said he gave up his position with the General Motors Corporation to enter politics because he feared the eighteenth amendment would plunge this country into a revolution.

"I felt that if a man in my position did not try to do something to stave off such a situation," Raskob said, "I certainly would have no right to complain.

Feared for Government.

"I believed strongly that if the bootleg racket were not halted once and for all—and prohibition was obviously the cause of it—the racket situation would spread alarmingly until the very Government would be threatened and revolution would be in the offing."

"The prohibition experiment has been a valuable one. It has demonstrated the impossibility of putting police powers into the Constitution and has shown once and for all in such a manner that the dangerous experimentation will not be repeated, that you can not deprive citizens of certain inviolable rights guaranteed them by the Constitution—the rights of life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness."

Praise for Roosevelt

Raskob was enthusiastic in commendation for President Roosevelt and the recovery program.

"We need leadership. Now we have it," he said. "It is up to us to follow the leader. Faith and confidence, now being manifest, are synonymous with credit and credit will be the corner stone on which to build a better era."

70 Firemen Enrolled In Maryland U. Course

About 70 firemen registered yesterday at the University of Maryland for the short course for volunteer firemen. The three-day school was opened at 10 a. m. with an address of welcome by Dean A. N. Johnson.

Among the instructors are both Washington and Baltimore firemen. Today will be given to practical demonstrations.

Nats Defeat Red Sox, 5-4 and 9-6, as Yankees Split; Lead Now 9 1-2

This Morning

With Shirley L. Povich.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 5.

THE American League's vital statistics tonight make very excellent reading for the good burghers back in Washington who might have been more or less concerned of the Nats' chances of winning the pennant.

A hasty look at the standing of the clubs reveals that the Nats are out in front flying with a 9½-game lead over the Yankees, but they conceal a better and more reassuring story if one delves into the possibilities contained in the figures.

A 9½-game lead at this stage of the race bulks large enough to satisfy even the most pessimistic Washington fan. But the meat of the matter is this: If the Nats win only half of their remaining 22 games, then they can not lose the pennant unless the Yankees manage to win 22 of their remaining 26. At this point, I think you can draw your own conclusions.

Whitehill in Flare-Up.

Earl Whitehill's well-known highly combustible temperament was diagnosed as 90 per cent temper during the seventh inning of the second game this afternoon when the irritable Washington southpaw was withdrawn from the box during a mild Red Sox rally.

Whitehill walked from the hill, flung a look of defiance at everybody on the field, stomped into the dugout, and kicked the Nats water bucket all over the sympathizing presence of Sheriff Dave Harris. Catching the spirit of the thing, Harris kicked the bucket to the other end of the dugout.

For the first time in his career, Walter Stewart also exhibited a peeve this afternoon when he was taken from the box in the tenth inning of the first game. Before leaving the field, he directed a few choice and prolonged Tennessee colloquialisms at Umpire Bill Dineen.

Stewart and Dineen in Tiff.

Stewart's troubles with Dineen started in the Nats' half of the inning, when the pitcher was at bat just after the Nats had gone into a 4-2 lead, which loomed sufficient in view of the fine work Stewart was doing on the mound. But he objected strenuously to a couple of strikes called by Dineen, and, sure enough, when he went back in the box to pitch, he got none of the benefit on the close ones.

Old heads like Stewart rarely dispute an umpire when they have a lead, especially when they are batting. It isn't good policy, and there used to be a catcher on the Washington club who put his pitchers in bad with the umps for the same reason—ragging and riding the umpires on close balls until the pitcher would get none of the close decisions in his favor.

One of the Washington pitchers who realized that his catcher was doing him no favor by thus riding the umpire and making the arbiter look bad in the eyes of the public, used to go out of his way to drop a friendly remark to the ump on his way to the mound and tell him not to mind the catcher, whom nobody on the team likes because he was an incurable sorehead.

Runs, Hits and Errors.

The Boston crowd hooted Joe Cronin as he swung and missed ignominiously in the first game . . . Wait until you meet Hubbell, one fan yelled . . . he didn't know, perhaps, that Hubbell at that very moment was taking a 6-to-1 lacing from the Pirates, the Giants' closest rivals . . . this Curtis Fullerton, who relieved Welch in the second game for the Sox, used to pitch for Boston ten years ago . . . after the Sox pitching staff was crippled in the West, Marty McManus signed Fullerton out of the Boston Twilight League . . . That home run that Fred Schulte hit landed squarely atop the left field fence and teetered there before deciding to topple over into the great beyond for four bases . . . Joe Kuhel took an awful sock in his batting average when he went hitless in eight times at bat . . . but Joe Cronin had five out of ten for the day . . . Manush had his troubles with the left field embankment all day . . . When he missed McManus' double in the second game, it was fourth down for Manush and still ten yards to go . . . the Nats entrained for Washington tonight to meet the Chisox tomorrow, when the invasion by the West begins . . .

Pirates Rout Giants, 6-1; Cut Lead

Bucs Drive Out Hubbell, End Scoreless String; Margin 6 1-2.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 5 (AP).—The second-place Pirates brought New York's high-flying Giants down with a crash today, winning the first game of their important series, 6 to 1, battering Carl Hubbell, the Giants' ace southpaw, into submission, and reducing the losers' lead to 6½ games.

Hubbell was knocked out in the fourth inning as the Buccos brought his three-game winning streak to a sudden end and halted his string of consecutive scoreless innings at 24.

Frisch and Catcher Wilson Deny Split

St. Louis, Sept. 5 (AP).—Despite widespread rumors to the contrary, everything is lovely between Manager Frankie Frisch and Jimmy Wilson, veteran catcher, of the St. Louis Cardinals, both insisted today.

It had been rumored the two veterans, close friends in the days Gabby Street managed the cubs, had split and that Wilson probably would not be with the club next year.

"Why, there's nothing to that report," Wilson said. "I don't know how it got out and it's news to me."

"Those reports are just so much bunk," Frisch said.

Byrd Leaves Grid Job at Maryland

Faber to Succeed Pilot of Successful Elevens; Former Player.

A REIGN of 21 years as head football coach at the University of Maryland, during which he developed some of the most formidable teams in the South-Atlantic sector, yesterday was terminated by H. C. (Curley) Byrd, who virtually retired from that capacity to devote more time to other duties.

A board of strategy comprising Byrd, John E. (Jack) Faber, Leroy Mackert, George F. Pollock, and Charles Fenwick, has been appointed to direct the football squad. Faber, who in addition to teaching bacteriology, is coach of the varsity lacrosse squad, freshman basket ball coach and was freshman football coach, will serve as head field coach. Together with Byrd, he will map a p'an of battle for the team. Byrd, however, will be comparatively inactive, contenting himself with suggestions from behind the scenes.

Has Served Since 1912.

Byrd has served continually as football coach since returning to the school in 1912. He graduated from Maryland in 1908. More recently his duties as vice president of the institution have occupied much of his time, and he felt obliged to curtail his endeavors in the athletic department.

By his untiring and ceaseless efforts Byrd has elevated the College Park school from one of comparative obscurity to a position high in the upper strata of collegiate competition. He is high in the councils of the Southern Conference.

Maryland has been represented by consistently strong teams during Byrd's regime. Elevens coached by him scored memorable upsets at the expense of Yale and University of Pennsylvania aggregations.

Mackert is in charge of the university's physical education department. He was a star fullback and tackle on Maryland in 1919-20. Pollock is secretary of the Alumni Association with offices at the university. He played football and baseball on Maryland teams in 1922 and 1923. Fenwick is an alumnus of University of Virginia, where he was an all-around athlete.

Sharkey Leaves For Chicago Bout

Sharkey said he weighed 201 pounds and that he was in the best physical condition he has been in for several years.

Houghton and Shorey Off for Glens Falls Play

Al Houghton, Kenwood professional, and Mel Shorey, East Potomac tutor, left yesterday afternoon for Glens Falls, N. Y., to participate in the annual 72-hole Glens Falls Open championship. They made the trip by auto.

Houghton, who has placed in the money in his last 23 straight golf tournaments, expects to dig up new entries for the National Capital Open slated at Kenwood in November.

Jones Meets Johnson at Twin City

NO MORE attractive bout has been offered this season than the 10-round Larry Johnson-Billy Jones match at Twin City Arena tonight. This battle is the first colored main bout to be offered locally since Jack McVey converted Billy Edwards into an animated punching bag two seasons ago.

Johnson is considered one of the most dangerous heavyweights in the game today. A masterful boxer, he possesses a powerful left hook and a potent right. A glance at his record, which includes a hurried knockout of Joe Sekyra and a less-than-a-minute haymaker parked on Marty Gallagher's chin, offers convincing proof of the lethal qualities of his punches.

Jones, who has just recently, and barely, graduated into the heavyweight ranks, was considered an outstanding lightheavy. He holds two wide-margin decisions over Maxie Rosenbloom, which should stamp him as just about the cream of the crop. His crouching, boring in, body-punching style should show to best advantage against the heads-up boxing stance of Johnson. If Jones weighs in at 180, he may be outweighed some 15 pounds.

Le Roy Dougan and Perry Knowles, who are matched for 10 rounds, are two of the most vicious featherweights in this vicinity. Reports that these two little buzz saws harbor personal animosity toward each other is leading ring fans to hope that they will violate ring tradition to the extent of actually becoming angry in the ring. If so, the novelty alone should more than recompense the fans.

Tribe Recalls Pitcher

Cleveland, Sept. 5 (AP).—Dennis Galehouse, star pitcher now with New Orleans of the Southern Association, has been called by the Cleveland Indians for delivery next spring, Manager Billy Evans said tonight.

Galehouse, a raw-boned lad from the farms of Doylestown, Ohio, near Akron, has won 17 and lost 9 games in the Southern circuit this year.

Post Mortems . . .

The President and his retinue sailed up the Avenue yesterday . . . past The Post just as the scoreboard was in the throes of the first game between the Nats and Red Sox . . . and did the Presidential party crane necks to peer at the board? . . . most of the Nats think the morale of the Yanks is completely shot . . . as a result of stories published in their home-town papers last week . . . counting them out of the pennant race . . . and forecasting a big house-cleaning . . . Jimmy Erwin is back in town . . . and tells of the battle between his fighter, Billy Jones, and Kid English . . . for the colored light-heavyweight championship . . . the fight was held in Ludington, Mich. . . . and drew a $1,500 gate . . . there were only two colored people present at the fight . . . Jones and English . . . that was because there were only two colored people in the town . . . Jones and English . . . Fried and Fishman, promoters of the Sharkey-Loughran bout in Philadelphia, have declared their intention of promoting two large matches in Florida this winter . . . but they will have to scratch for material if Sharkey defeats Loughran . . . as Philadelphia Tommy is about the only fighter of any note they have tied up.

Rumor hath it that Jack Dempsey is about to throw up the sponge on Max Baer . . . he is finding the Baer cub a very difficult person to sudbue . . . Ralph McElvenny, upsetter of seeded favorites in the Washington Grove tennis tournament, has been invited to play in the Wardman tournament . . . and may be the obstacle to stand between Dooley Mitchell and his third leg on the Stimson Trophy . . . outfielders are usually counted upon to supply the punch at batting . . . but among the five leading hitters in the American League are three first basemen . . . Gehrig, Foxx and Kuhel . . . it's good to be a champion . . . for instance, Roger Peacock was presented yesterday with a genuine, all-leather golf bag . . . by members of the Indian Spring Country Club . . L. R. Eaken, one of Chevy Chase's outstanding senior golfers, also uses the baseball trick employed by Tommy Armour . . . he warms up with two wooden clubs, which he swings before teeing off on the first hole.

New Yorkers Bow, 6 to 1, In First

Gehrig's 23d Home Run Starts New York to 9-6 Win in Final.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5 (AP).—The Athletics and the New York Yankees divided a double-header today with a mixed display of good pitching and hard hitting that didn't get either team anywhere. The A's won the first, 6 to 1, and the Yanks the second, 9 to 7, to finish 9½ games behind the Washington Nationals.

Roy "Popeye" Mahaffey held the Yanks to three hits in the opener, while Jimmie Foxx clouted his fortieth homer of the year off Lefty Gomez in the sixth. Mahaffey allowed Lyn Lary to single on his first pitch, then didn't grant another until two were out in the ninth, when Lou Gehrig tripled and scored on Ben Chapman's single.

Four Homers in Finale.

Gehrig opened the Yankees' firing in the nightcap with his twenty-third homer of the season to aid Charley Devens in his argument with "Sugar" Cain and Rube Walberg. Chapman and Frank Crosetti also hit boundary belts for the Yanks and Roger Cramer for the A's.

Mrs. Moody Rests Following X-rays

San Francisco, Sept. 5 (AP).—The injury which forced Mrs. Helen Wills Moody to default to Helen Jacobs in the finals of the national tennis championship recently came from a displaced vertebra, it was established today.

Dr. C. A. Wills, father of the dethroned court queen, made the announcement following a series of X-ray examinations. Mrs. Moody was reported "resting quietly" at Stanford Hospital here.

Mrs. Moody's condition was not considered alarming, and an operation probably will not be necessary in the treatment of the injury.

"We will attempt to restore Helen's health by massaging the injury and by therapeutic treatments," Dr. Wills said.

Nats Are Back; Play Chisox Today

Cronin May Use Rookie Pitcher; Miller Due to Toil for Aliens.

MANAGER JOE CRONIN and his Nationals are on the home stretch of the pennant race, which they probably will end right here in Washington before their final stand against Western invaders, which opens at Griffith Stadium this afternoon, is brought to a conclusion.

Lou Fonseca's slipping Chicago White Sox will be the Nats' guests today. Although they have put up some tough battles against the natives this season, they have been able to garner but eight victories out of 20 decisions. In today's game, the first of a series of four, Walter Miller is expected to try to again jinx the home boys. He has done it three times this season, twice in the last series here.

Nat Rookie May Start.

The Nats have been hitting well again of late and probably Miller's only hope of winning is due to the fact that Skipper Cronin likely will use a rookie pitcher on the mound, off whose slants the Chisox figure to get more runs than would be the case if a regular were toiling on the home hill.

Cronin is expected to call on either Alec McColl or Ed Chapman, with the former more likely to draw the assignment. McColl impressed in his lone trial under fire with the Nats, knows what it is all about, and may surprise the White Sox.

And, speaking of surprises, there is a possibility that Cronin may pull one himself by turning over the job to Ray Prim, southpaw pitcher bought Sunday from the Albany Club. Prim is due to show up here today and the Nat leader, a fellow who plays hunches when he gets them, is just as likely as not to use his newest recruit—if he gets the hunch.

Swimmer Sets Record

Turin, Italy, Sept. 5 (AP).—The Canadian swimmer, Bourne, captured the 50-meter free style final of the International University games today in 26.9 seconds.

First Battle Decided in Eleventh

Cronin and Manush in Star Roles; Schulte Slams Home Run.

FENWAY PARK, Boston, Sept. 5.—The Nats unraveled the Red Sox at both ends of a double-header this afternoon and that pennant bee that has been a-buzzin' around and about these many weeks is just about to pick himself out a nice landing spot in the Capital.

At the end of the afternoon Washington's league lead had swelled to 9½ games. Coincident with the Yankees' split of a double-header with the Athletics, the Nats had won a 5-4 eleven inning thriller in the first game, and then beaten the Sox, 9 to 6, in the second game that went melodramatic in the ninth.

The ninth inning of the second game stilled the cheers in the throats of 8,000 Boston fans, when the Red Sox filled the bases, getting the tying run on with none out, and then failed to score against Alvin Crowder, as a result of the super-defensive play of the Nats that Boston fans already had marveled at in the first contest.

Manager Marty McManus was guilty of contributory negligence in that when with three men on and none out, he started to score on Ferrell's long fly to Rice in right field. Leaving the bag before the catch was made, he went back to the base, and then couldn't make it home ahead of Cronin's relay to Sewell, which completed a double play.

Bluege Makes Star Catch.

Then to make matters unanimous for the Nats today, Bluege leaped high in the air to spear Pinch Hitter Seeds' vicious line drive for the final out with a circus catch.

The Red Sox were snuffed out at home plate in both games, for in that first battle, a rare good throw by Heinie Manush from left field wiped out the winning run when Ferrell tried to score from first base on McManus' double, which already had driven the tying run across. That throw deprived the Sox of victory in the tenth and saved them from defeat in the eleventh.

Walter Stewart went ten innings in that first game against Gordon Rhodes before Jack Russell relieved him in time to receive credit for the victory. But Joe Cronin was the hero of that battle. The Nats' manager drove in three of the first four runs, scored the fourth, and had a hand in the making of the fifth with his two singles and two doubles.

Earl Whitehill didn't last in that second game, going out in the eighth after the Sox had narrowed his lead to 6 to 4. Jack Russell finished up the inning and then was relieved by Crowder, who ran into a mess of trouble in the ninth when he held a 9-6 lead.

Our Friend McManus.

Crowder walked McManus in the ninth, Joe Judge singled and Gooch singled to fill the bases, Rice making a valiant try for Gooch's fly to right that kept the other runners on their bases. Then it was that Pinch Hitter Ferrell smashed a long fly to Rice, and McManus would have scored easily with one run, but his premature start from third base ended up in a double play and the Red Sox were completely washed up for the afternoon.

Cooke's error on Goslin's single had given the Nats a one-run lead in the first, but the game was close until Whitehill walked, Goslin doubled and Manush tripled to give the Nats three runs and a 6-2 lead in

Five Lengths Margin for Victor

Cold Check Is Second With Foxland Hall Next Over Line.

CHICAGO, Sept. 5 (AP).—Long shots won a majority of the races at Lincoln Fields today. Form players moaned while those who were lucky enough to have wagered on the long-priced horses returned home happy with their pockets bulging with money.

Foxiana, winner of the top race, the fifth on the program at 1 mile, was the first favorite to score during the day. Ridden by Jockey Earl Pool, Foxiana darted to the front and held the lead from start to finish, winning by five lengths eased up. Cold Check beat Foxland Hall for the place.

Foxiana paid $4.14 in the straight mutuels and ran the distance in 1:36 4-5.

Strange as It Seems —By John Hix

GEORGE B. CULPEPPER, Fort Valley, Ga., claims a record of 32,000 eggs eaten in 15 years—he kept track of them. It adds up to about 40 eggs a week, or half a dozen every day for 15 years. After reaching this record, Mr. Culpepper stopped eating eggs suddenly, and has not eaten any since—that was eight years ago.

Since giving up eggs, Mr. Culpepper has been breaking another record. For nearly eight years, when last reporting, he had taken two tablespoons of castor oil every 48 hours.

A combination canal-and-rail system of transportation once linked Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, by which freight was hauled in vehicles which might be called seagoing boxcars. The vehicle, as shown in the above drawing, was chiefly a canal boat, but it was arranged so that when the boat arrived at a point where water travel was no longer possible, boat and all were loaded onto wheels and taken by rail to the next waterway.

Strange as it seems, it is just the opposite of the method in wide use today where rail and water transportation are combined. The ordinary method now is to ship the freight in railway cars and then, when water travel becomes necessary or easy, load the train on a barge and carry it to the next point where rail facilities are available. In some cases, of course, the whole train is run onto the boat; in others boxcars are stowed aboard.

At the Post . . .

Dear Karl: Lincoln Fields, September 6.

I guess you're right. Bill Bennings isn't so hot. Only gave two winners today. In Par in the first paid a mere $36.92 mutuel, and Foxiana was slightly better than even money. That certainly was bad judgment of mine. I mean my picking Prince Drake and George Maypole to win races. The former ran second, beaten by a length after having the lead in the stretch. He was only 57 to 1. And then George Maypole was also second, and also beaten a length. He was 39 to 1. It's just possible that the stable wouldn't win at those short odds. Stick with me friend. I'll put you and Clyde on your feet yet.

BILL.

First race—Chirac has promising races and good trials as recommendations in this contest. See no reason for mistakes. Goforth may be the sleeper. I look for this one to scamper home ahead of Secluded for the place.

Second race—Bill Orange is ripe goes for the Bennings' cash in this struggle. I fear the lightly-weighted Mr. Klein, however. Have picked this one often. Victorium to take care of the others.

Third race—Kashgar has been whispered around by the clockers. I can't promise this to be a lock race. However, he has a good chance. Woodlander and Boy Valet to complete the money picture.

Fourth race—Fanfern looks like the goods here. I believe that Levaal will go places in a hurry tomorrow. Will be with the front crew and should the top one make mistakes he will be right there to take the purse. Pancoast for the show.

Fifth race—I'm going to move Teralice up in this. Asking quite a lot to make this one beat horses like Royal Blunder and Evergold. However, stranger things have happened hereabouts without much comment from the press box.

Seventh race—His Last may provide us with a double-figure mutuel in this. Oiled and greased, I understand. Reverberate and Dark Sea for places in the money.

Eighth race—Chokoloskee, my old buddy, seems well suited among this gang—members of the "We-Beat-Each-Other" club. Beaver and Alladin's Dream for the rest.

| MONK'S FIRST | 108 | 6 | 5 | $4^{½}$ | $3^{½}$ | $6^{1}$ | 7 | Vail | 28.65 |

Two-dollar mutuels paid—UNCLE HENRY, $5.20, $3.02, $2.38; BACK LOG, $4.08, $2.48; MERRY CHATTER, $3.42.

UNCLE HENRY followed the pace under steady restraint, gradually wore down MERRY CHATTER, when ready in final quarter and, continuing well, had BACK LOG safe, but had little left. BACK LOG, under mild restraint until reaching final five-sixteenths, stood strong urging gamely, but could not get up. MERRY CHATTER, quick to get going, saved ground throughout and weakened after five-eighths. MARTIE FLYNN bore in badly and did not threaten seriously, yet raced well. GOLDEN SUN began poorly and was locked on far turn. MONKS FIRST was through early.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming for 2-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:10½. Off at 3:15½. Winner, H. C. McConnell's ch. g. (2), by Dozer—Anna Jordan. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $600; second, $125; third $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:23 1-5, 0:47 1-5, 1:00, 1:06 4-5.

| COEQUEL | 111½ | 1 | 10 | $11^{1}$ | $11^{1}$ | $11^{h}$ | 12 | McCrossen | 18.04 |

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DOGMATA, $53.60, $15.02, $10.98; PRINCE DRAKE, $28.38, $23.78; BITTYBIT, $6.92.

DOGMATA, never a far distance back and restrained when rounding the turn, responded to light pressure after straightening up in the stretch and won drawing out. PRINCE DRAKE forced a fast pace, was inclined to bear over in the stretch, but held on gamely, outstaying BITTYBIT. Latter, well up from start, held on courageously. BICOLOR was under pressure from the start, saved ground and was weakening when caught in close quarters near the end. MUMSIE, bumped at the start, made up ground gradually and may have been best. VOSIGOTH, fractious at the post, had no mishaps. TWO SONS could not improve his position. ALCORAH was taken back soon after the start.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:41. Off at 3:43. Winner, T. C. Worden's br. g. (5), by Sun Briar—Craigthorne. Trained by B. A. Jones. Value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:47 1-5, 1:13.

| Horses | Wgt. | Post | St. | ¼ | ½ | Str. | Fin. | Jockeys | Straight |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| SUN THORNE | 115 | 8 | 1 | $1^{1}$ | $1^{1}$ | $1^{1}$ | $1^{1}$ | Pool | $2.14 |
| MONK'S BELA | 104 | 6 | 2 | $2^{h}$ | $2^{1¼}$ | $2^{1½}$ | $2^{h}$ | Kacala | 14.17 |

| PRINCESS CAROLYN | 109 | 3 | 8 | $8^{1}$ | $7^{1}$ | $7^{1}$ | $5^{1½}$ | Leyland | 11.13 |
| WELL HEELED | 112 | 7 | 7 | $3^{1}$ | $4^{1¼}$ | $5^{1}$ | $6^{1¼}$ | Wright | 8.11 |
| SWIFTY | 109 | 1 | 3 | $5^{h}$ | $5^{h}$ | $6^{1¼}$ | $7^{1}$ | Malzan | 288.65 |
| JESEMOLA | 107½ | 9 | 4 | $7^{h}$ | $8^{1}$ | $8^{1}$ | $8^{1}$ | Fields | 223.24 |
| ALICE PETTY | 104 | 4 | 9 | 9 | 9 | 9 | 9 | Calvert | 495.55 |

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUN THORNE, $6.28, $3.90, $2.72; MONK'S BELA, $7.86, $3.72; BROWN WISDOM, $2.52.

SUN THORNE, away fast and having the most speed, was steadied along to the stretch, where, after withstanding a bid from MONK'S BELA, came away fast. Latter followed the early pace under light restraint, rallied mildly after reaching stretch, then weakened, but outstayed BROWN WISDOM. Latter failed to get through approaching the turn and taken out on stretch turn, closed strong. BROOMSHOT saved ground and had no mishap. PRINCESS CAROLYN began slowly.

FIFTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good (from gate). Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:09. Off at 4:12. Winner Austin Stable's b. f. (4), by Stefan the Great—Istar. Trained by E. L. Snyder. Value to winner, $625; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:23 1-5, 0:46 3-5, 1:10 4-5, 1:36 4-5.

| DELVEN | 107 | 4 | 5 | $5^{1}$ | $4^{1}$ | 6 | 6 | 6 | Calvert | 75.03 |

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FOXIANA, $4.14, $2.44, $2.20; GOLD CHECK, $2.80, $2.22; FOXLAND HALL, $2.94.

FOXIANA, going in her best form and giving keen speed from start, maintained it gamely following a brisk shaking up when entering the stretch and was taken in hand near the end. GOLD CHECK, away slowly and dropping far out of it, found room on inside when making up ground in stretch. FOXLAND HALL weakened badly, but outstayed FIDDLER. Latter lost ground and also faltered in stretch. Others had no mishaps.

SIXTH RACE—One mile (chute). Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:36½. Off at 4:37. Winner A. A. Baroni's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CRAP SHOOTER, $8.84, $5.84, $4.28; GEORGE MAYPOLE, $23.52, $21.28; VOTAN, $6.28.

CRAP SHOOTER, rated along for three-quarters, withstood GEORGE MAYPOLE'S bid and came away slowly under strong riding the last eighth. GEORGE MAYPOLE, under strong restraint for three-quarters, came up menacingly on outside in the stretch, but could not get to the leader and faltered in the late stages. VOTAN, taken back to follow the pace, lost some ground and weakened slightly in final drive. OUR JUSTICE, allowed to remain out of it for a half mile, responded weakly when urged hard and did not threaten seriously. ST. NAZAIRE raced wide. ELIZABETH FOX bore in throughout.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good (from gate). Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:04. Off at 5:04½. Winner, Austin Stable's blk. g. (5), by Black Toney—Better Judgement. Trained by E. L. Snyder. Value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24, 0:48 4-5, 1:14, 1:39 2-5, 1:52.

| HOPULIKIT | 100 | 3 | 7 | $6^{1¼}$ | $8^{1¼}$ | 7 | 8 | 8 | Ruder | 36.27 |

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BLACK FOOL, $4.62, $3.30, $3.02; BRAINS, $3.44, $2.74; OATEN, $3.16.

BLACK FOOL, well up from the start and on inside the first seven-eighths, slowly wore down BRAINS and, continuing with determination, came away for a handy win. BRAINS, taken into the lead and cleverly rated, could not withstand the winner, yet held on well. OATEN came around tired horses in the stretch and bore over near end. BALLYHOO had no excuses. TRANSBIRD weakened.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good (from gate). Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:30. Off at once. Winner, Pasadena Stable's br. g. (5), by Dozer—Chaos. Value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24 1-5, 0:48 2-5, 1:13 3-5, 1:40, 1:54.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MORPHEUS, $18.70, $10.82, $5.26; BRING BACK, $9.32, $4.72; KING PIN, $4.04.

MORPHEUS, a good distance back for five-eighths, began improving his position slowly on stretch turn, raced into command with a rush after reaching stretch and, holding on well outstayed BRING BACK. Latter, far back for seven-eighths, saved ground when entering stretch and, closing fast after coming out for final eighth, was getting to the winner. KING PIN, under steady restraint for seven-eighths, rallied weakly in stretch, then faltered. WATERPORT began slowly and saved much ground on lower turn. DISPATCHER weakened.

Steward, McCarthy Leave D. C. by Auto Today for Title Golf at Cincinnati

Other Three Make Trip By Train

Stevinson Off Tonight; Tests Course Saturday With Bob Jones.

Lunn and Peacock Due to Entrain Tomorrow for Title Event.

LUTHER STEWARD, jr., of Congressional, former University of North Carolina golf star, and Martin F. McCarthy, of Beaver Dam, will leave via auto at noon today for Cincinnati to prepare themselves for the National Amateur championship scheduled to open next Monday at the Kenwood Country Club course. Miller B. Stevinson, of Columbia, will embark late this evening by train.

Steward and McCarthy expect to spend the night in West Virginia, and will arrive in Cincinnati Friday. Before leaving, McCarthy shot a snappy 76 at Beaver Dam while qualifying for the club championship.

Peacock Leaves Tomorrow.

Peacock, who tuned up his shots in a practice round at Indian Spring yesterday after shooting a 71, even par, will embark tomorrow morning with his wife, father and mother.

The 19-year-old Lunn, holder of course records at Chevy Chase and New Hampshire, purchased a new driver yesterday, and spent several hours getting used to it. He was experiencing trouble with his tee shots, complaining mostly of a snake-like slice. Lunn, together with his father, will leave by train tomorrow morning.

Stevinson, the veteran of the quintet, has a golf engagement with Bobby Jones on Saturday at Cincinnati. Stevinson is playing some of the finest golf in his career and expects to familiarize himself thoroughly with the Kenwood course before the big show Monday.

With Hook And Sinker . . .

By Jean Monk.

THE first reports from Labor Day fishing trips indicate only fair catches of trout and bluefish. Nothing startling, however, need be anticipated later for the reason that the weather man stepped in with his wet blanket, as is his custom on special days, and smothered things.

Last Saturday afternoon, G. Stokes and T. Stokes, of Capitol Heights, joined a party of five others at Galesville and fished from one of Capt. Noah Hazard's boats near the black buoy. The party caught one hardhead and two trout, all small. There were about 25 boats in this vicinity and similar bad luck followed each of them.

G. Stokes says a friend of his fished out of Herring Bay Sunday night, but the water was too rough. No catches.

One of the biggest surprises along fishing lines this season is the scarcity of alewives, otherwise known as menhaden and mossbunker. These fish have been plentiful in former years.

One of the fishing editors of the city has repeatedly stated that the net fishermen are unable to make a catch of these "little fish." He says these "little fish" seem to shy around the nets.

Net Meshes Too Large.

This editor, as a matter of fact, is adrift without a rudder. The "little fish" to which he refers are the baby alewives seen milling around the piers and docks at all salt water fishing centers. These baby menhaden are fingerlings and they have not as yet gone to sea. The meshes of the pound nets are too large to hold them, and should a school of them get into a net they would mill right on through it.

It is the full-grown menhaden that are used for bluefish bait or chum. A full-grown elwife is from 12 to 15 inches long and weighs from 1 to 1½ pounds. It looks very much like a herring or a 1-pound bluefish. These bunkers are scarce and no one seems to know why. And for that reason the coveted bluefish for which we have looked forward with fond anticipation are slipping away unsung, unstrung and unhung.

A party of four Washington fishermen fared out of Herring Bay to Nigger Head buoy Sunday. They were Louis Steiner, Normal Haig, Bob White and Steve Aubinos. Crabs were scarce. So scarce, in fact, that peelers could not be bought, begged or stolen. So they used hard crabs. But with these they landed 14 trout and 5 bluefish. This is an indication as to what could be done if bait were plentiful.

Another party which included Bill Berman and Harry Grosner fished out from Idlewild in Herring Bay waters Sunday and they caught seven trout, one bluefish and a few small croakers.

Piney Point Rumors Many.

Reports from Piney Point persist. Or should we say rumors persist? At any rate, every now and then we hear of someone making a remarkable catch of large rockfish at this place—off Tall Timbers. You can take this for what you think it is worth. Where there is so much smoke there must be some fish frying.

Trout fishing received a severe set-back with the arrival of the recent hurricane. The water became thick, since the storm it has remained thick, due to persistent northeasters, and trout strike in thick salt water just about like bass strike in muddy fresh or brackish water. But there seems to be a shortage of trout.

There may be a reason for this. There are many bluefish in out waters this season. Many more than in former years. And there is a scarcity of spot. Bluefish feed on spot, small trout, branch minnows, baby menhaden. Since two plus two equals four, it seems that our bluefish are multiplying and our spot and trout are dividing.

It's another version of getting rid of your coyotes and reaping an abundant harvest of rabbits. The rabbits, in turn, consume the vegetables and—there you are. We subtracted the purse nets, multiplied our bluefish and divided our spot and trout.

I'm dropping this thought for what it is worth, and I would appreciate the views of others on the subject.

Bluefish break water when they are making raids on these minnows. Since the minnows do not venture far from shore in rough weather, it follows that bluefish do not break water when there is a rough sea. What we need now is a period for fair weather.

Recreation Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the Recreation League Thursday in room 302, just over the Recreation Alleys, in the Mather Building. Captains of last year's teams are requested to be present, and any teams desiring a franchise are also invited to attend.

Tennis Choices Advance in Title Play

Vines and Crawford Lead Field Into Third Round of Play.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (U.P.)—There is an old tennis truism that nothing happens until the fourth round, and today's play in the men's National Tennis Championship at Forest Hills, offered nothing to disprove it.

With the sun shining once more, the grass courts fast and firm, and with some 3,000 customers in the stands, the second round was completed and the field reduced to 32.

Headed by those two titans of the court, Ellsworth Vines, of California, and Jack Crawford, of Australia, the seeded stars, with but one exception, advanced as a body. The only casualty to the select group—and it was a minor one—came when Eikichi Itoh, of Japan, was defeated, 6—3, 6—1, 6—3, by the little-known Dr. David O'Loughlin, of Pittsburgh.

Crawford Unimpressive.

Crawford, the Australian, French and Wimbledon champion, was not overly impressive in defeating Julius Seligson, of New York, 6—4, 6—3, 6—1. The one-time intercollegiate champion from Lehigh, found the Australian's back-hand wobbly, and peppered it for many points through the first two sets.

Vines, defending champion, made his debut against Ray Palmer, of New York, and won by 6—1, 6—2, 6—2. Palmer, who began laughing at his own helplessness as early as the first game of the opening set, probably is still wondering what hit him, for the champion seldom has played more potent tennis.

The other seeded players who are expected to form the quarter-finals on Friday came through without undue trouble. Big Frank Shields overwhelmed John Nogrady, of New York, 6—0, 6—2, 6—4, and Fred Perry, Britain's Davis Cup hero, after clowning away the first set, came on to lick Robert Bryan, of Chattanooga, 3—6, 6—3, 6—0, 6—3.

Frankie Parker, Milwaukee's knee-pants sensation, trounced Frank Goeltz, of Philadelphia, 6—0, 6—2, 6—4, while Jiro Satoh, Japan's No. 1 man, was impressive in a 6—4, 8—6, 6—4 victory over Hugh Lynch, of Buck Hill Falls, Pa. Cliff Sutter, of New Orleans, was at his soft-stroking best in humbling Martin Buxby, of Miami, 6—4, 6—3, 6—2, and Lester Stoefen, California giant, wore down Frank Bowden, of New York, to win, 6—3, 7—5, 6—8, 6—3.

Bowling Is Working Hard to Get in Line With NRA Program.

THE Blue Eagle is about to nest in Washington bowling alleys, and therein lies a controversy —and a story. A story that can best be told by J. William Wood, president of the Washington Bowling Alley Operators Association.

"We bowling alley operators are having quite a time getting lined up with the NRA," quoth Mr. Wood, who was discovered seated behind and expanse of mahogany desk, wearing a very Wall street expression. "The trouble all hinges around Article 1 of the code of fair competition framed by the Bowling Alley Proprietors Association of America."

Whereupon Mr. Wood handed over a copy of Article 1 which, boiled down to essentials, makes it no longer permissible to offer certain prizes, guarantees or other inducements to teams for bringing their matches to certain alleys.

"What, with overhead being so heavy, the larger operators are very much in favor of this proviso," explained Mr. Wood, "but the smaller alleys, not having so much rent and other whatnots to be paid, are balking at it. Therein lies a controversy that makes it almost as difficult to sign the bowling alleys up to an NRA code as the automobile industry was."

He dove into a mass of papers from which he emerged a few moments later with the latest dispatches from the battlefront. "So far, practically all the larger Washington alleys, the Arcadia, Convention Hall, Columbia and Lucky Strike, have agreed to article 1. The smaller alleys may fall in line later, and, then again, they may not. If they don't, the issue will be squarely up to the public, which can, I believe, be depended upon to support the Blue Eagle."

A little probing revealed the fact that certain NRA provisions have been almost unanimously agreed upon. Extra employes will receive a minimum of 40 cents an hour. Employes receiving less than $35 will work only 48 hours a week. Which means that some salaries will have to be boosted or more men hired. The price of Washington's favorite indoor winter sport remains, as heretofore, 15 cents a game before 6 p. m. and 20 cents for games bowled after that deadline.

Last, but by no means least, the pin boys, those diligent fellows who work on the receiving end of swishball deliveries shadow boxing with flying wood, will become additions to Mother Blue Eagle's brood. Their week will be limited to 48 hours and their maximum pay to $14.50. Some of them have been making much more than $14.50, but working about 160 hours a week to do so. So the NRA will mathematically decrease their chances of being conked out by flying duckpins.

Investigation Beats G. P. O. in Series Game

Scoring in the ninth inning with one man out, Investigation yesterday defeated Government Printing Office, 2-1, in the first game of their series for the championship of the Departmental League.

Thursday Card For Mat Show Completed

Boesch, New York Sensation, Meets Zelesniak; Four Other Bouts.

ALREADY having lined up some of the finest rassle features he has even presented here, Matchmaker Joe Turner yesterday added an extra dash of color to tomorrow night's all-star show at Griffith Stadium.

Books Newcomer.

Dick Shikat and George Zaharias meet in an extra added attraction; while Turner yesterday closed out his show with the announcement that Paul Boesch, reigning sensation of New York mats, has been drafted for one of the 30-minute limits.

In his initial showing locally, the German Jewish find of Jack Pfeffer is to work with Vanka Zelesniak, official trial horse of the heavyweight division. In the remaining 30 minutes, Abe Coleman pairs off with Jacques Humberto, popular Mexican.

Nationals Down Red Sox, 5-4, 9-6

the seventh. Both Goslin and Manush bounced their hits over the short center-field fence into the bleachers.

The Sox then pummeled Whitehill and Russell for three runs in their own half to narrow the lead to 6-5, but Pinch Hitter Dave Harris came through with a single that put the Nats in the way of adding two more runs in the eighth and Fred Schulte's homer in the ninth gave them their 9-6 lead which stood up in the ninth with the help of McManus' faux pas.

Cronin Bumps Ball.

Manager McManus put Rhodes on the spot in the third inning of that first game and Joe Cronin bumped him off for the runs that gave the Nats a 2-0 lead.

Walter Stewart had singled with one out and then McManus gummed up Myer's easy grounder to put two on base. Goslin flied out, but Manush walked and then Cronin, the clean-up hitter, cleaned up with a double off the left field fence.

Some cat-like defensive play eradicated the Sox in the third. After Goslin made a three-base muff of Warstler's fly, Bluege took Werber's grounder, trapped Warstler off third and Cronin, after tagging Warstler out, threw to Kuhel, and Werber, who had rounded first too far, was also out on the play.

The Sox got a run back on doubles by Jolley and McManus in the fourth and they tied the score in the eighth after Cooke led off with a double. Cooke's blow landed atop the left field embankment which Heinie Manush was having a strenuous time negotiating all afternoon.

Rhodes ran into a 2-run squall in the tenth. Goslin doubled, and with one out Cronin, who had driven in all the Washington runs to date, drove Goslin home with a double that lacked 5 feet of being a homer over the center field wall. Cronin went to third on Schulte's single and scored when Rhodes deliberately walked Kuhel to fill the bases only to force a run over by very unintentionally walking Sewell.

Russell Takes Job.

There was nothing the matter with the Sox's courage. They came right back to score a run on singles by Oliver, Cooke and Ferrell, and then Jack Russell was called into relieve Stewart.

McManus socked Russell's first pitch for a double against the left field wall scoring Leggett, Jolley's runner, with the tying tally, but when Rick Ferrel attempted to score with the winning run all the way from first base on the blow, Manush cut him down at the plate and sent the game into the eleventh.

The Nats eased Myer over with the winning run in the eleventh. After Rhodes walked him, Lefty Weiland came in to pitch to Goslin and the Goose bunted a pop fly to Werber. Manush singled to left field to put Myer on second and Klein relieved Weiland. Cronin flied to right field, advancing Myer to third, and then Schulte slammed a hot grounder to Werber and Myer raced home with the winning run, while Werber was trying to dig the ball out of his stomach.

Golfwomen at Manor Will Honor Mrs. Pray

A women's field day in honor of Mrs. L. G. Pray will be presented next Tuesday morning by the women golfers of the Manor Club.

The women will pay tribute to Mrs. Pray, who is club champion and chairman of the golf committee. A program of tournaments and events has been planned, Mrs. David M. McPherson announced.

Capital Traction Wins.

Capital Traction whipped Strasburg A. C. in a double-header yesterday, winning, 6 to 4 and 3 to 1. Mehalis and Jones were the winning pitchers.

D. C. Colleges Prepare for Grid Year

C. U. and Georgetown in First Drills; Maryland, G. W. Are Busy.

SMALL squads reported for the first drill of the season yesterday at Catholic University and Georgetown University. A group of 32 men reported to Coach "Dutch" Bergman at Catholic, while Coach Jack Hagerty looked over a squad of 26.

Bergman was pleasantly surprised at the fine physical condition of the Cardinals. With few exceptions the players appeared fit and ready for the grind before them. Additional recruits are expected to report today, swelling the numer to around 50.

Connaughton on Hand.

Harry Connaughton, former Georgetown star and All-American selection for guard, witnessed the Hoyas in action. Hagerty put the team through light formations and intends to get down to hard work immediately.

Prominent on the Georgetown roster are Costello, Parcells, Russo, Saverine, Katalinas, Muti and Viskovitch. Unlike either Catholic U. or George Washington, Georgetown has very little capable material, and Hagerty faces a tremendous task in molding a winning club.

For two solid hours George Washington's men toiled and sweated in the hot sun before the unceasing grinding of the movie cameras. The newshawks knew what they wanted and Pixlee permitted them to put the squad through whatever tricks they desired. The Colonials did everything but swim the Rhodes River. They did this later.

Trick-Shot Golfer Booked at Beaver Dam

Jack Redmond, well known trick shot artist, will appear at the Beaver Dam Country Club Saturday, September 16, it was announced yesterday by the golf committee.

Britain Urged To Adopt NRA Plan Like U .S.

Trade Congress Calls on England to Speed Recovery Drive.

Brighton, Eng., Sept. 5 (AP).—Approval of President Roosevelt's recovery plan was expressed by speakers at today's session of the Trade Union Congress and in a resolution calling upon the British government to adopt similar measures.

The delegates listened to a report of T. L. Burke, of the American Federation of Labor, on the progress of the American program. The congress cheered when he read a cable from his homeland which said:

Industry Under Codes.

"Most basic industries are now under codes. The coal industry is next with union recognition. Three hundred Federal unions are chartered, and over 2,000,000 men reemployed."

During the day's speeches 400 unemployed Communist from London assembled near the hall and sent two delegates to ask for admission. The congress declined to hear them.

Burke emphasized that the legislative measures creating it were democratic and that no dictatorship had been set up.

NRA Must Continue.

The NRA, Burke continued, was the greatest adventure in systematic planning and control—directed by a federal government—ever undertaken by a Democratic nation.

American labor, he asserted, is determined that the program shall endure instead of allowing a limit of two years.

An emergency resolution was adopted suggesting the conclusion by Great Britain of a commercial treaty with the Soviet Union.

G. M. Hann, London delegate, in discussing this resolution, declared "this country could capture a large slice of the German trade with Russia" if England offered the same facilities as does Germany.

Bombs Thrown In Jewish Meet

Effort Made to Break Up Conference on Boycott of Germany.

Geneva, Sept. 5 (AP).—Stench bombs filled the auditorium with obnoxious odors tonight, but Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of New York, declared the Jewish executive committee would not be disturbed by them whether the "outrage" was "perpetrated by thugs hired or inspired by Hitler forces." The rabbi was demanding a world-wide boycott by Jews of German goods.

Dr. Wise asked the conference, which is laying plans for the world Jewish congress in 1934, to appeal to the conscience of mankind "which we believe has been outraged by what has been done to Jews in Germany."

He announced the 1934 congress would be held in Geneva.

Shank Indicted For Poisonings

Ohio Lawyer Will Face Charge of Murdering 4 in Arkansas.

Benton, Ark., Sept. 5 (AP).—Four indictments charging first-degree, and one charging assault with intent to kill were returned today against Mark H. Shank, Akron, Ohio, attorney, for the poisoning of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Colley and their three children.

The parents and two of the children died a few minutes after drinking grape juice on an outing. A third child, Clyde, 4, recovered.

Shank, in Pulaski County Jail, can not be arraigned for 48 hours. Date for the trial may not be set for three days.

Prof. Farnum Dies; 40 Years at Yale

Pioneer in Movement to Get Civil Service.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 5 (AP).—Prof. Henry Walcott Farnum, 79, political economist and a member of Yale's faculty for 40 years before becoming professor emeritus in 1918, died of pneumonia today.

He was a pioneer in the civil service movement. As founder of the American Association for Labor Legislation, of which he was president from 1907 to 1910, Dr. Farnum helped procure passage of labor laws. He advocated prohibition.

MONEY TALKS
to thinking people. Another former student says, "In your night school 4 months placed by Boyd's as Private Secretary to Ambassador —— to —— (a major European country) and left for Europe a few weeks ago." Another, "In school 2 months, took light dictation 108 words a minute and placed by Boyd's with a local university." Another says, "In your school 27 days without previous knowledge of stenography, placed $22.50 week." Hundreds of Boyd students are NOW working in the various Government departments, with Senators, Congressmen, etc. The BEST positions are usually filled by BOYD'S, for efficiency, tact and diplomacy are major factors in a Boyd Course. All secretarial and business subjects offered. Courses 2-9 months. Boyd Shorthand reads like PRINT, has ONLY 3 rules, fast as human speech, mastered one-third usual time for other standard systems. # Two Geological Survey Chiefs Face Shakeups

Ronne Shelse May Be Made Head Clerk, Succeeding John J. Madigan.

Ronne C. Shelse, chief of the distribution section of the Geological Survey, will be chief clerk of the Survey if the Budget Bureau approves his promotion, it was learned yesterday.

The appointment of Mr. Shelse, made by Secretary of the Interior Ickes, has gone to the Budget Bureau for action. Mr. Shelse would take the place of John J. Madigan.

Mr. Shelse was born in Washington and educated in the public schools and at Georgetown University. In 1903 he entered the Government service as a clerk in the Navy Department. Later he transferred to the then Department of Commerce and Labor. In 1913 he was named appointment clerk of the Department of the Interior. Since 1916 he has headed the distribution section.

The appointment involves a raise in pay of $1,100. For this reason it must be approved by the Budget Bureau. It is understood Mr. Madigan will become chief of the distribution section in Mr. Shelse's stead.

The investigation which preceded the change in the chief clerk's office was ordered by Mr. Ickes after several employes, dropped for low efficiency ratings, complained that their ratings had been tampered with. While the investigation was being completed, all employes except one were restored to duty.

Husband and Wife Burial Set Today

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Morris Die 3 Days Apart.

Double funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. John R. Morris, whose deaths occurred only three days apart, will be held at 8:30 a. m. today at the residence, 730 Twenty-first street northwest. Requiem mass for the aged couple will be held at 9 o'clock at St. Stephen's Church, with interment following in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage brought on by grief and shock over his wife's death, Mr. Morris died Sunday. His wife died from a heart attack, and friends said he was stricken after finding her dead in bed.

They were both born in Ireland and came to the United States as young people. They were married in Bridgeport, Conn., 32 years ago and moved to Washington immediately afterward.

One daughter, Miss Agnes Mary, survives.

Burning Grease Fires Restaurant

Cafe and Tailor Shop Are Damaged by Blaze.

Hundreds of persons were attracted to the scene and traffic was tied up more than 40 minutes last night by a fire in the kitchen of a restaurant at 929 Ninth street northwest.

Started by a grease pan left on a stove, the flames spread to the second-story and to an adjoining tailor shop. Charles Tarjan, proprietor of the restaurant, said the cook stepped out for a minute. He returned to find the kitchen in flames..

Restaurant damage was estimated at $200. The tailor shop, owned by Abraham Glanzman, 931 Ninth street northwest, also was damaged.

Arson Suspected In Capital Blaze

Incendarism is suspected in the fire yesterday afternoon in a rooming house at 921 Eleventh street northwest, police said. Police plan to question an aged woman.

The fire started in a first floor kitchen and swept to the second floor. Police said an attempt was made to fire the building Monday.

Mrs. Gladys Brice, proprietress, was arrested but later released.

Robber, Surprised, Uses Gun to Escape

Early told police the man thrust a gun into his side as he entered his home. He fled when Early called help.

97 D. C. Park Workers To Go on 5-Day Week

Ninety-seven per diem workers in the District's trees and parks department will go on a five-day week, Division Chief Clifford Lanham said yesterday, because of a $28,500 cut in appropriations.

Rescue work on trees damaged by the recent storm has been delayed because of short funds.

Rum-Carrying Boat First to Be Sold Here

Seized on the Potomac opposite Radio Station WJSV by prohibition agents last month, this 42-foot semi-cabin cruiser is to be sold at public auction by United States Marshal E. G. Snyder on October 3. It is the first such craft ever sold here under similar conditions. Fred Burrell, named as one of the defendants in the seizure, was convicted in Police court.

Goods Return Rules Operate September 15

Stores Base Regulations on Women's Clubs Suggestions.

Regulations governing return of merchandise to Washington stores by dissatisfied customers will be put into effect September 15 by the Merchants and Manufacturers Association.

The regulations are based on recommendation of the District Federation of Women's Clubs, which, under Mrs. Harvey Wiley, president, conducted a study showing the returned goods practice is responsible for an economic wastage of more than $1,000,000 annually in Washington.

Figures Show Wastage.

The regulations were decided upon at a conference yesterday between Mrs. Wiley, Mrs. Albert Baggs, chairman of the department of the American home; Miss Ada Lillian Bush, business analyst of Foreign and Domestic Commerce; Edward D. Shaw, executive secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, and Sylvan King, general manager of King's Palace Department Store.

Regulations Told.

The regulations provide merchandise must be returned within six business days from date of sale. Sales checks must accompany goods returned. Yard goods, except in salable lengths, can not be returned. Merchandise must not be spoiled, worn, damaged nor misused.

"Real" reasons for returning merchandise will be required: Merchandise will continue to be acceptable for return, if reasons are justifiable, or if the store is in fault in any way.

Rent Probe to Start In Low-Priced Field

James Ring, special rent investigator of the Public Utilities Commission, said yesterday he will begin study of low-priced rooming houses today.

He said he will personally inspect complaints against high rents.

Former Postmaster Returned for Theft

United States marshals yesterday took Ole T. Nelson, 50, from the District Jail and started back to Stanley, N. Dak., where he confessed he stole $7,000 in Federal funds.

He told a District policeman several days ago he was a former postmaster in the town and had stolen the money.

Safari Fails

Old-Timers Lose Trail of Bronze Lions at Gallery Doors.

How did the Corcoran Art Gallery get its Seventeenth street entrance bronze lions? Gallery officials should have something definte on this tomorrow, for the Oldest Inhabitants Association will meet tonight and discuss the lions, among other things.

James F. Duhamel, corresponding secretary, can remember when the lions were the property of Ben Halladay, who figured in the Grant administration mail contract scandals. Frank W. Dowling, son of the auctioneer who sold the lions at Halladay's death, will be present tonight.

The replicas of the first fire engine, which Oldest Inhabitant Duhamel designed for the Firemen's Labor Day parade, will go to the association museum.

Arrest Is Near In Attack Case

Woman Believed Shielding Assailant to Be Taken Into Custody.

An arrest in the Kuehn attack case is expected shortly, Prince Georges County police said last night.

A young colored woman, believed to be protecting the colored man who attacked Mrs. Suzanne Kuehn, at Accokeek, Md., Saturday, will be arrested for questioning, they said.

The search has centered in Washington, but on belief the fugitive possibly is being secretly moved about in Prince Georges County, 100 armed farmers continued to search nearby Maryland woods. They are assisted by police from three counties.

Mrs. Kuehn, who was beaten during a robbery attempt at her home, is improving at Providence Hospital.

Lloyd Newman, colored, of Accokeek, was arrested by First Precinct police last night on request of Deputy Sheriff Tom Garrison. Newman was treated at Gallinger Hospital Sunday for scratches received in a fight Saturday night.

Officials, however, denied he was connected with the case. They pointed out he was at the Accokeek postoffice during the Kuehn attack. He has been aiding the searching party since, they said.

Session Today Picks Officers Of Rechabites

Pioneer Temperance Body Holds Convention in Phoenix Hall.

The Independent Order of Rechabites, oldest temperance organization in America and a branch of the oldest like organization in the world, opened its eighty-first annual convention yesterday at Phoenix Club Hall, 7 Fourth street northeast. Officers will be elected today.

The organization was formed in England in 1835. Eagle Tent Chapter No. 3, Washington, is the oldest temperance group in the United States. It was organized January 16, 1849.

John R. Mahoney, 333 C street southeast, secretary of the organization, the oldest member, has been affiliated actively for 72 years.

Mahoney believes that if prohibition is repealed it means but a short time before intoxicating liquors of all kinds will be banned. He said liquor taxation brought about the saloon and temperance was readily adhered to before the Government "entered the liquor business."

Youth Jailed 90 Days For Hitting Policeman

For hitting Policeman Edward Grimes on the head with an empty beer bottle, Richard M. Sudduth, 20, of Fauquier County, yesterday was sentenced to serve 90 days. On a disorderly conduct charge he was fined $20.

Grimes was struck when he went to the aid of a young woman allegedly being mishandled by Sudduth, at Twenty-second street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Judge Gus A. Schuldt imposed the sentences.

Man's Curiosity Lands Him in Jail

Curiosity not only killed the cat—it also may have landed Howard Butts, 29, 6638 Georgia avenue northwest, in jail yesterday.

Park police saw Butts removing a bundle from a clump of bushes beneath the Q Street Bridge across Rock Creek. Investigation showed the bundle contained clothing stolen from the home of Albert E. Call, 400 Gallatin street northwest.

Boys Jump on Auto; Rob Woman of $36

She told police the boys forced her to slow down and grabbed her pocketbook.

A. J. Sundlun Named To Jewelers' Position

Arthur J. Sundlun, of A. Kahn, Inc., has been elceted first vice president of the American National Retail Jewelers Association.

Sundlun is chairman of the jewelers division of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association and a vice president of the association.

"Sniper" Falls

Picture Incident Brings Report Police Are Still Working.

"Oh, no," said a detective. "Besides, we're working along another angle on that case now."

More than a year ago, the so-called "phantom" or "mad" sniper, terrorized the Northwest section of the city. A baker, Paul Riedel, was slain by the sniper.

A Department of Agriculture scientist was wounded by the man who traveled in a car with Maryland tags. A bullet fusillade at two young girls was attributed to him.

Several arrests were made, including detention of a socially prominent youth, but the apparent thrill slayer has never been caught.

Grain Cut Gives Employment To Many Here

Furloughed Agricultural Workers Called Back to Office.

Several hundred emergency employes of the Agriculture Adjustment Administration, furloughed on completion of cotton contract work, are being reabsorbed by the administration to handle wheat crop reduction, it was learned yesterday.

Not only have workers on temporary furlough been taken back, but Civil Service reemployment rolls have been drawn on heavily to complete the set-up. The organization is practically complete, personnel officials said, with approximately 1,200 employes in the contract section, and 400 in the comptroller's office.

Work on the wheat contracts will last from six weeks to three months, but recurring crop reduction activities are expected to require the continued use of a large force.

This unit had been under fire because of the practice of working employes seven hours a day seven days a week, in three shifts. Recently the seven-day week was discontinued. Officials declined to disclose whether the long hours will again be necessary.

Comptroller General J. R. McCarl ruled yesterday that the Federal Home Loan Board may disregard certain provisions of the economy act in hiring employes. Insofar as the corporation is maintained by assessments from the 12 Federal Reserve banks, which are private corporations, its funds are not subject to the limitations placed on other Government agencies, he held.

Robbers Fire Garage Of Arnold, Bus Owner

Fire, started by would-be thieves, yesterday badly damaged the automobile of Leon Arnold, Washington bus magnate, of 1561 Thirty-fifth street northwest.

Witnesses told police they saw two colored men drive in another car from near Mr. Arnold's garage just before the fire was discovered. Damage was estimated at $500.

Street Argument Results in Fine

Asks Jury Trial on Charge of Making Assault.

Arrested on a charge of intoxication after an altercation at Ninth and M streets northwest, Monday night, Edward M. LaForce was fined $25 in Police Court yesterday.

On a charge of assaulting Sidney Lockner, 27, LaForce demanded a jury trial and the case was set for next week. Police arrested LaForce after residents of the neighborhood telephoned police that a man was attempting to stir up arguments with passersby.

Estimates of Budget Will Come Up Today

Consideration of estimates for the 1935 District budget will begin today under the economy committee headed by Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor.

The budget will be held to approximately the figure this year, $33,000,000.

Commissioners to Get Lorton Account Report

The report of District Auditor Daniel J. Donovan's investigation of the alleged discrepancy in Lorton Reformatory accounts while A. C. Tawse was superintendent was not presented at the Commissioners' meeting yesterday.

Maj. Donovan said he expected the report tomorrow.

Alarm in Home Helps Police Seize Prowler

A colored prowler was caught in the estate of Mary A. Sharpe, 1608 New Hampshire avenue, yesterday, when he set off a burglar alarm in gaining entrance.

James E. Lee, 24, Seat Pleasant, Md., was trapped in the basement of the house by police. Lee is at the Third Precinct Station for investigation.

Scouts Exhibit Mementos of Jamboree

NRA Violations Will Be Probed By Local Group

Methods of Dealing With Slackers Topic of Meeting Here.

Methods of dealing with violators of NRA codes will be decided upon by local campaign heads at a meeting at 11 a. m. tomorrow at Board of Trade headquarters in the Star Building.

Although 80 complaints of violations have been received, NRA officials do not believe the majority are intentionally ignoring the agreement.

Raymond J. Walter, in charge of the information bureau, expressed the opinion that many employers do not understand their codes. He told a number of instances in which employers had agreed to change their schedules after being familiarized with their code.

If cooperation is not received from an employer after his code has been explained, his case will be referred to the local board for action.

A total of 9,474 employers have obtained Blue Eagles. By the time 10,000 are issued, it will be easy to single out employers who are not cooperating with the NRA, officials believe.

Intruder Hunted; Knife Gives Clew

A short-bladed knife last night led police on a search for a colored burglar who terrified a Washington society woman early yesterday.

The man was discovered by Mrs. Jules Demonet, 1909 H street northwest, when awakened by his movements. Her screams routed the intruder who dropped the knife.

Maj. Dent's Funeral Will Be at Arlington

Funeral services for Maj. Joseph H. Dent, U. S. A., retired, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in Arlington National Cemetery with military honors.

Maj. Dent died in Philadelphia yesterday. He was appointed a second lieutenant in November, 1899. He was retired in December, 1932.

2 Shoes for Same Foot Worry Costs Thief $25

What to do about two shoes for the same foot is a question that cost Ralph Carter a $25 fine in Police Court yesterday.

Carter was accused of snatching the shoes in Benjamin Shuman's M street store. After leaving the scene with extreme haste, Carter is said to have discovered his error and stopped to meditate. Meanwhile, Policeman E. W. Wycoff came into the picture. Carter may never know the answer to his problem.

Bakery Shows Cost Increase

Figures Given Corporation Counsel to Justify Bread Prices.

Production cost figures showing a general increase for August as compared with March were submitted to Assistant Corporation Counsel Robert E. Lynch yesterday by the Sanico Bakery.

Lynch, investigating the bread price rise at the request of Sena or King, chairman of the Senate District Committee, said the books showed increased cost of flour and other ingredients, fuel and gasoline.

Today, Lynch will interview a representative of Rice's Bakery. He plans an early report to Senator King.

Skirmish Won By Col. Cooper In Bank Fight

Given Right of Witnesses in Suit to Halt U. S. Savings Merger.

With the aid of seven witnesses who were served with subpenas last night, Col. Wade H. Cooper expects to launch today, in the District Supreme Court, a last-ditch fight to retain the identity of the United States Savings Bank, scheduled to become a member of the proposed Hamilton National Bank.

Justice Jennings Bailey yesterday ruled that Col. Cooper was entitled to summon witnesses to support his plea for a temporary injunction to prevent the bank from being absorbed by the Hamilton.

Loses First Skirmish.

Col. Cooper lost his first legal encounter yesterday when Justice Bailey decided that he had jurisdiction to pass on the contracts which the Hamilton has proposed to enter into with the eight restricted banks. That setback was followed closely by a successful plea that witnesses be called to substantiate charges Col. Cooper has made that the bank was the victim of a "conspiracy" to keep it closed.

Roger J. Whiteford, attorney for the Hamilton Bank, opposed the plan to offer witnesses. He declared the usual procedure was to submit the case on affidavits, claiming witnesses were not ordinarily called until the final injunction was brought up on its merits.

"Grave Injustice" Claimed.

W. Bissell Thomas and J. W. Staggers, attorneys for Cooper, claimed "grave injustice" might be done their client unless witnesses were heard. Justice Bailey adjourned court until today to familiarize himself with the issues.

Attorney Whiteford yesterday declared that Treasury Department records showed that just prior to the placing of the United States Savings Bank on a 5 per cent basis, Col. Cooper, then and now its president, withdrew $3,100, leaving a balance of approximately $1,100, which is still there. The colonel owns 56 per cent of the bank's stock.

Treasury officials yesterday reiterated statements that if the contracts are upheld the eight members of the Hamilton National Bank will be able to pay all their creditors 50 per cent, leaving the balance to be paid after disposal of remaining assets.

History of Case.

The legal snarl developed when conservators of the eight banks asked court's approval of contracts that would enable them to dispose of sufficient assets to the Hamilton to pay 50 per cent of the depositors now. Col. Cooper asked for an injunction to prevent these contracts from being carried on and he then took additional steps to have the court grant him powers so that he could, if successful, attempt to reorganize the bank.

Fleet Reserve Group Reelects McGeough

Edward J. McGeough was reelected national secretary of the Fleet Reserve Association at its convention in Chicago. A previous announcement was that C. A. Judge had been elected to that office.
